Pick Moffett In Oil Set-up To Aid Ickes; Parley Today

Full Committee of 15 Named by Roosevelt; Session in Capital.

Richberg Chosen To Assist NRA

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP). President Roosevelt put pressure behind the national industrial reorganization today, naming the committee of 15 to govern the oil business, and inquiring about the delay of Henry Ford to sign up with the other automobile manufacturers for the new deal.

He picked James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, as the head of the three members representing the National Recovery Administration on the oil committee of 15.

The newly appointed group will confer tomorrow afternoon with Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator, on regulations for the new working agreement, which goes into effect Saturday.

Report Is Awaited.

Packing his bags for a sea cruise back to Washington, to take the helm of the national recovery drive, Mr. Roosevelt awaited a report from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, on the attitude of Mr. Ford toward cooperating with the other automobile manufacturers under the Blue Eagle code.

The President is making no threats about the Michigan motor manufacturer and he does not believe Johnson is making any, but there is no doubt here that he expects a report on just what Mr. Ford is going to do before he takes a few days off, beginning tomorrow, to sail to the Capital.

The other two representatives of the NRA on the oil committee are Donald Richberg, labor counsel of the NRA, and M. L. Benedum, of Pittsburgh, an oil leader and friend of the President.

Ickes to Be Arbiter.

The President virtually put the enforcement of the new working code for oil under the National Recovery Administration. However, he will rely on Secretary Ickes to be the arbiter in disputes. It is expected that Moffett will take over the active work of governing the oil industry.

While the attitude of all the twelve members representing the oil industry toward price fixnig is not definitely known, it is believed this group has a majority on the governing committee.

Axtell J. Byles, of New York City, the president of the American Petroleum Institute, headed the appointments by the President from the industry.

Control of production and a fixing of prices to stabilize the industry are the subjects uppermost for tomorrow's conference.

Regional Groups Planned.

In announcing the committee of 15, Stephen T. Early, secretary to the President, also disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Ickes intend to organize "several regional emergency operating committees."

In addition to finding out just what Mr. Ford intends to do in the way of cooperation, Mr. Roosevelt has one other thing he intends to be completed before sailing—the signing of the working agreement for the bituminous coal industry.

This code is expected at the summer White House before sailing time at noon tomorrow.

Tomorrow at noon the President will board the yacht of Vincent Astor, a distant relative, for the cruise down the Atlantic seaboard with a group of intimate friends. The cruise will end Tuesday morning in Washington.

Danes' King to Receive Col. Lindbergh Today

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—King Christian is expected to receive Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, American aviator, when he returns from Jutland tomorrow.

Prof. Lessing, Fugitive From Germany, Slain

Marienbad, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 30 (AP).—Prof. Theodor Lessing, a fugitive from Germany, today was shot through the head and fatally wounded by an unidentified assailant who climbed a ladder and fired through a window.

100 Killed in Quake Shaking West China

Shanghai, Aug. 30 (AP).—Delayed Chinese advices from Chengtu, capital of Szechwan province, western China, today said 100 persons were killed and considerable property was destroyed August 25 when an earthquake shook Chengtu and the surrounding territory.

Troubled With Taxes

WILLIAM T. KEMPER, Democratic national committeeman for Missouri, is charged by the Government with being short $777,443 in his income tax payments. The Government claims Kemper made unauthorized deductions in his 1927 and 1928 returns.

Convicted Spy Given 2 Years, Fined $10,000

Sentence of Army Corporal May Be Equal to 20 Years Hard Labor.

Fort Sherman, Canal Zone, Aug. 30 (AP).—Sentence equivalent to 20 years of hard labor was imposed tonight on Corporal Robert Osman, Brooklyn, convicted of violating the espionage act of 1917 in attempting to transmit secret military documents to America.

Osman was convicted after five minutes deliberation in a court-martial here following his testimony that he was acquainted with a number of New York Communists.

The sentence, announced by Maj.-Gen. Preston Brown, read:

"You are found guilty of all the charges presented against you. You are to be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States, to forfeit all pay and allowances due or to become due, to be confined at hard labor at such a place as the reviewing authority may direct for a period of two years and to pay the United States Government the sum of $10,000.

"If the fine is not paid you shall be confined at hard labor for 18 years, this in addition to the 2-year period imposed."

The documents reputedly were to have been sent to a man named Herman Meyers through a third person named Schulman.

3 Boys Trapped On Cliff Saved

Scouts Lifted by Ropes to Safe Ledge After 24 Hours' Rescue Work.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP). The three Boy Scouts marooned on a narrow ledge of Wallface Mountain for two days were lifted to a safe ledge 200 feet higher up the cliff tonight by rescuers who succeeded in lowering ropes to them.

They were placed under care of a physician, who said they would be removed when their condition permitted.

The rescue was made by three expert mountain climbers from the Lake Placid Club after more than 24 hours of constant work. The boys were lifted one at a time from a 2-foot ledge where they had huddled together in the freezing wind all night.

The boys are William LaDue, Robert Glenn and Tyler Grey, all of Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Trapped Deer in Panic.

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP). Trapped for the fifth day on a perilous ledge in the Watkins Glen State Park, a frightened deer stomped near the edge of a 200-foot precipice tonight and park authorities feared he would jump to death.

The buck shied away from a 15-foot bridge thrown over the gorge to the ledge. Several times, as he dashed about in his fright, onlookers thought he would fall to the rocks below, on which his doe was dashed to death Saturday after a landslide blocked their descent.

"Wall Street Wolf" In Police Line-up

David Lamar Faces Charge of Embezzling $1,000 in New York.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—David Lamar, sometimes called the "Wolf of Wall street," was in the police line-up today charged with receiving $1,000 for the purchase of rubber and appropriating the money to his own use.

The prisoner was questioned by Inspector Louis Costuma, but refused to give any information.

U. S. Charges W. T. Kemper Short in Tax

Unauthorized Cuts on His Income Return Alleged in Suit.

The Federal Government is attempting to collect $777,443 in alleged back income taxes from William T. Kemper, Democratic national committeeman for Missouri.

This was learned last night at the United States Board of Tax Appeals, where it was disclosed the Kansas City multimillionaire politician had filed a petition in an effort to have the Government's collection attempts overruled.

The Government charges Kemper made unauthorized deductions in compiling his income tax returns for 1927 and 1928 and understated profits from his receivership, purchase and sale of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad.

Cleared of Perjury Charge.

Kemper, defending the deductions as legal, asserts part of them represent a $25,000 fee he paid R. R. Brewster, noted Kansas City lawyer, for defending him when the Interstate Commerce Commission sought to indict him on a charge of perjury.

He was taken before a grand jury with the accusation that as receiver he had falsified certain Orient reports transmitted to the commission, but was exonerated.

For the two years Kemper paid a total tax of $626,483. His tax, according to the Treasury, should have been $1,403,927.

For the first year Kemper reported a net income of $162,652 which the Government said should have been $718,643. It raised the second year's net income for taxation purposes to $4,980,213.

Some Overstatements.

In compling his income tax for 1927, the Treasury charges, Kemper erroneously deducted $450 for "contributions" and $104,972 for a business loss, understated his stock sale profits by $637,884, and noted $2,862 too much in his capital net loss column. There were, however, the Treasury declared, overstatements of income in other categories.

The Treasury has made similar alterations in his income report for 1928, charging he understated his stock sale profits for that year by $170,109. Altogether, the Treasury said, Kemper sold for $7,623,888 stock in the Orient which he had obtained for approximately $1,195,822.

Kemper contends the profits should not be taxed as ordinary income, but as revenue accruing from sale of capital assets.

In explaining his part in the Orient receivership and sale—incidents which have been thrashed out in courts amid lawsuits—Kemper says in his petition that as the result of the Orient's default on gold notes in 1917, he and his attorney, Clifford Histed, were named receivers.

Honey Bees Freed On Assault Charge

Irate Neighbors Foiled; Fail to Identify Defendants.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—A swarm of honey bees was arrested, in Absenta, on assault charges today and subsequently acquitted because of a reasonable doubt as to their identity.

Henry Kroger, owner of the bees, was haled before Magistrate George B. Deluca in the Bronx at the behest of irate neighbors, who complained they could not venture into their backyards without being stung.

Kroger, in an impassioned plea, reminded the court that the complainants could not prove whether they were attacked by honey bees, wasps or hornets. Even if they were honey bees, Kroger maintained, there was no evidence that they belonged to him.

Earl of Ypres Kin Sues for Divorce

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—Lady Brougham and Vaux, the former Valerie French, granddaughter of the late field marshal the Earl of Ypres, today filed a petition for divorce from the fourth Baron of Brougham and Vaux.

The petition will probably be heard in October.

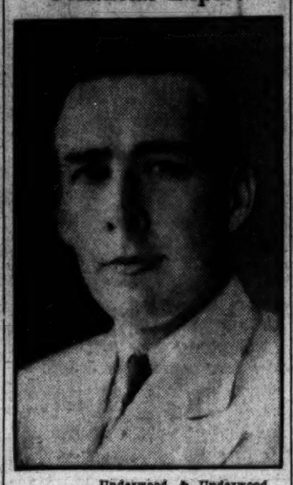
Miss French and Lord Brougham and Vaux were married April 21, 1931, in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, London.

Girl Reaches Hollywood From England in Week

Hollywood, Aug. 30 (AP).—Completing the 6,000 miles journey from London in one week, Miss Ida Lupino, 16-year-old member of a noted British stage family, arrived here today to begin a screen career.

Miss Lupino, a niece of Lupino Lane, former film comedian, and now a director in England, was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Stanley Lupino. They left England August 23.

Financial Expert



Underwood & Underwood.

ADOLF A. BERLE, JR., former Columbia University teacher and adviser to President Roosevelt, is to be assigned to aid with Cuban economic rehabilitation, it was learned last night. He will be financial expert for the American Embassy in Havana.

Berle Selected To Help Cuban Rehabilitation

(Copyright by Associated Press.)

Adolf A. Berle, jr., one of President Roosevelt's professorial advisers, virtually has been decided upon as the financial expert to assist the American Embassy in working out plans for Cuban economic rehabilitation.

Berle, one-time law teacher at Columbia University, is acting as legal adviser to the Farm Adjustment Administration on the proposed sugar stabilization agreement and only yesterday domestic cane sugar refiners requested that he be removed. They charged prejudice in favor of refining interests in Cuba and cited the former professor's association with Charles W. Taussig, who, they asserted, had an interest in refineries on the island.

Roosevelt's Approval.

It was understood, however, that President Roosevelt has already tentatively approved Berle's designation as the Havana Embassy's financial adviser and that the attack by domestic cane interests had caused no change in plans.

Berle has an intimate knowledge of sugar, the central factor in Cuba's economic affairs. He also has a first hand knowledge of conditions on the island, gained during a visit there with Taussig. They reported the result of that survey to President Roosevelt and it is credited with having shaped the administration's attitude during the

Weather Bureau Warns Of Gale in West Indies

(Associated Press.)

"Advisory 9:30 p. m. Tropical disturbance of rather small diameter attended by shifting gales central about 70 miles northwest of Grand Turks, West Indies, moving westnorthwestward about 17 miles per hour, will pass over or near Long Island, Bahamas, early Thursday morning attended by shifting gales, probably dangerous near center of disturbance."

Yellow River Subsides After Disastrous Flood

Tsinan, Shantung Province, China, Aug. 30 (AP).—The Yellow River, which recently has flooded large areas in northeast China, with great loss of life and property, was falling in Shantung Province today, and it was believed that the danger which has been threatening this city for days has passed.

The effect of rains in Honan Province, however, is yet to be felt.

NRA Leader Hits Charges Of 'Czardom'

Business, However, Told People Will Demand Blue Eagle.

Boston, Aug. 30 (AP).—Hugh S. Johnson denied today that the National Recovery Administration was attempting to make business "goosestep."

"NRA is in no sense a czardom," the administrator told a mass luncheon meeting of recovery workers.

"It is a sort of rules committee where the great coaches of the American industrial and labor teams are collaborating to make a new and fairer game out of business competition in this country."

Pointing out that the "whole experiment" is up to the workers and consumers, Johnson said:

"There is not a manufacturer or merchant who can live if we workers are not with him—we must help those who help us, or we all go down together.

Says Campaign Vital.

"I want to say with all earnestness that this campaign of consumer education, which you are launching here today, is the crux—the very vitals of the great National effort.

"It is up to you to demand the Blue Eagle. It is your chance to help yourself and if there is one thing certain in this great National game of ours, it is that nobody can legislate the country out of its trobules. The most that can be done is to give every man a chance to help himself. That the Blue Eagle does.

"That is the true, rugged individualism. That is the new freedom. And the rules of that game are simple. For the consumer there is only one, and I can say it in 17 words, 'Buy under the Blue Eagle—buy freely and buy now to the limit of your present needs.'

"We are still a land of limitless resources. We are still a people of boundless energy. The trouble is that producers have not received enough for their output to enable them to buy it back and keep our farms and factories going.

Must Remove Cause.

"That is the reason for unemployment and failing business, exhausted savings and abandoned homes. That is the reason, and until that reason is reversed there isn't going to be any recovery.

"There is no use in pointing back at the 1928 boom and saying that prosperity is possible without change—God save us from any more prosperity of that pipe-dream substance.

"I have yet to hear our President promise any magic cure or proclaim any certain formula. What, in effect, he has said over and over again is that there are so many good things in this land of ours that there is enough to keep everybody happy if only we spread them more evenly."

Alabaman Survives Ten-Story Plunge

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 30. (AP).—Henry F. Von Runnen, despondent over failing eyes, survived a plunge from an eleventh-floor window of a downtown office building today but died a few hours later from mental shock.

A maid told officers she saw the 34-year-old man jump from the window. He held a responsible position until four years ago when impaired vision drove him to making brooms for a living.

2 'Mat Villians' Groomed For Parade Benefit Battle

Garibaldi and Zaharias Promise Wrestling Fireworks Tonight.

Those two villains of the mat—Gino Garibaldi and George Zaharias are ready to spring at each other on tonight's big wrestling card at Griffith's Stadium for the benefit of National Firemen's Labor Day parade.

Matchmaker Joe Turner has groomed his giants and personally is promising Washingtonians one of the fiercest fights in years. He has provided a splendid supporting program, which opens at 8 o'clock.

In past matches, Garibaldi has thrown all sorts of people out of the ring. Garibaldi has done the same thing. Referees are included in the list of the unfortunates.

Garibaldi and Zaharias have been gunning for one another since their last fierce tilt, which ended up in a near-brawl. Tonight's the night for the real pay-off.

All regular patrons of wrestling are expected at the ring and many hundreds besides, as Turner will donate a large part of the proceeds to the firemen's parade fund.

Tickets are going fast, but Turner has more at his office at the Annapolis Hotel. Tickets also may be obtained at the box office at Griffith's Stadium.

Tickets for grand stand seats all along the parade route will be on sale after 12 noon today at all District fire houses. They may also be obtained at the business office of The Washington Post; at 615 Seventh street northwest, or reserved by calling National 8664 or 8665.

Pope Names Protector Of St. Agnes Sisters

Vatican City, Aug. 30 (AP).—Pope Pius today named Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi, former Apostolic delegate at Washington, to serve as Protector of the Sisters of St. Agnes, whose Motherhouse is at Fond-Du-Lac in the Archdiocese of Milwaukee.

Labor Demands Cuts In Code Work Hours; Hits Low Wage Scale

White House Dog Bites, He Learns

Roosevelt Dog, 'Major,' Bites Second Victim

Harry W. Johnson, Lawyer, Nipped as He Pats Executive Pet.

Harry William Johnson, 2708 Ontario road, yesterday achieved a dubious distinction. He became the second person to be bitten by the President's dog.

Johnson, according to police, was passing the White House, when he reached through the fence to pat Major, the President's German shepard. Major responded by biting Johnson's hand.

White House officials neither confirmed nor denied it was Major that did the biting. However, Major already had attained a none-too-good record by biting Senator Hattie Caraway at a White House party.

After the first offense, Major was sent to a dog hospital, where cysts were removed. Veterinarians said that removal of the cysts would cure his tendency to bite, and he was considered safe.

Seven stitches were taken in Johnson's lacerated fingers at Emergency Hospital. Johnson said that hospital authorities stated they would put the dog under observation. If rabies exists, Johnson will be treated.

Johnson, an attorney, said he felt he had a clear-cut case against the White House for allowing a vicious dog to run loose, but that he did not contemplate any action in the matter. He said he reported the biting to a mansion guard, who told him that the dog was "all right" and didn't need a muzzle.

Lawyer Held in Theft Of $1,000,000 Bonds

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—Roscoe Clough, attorney, suspected by Federal authorities of being ring leader of a gang which attempted to dispose of $1,000,000 worth of bonds stolen in Middle Western bank robberies, was arrested today in South Bend, Ind.

The arrest of Clough and his woman companion, Mary Roundtree, who is known to Los Angeles police, was announced by Pierson Hall, United States district attorney, who said they would be brought here for trial.

Three-Hour Kiss Wins World Title

Victor "So Inexperienced" She Had No Idea of Taking Marathon.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Another famous smack, but of a different variety, was recorded today when a blonde young woman and a dark-browed young man held a kiss for 3 hours and 2 minutes to win the world's endurance title.

The champions, who outlasted the other couples in the final elimination of the Coney Island kiss marathon, are Betty Burns and Michael Calabrese.

Calabrese said he began his career on the Coney Island boardwalk, while Miss Burns, blushing furiously, said she was "so inexperienced at this sort of thing that I never thought I'd win."

Follies Beauty Asks $250,000 Love Balm

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—An attorney said today a $250,000 breach of promise suit will be filed against Alan Dinehart, film actor and director, by Betty Kaege, former Follies beauty.

Dinehart's attorneys announced the suit would be contested.

Capone Faces "Racket" Trial

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP).—Gov. Lehman was told today that Illinois plans to take Al Capone, gang leader, from the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta and try him in Chicago with Aaron Sapiro for conspiracy in a laundry racket, if Illinois can extradite Sapiro from New York and get Federal permission for Capone's return.

The statement was made by Grover C. Neimeyer, assistant State's attorney of Cook County, Ill., in a hearing on a new application for Sapiro's extradition. The governor reserved decision.

Neimeyer's statement was made in answer to charges by Sapiro's counsel, David B. Siegel, of New York, that Capone was indicted with Sapiro, organizer of farm cooperatives, "in order to put the mantle of Capone around Sapiro."

Martial Law Rules Mine Strike Zone

Troop Patrolling Streets of Gallup, N. M., as Riot Threatens.

Gallup, N. Mex., Aug. 30 (AP).—This city and its five coal mines were under martial law tonight, with 200 national guardsmen patrolling the streets and mines to protect property and prevent disorders during a strike called by the National Miners Union.

Green Warns Employers, Auto Men Especially, of New Drive.

Shorter Day Only Way to Place 11,000,000 Idle, He Says.

Organized labor, dissatisfied with progress of reemployment, is preparing a determined drive to reduce materially the working hours prescribed in codes approved for many industries by the NRA.

Reemployment of 2,000,000 persons since March is indicated by figures which have been reported to the American Federation of Labor. That would, according to the same set of figures, leave 11,000,000 persons still unemployed.

Determination of labor representatives to assault the daily and weekly working hour provisions of the various codes was expressed by William Green, president of the A. F. of L., to reporters following a meeting of the National Labor Board.

Green Warns Employers.

Mr. Green warned employers, and especially automboile manufacturers, there would be an intensive drive to bring employes within the folds of organized labor. He was asked about the accuracy of the 2,000,000 figure given by Gen. Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, the day before. It was about right, Mr. Green said. He was asked the portent of the reemployment trend.

"It means that not enough persons are being employed," he declared. "There can hardly be any question. So many persons have been unemployed. So many persons have been reemployed. It is a matter of mathematics, isn't it?"

Declared Only Solution.

"We are going to do everything we can to reduce the hours of labor provided in codes and that means we are also going to try to have reduced the hours prescribed in the codes which already have been temporarily or otherwise approved.

"That is the only solution to this unemployment problem. We can't provide jobs for persons out of work unless we reduce the working week."

Relatively insignificant labor disputes considered by the Labor Board were dwarfed by the Green statement, although the session of the board was the first at which Senator Robert L. Wagner (Democrat), of New York, chairman, presided.

Senator Wagner admitted to reporters the board had little or no authority to impose its decisions on any one, unless both sides to a dispute came to the board and agreed to abide by its decisions. In that event the senator, who was a jurist before he came to the Senate, said the decisions of the board would have the effect of contracts enforceable through either State or Federal courts.

Code Negotiations Progress.

Negotiations incident to a code for the bituminous coal industry went forward yesterday as did negotiations for the retailers. There still are major questions involved in considering the retail code. Many want the drug stores brought under

5 in Box Car Held As D. C. Runaways

Baltimore, Aug. 30 (Spl.).—Bound for New York to seek their fortunes, five youthful Washingtonians were detained today as they were leaving Baltimore in a Pennsylvania box car. They identified themselves as:

Howard Libby, 17, 418 K street northwest; James Chaperlear, 14, 1223 B street northeast; Milton Rosasco, 13, 414 Eleventh street northeast; Merk Passagno, 14, 719 Fifth street northeast; James Brown, 14, 536 Eighth street northeast.

Pending arrival of parents, the boys were held by police.

Guardsmen Will Keep Order at Murder Trial

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30 (AP). Adjutant Gen. J. H. Ballew today ordered 35 National Guardsmen and four officers to Lebanon to prevent any disturbance at the trial of three Negroes charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Ben Northern and Special Deputy Millard Brown last fall.

Philippines to Claim Isles Seized by France

Manila, Aug. 30 (AP).—A resolution to determine Philippine claims to nine small islands in the south China Sea now being claimed by France and Japan was filed in the insular senate today by Elpidio Quirino, majority floor leader.

The resolution provides for appointment of a joint committee of eight to consider the Philippines' course in the matter.

Bath-Tub Gin Takes Count As States Act

Even So, Physicians Say Repeal Is Matter of Few Months.

Every time a sovereign State cracks down on prohibition, bath-tub gin takes it on the chin.

In a little while, according to Washington physicians, bath-tub gin and all its allied hosts, including caramel colored rye, "smoke," and Scotch right off the boat, scraped from the bottom, will be things of the past.

The death-knell to bad liquor is being sounded. Already, the physicians are working under a liberalized code and, under it, any good doctor may prescribe a case of whisky or wine every 30 days.

Doctors Disclose Findings

Then came easing of the prescription law.

As one doctor stated the case:

"There is no use kidding ourselves. The eighteenth amendment will soon be off the books. So far as I am concerned patients can have all the liquor they want. I would rather see a man drink good liquor than bathtub gin."

Big Difference in Quality.

There, in their musty casings, were the choicest wines costing from $1.50 to $1.75 a quart. The finest liquors—bourbon and rye—were to be had from $2.25 to $3.25 a pint.

Bootleg liquor quoted at $1.50 to $2.25 a pint on the open market can just about stand up under this difference in parity. The difference in quality, of course, is even greater than the difference in price.

An old bartender, called in to give his views on the question, said:

"Youngsters who took to drink after national prohibition are essentially liquor drinkers. They tried 3.2 beer for a while, but went back to more potent drinks. What they want is a kick.'"

Already, quality is being demanded.

NRA Credit Plan Study Completed

(Associated Press.)

Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, last night concluded a tentative exploration of means of expanding credit to members of the NRA, and indication was given that a formal announcement might be expected within a day or so.

In addition to a telephone conversation with President Roosevelt, in Hyde Park, Jones conferred with Eugene Black, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and representatives of the Comptroller of the Currency.

Jones discussed means of creating a medium for temporarily expanding credit for participants in the NRA movement to take care of their needs during the period between increased overhead and the first returns from higher prices.

Forest Fire Loss Put at $42,000,000

Portland, Oreg., Aug. 30 (AP).—While gentle rains sprinkled on the hot ashes left by the most disastrous forest fire in Oregon within man's memory, timber cruisers entered the blackened area today to count the tremendous loss from the flames.

Thousands or acres of forest lands were devastated by the blasting fires which whipped over northwestern Oregon for two weeks. Lynn F. Cronemiller, State forester, said today the loss might amount to as much as $42,000,000. Between 10 and 14 billion feet of yellow fir timber was destroyed.

The Wilson River, Trask River and Clatsop County fires, State foresters said, wrought more damage than had all forest fires in Oregon from 1911 to 1930.

Mrs. Marion Brooks Wins Divorce at Reno

Reno, Nev., Aug. 30 (AP).—Marion Hopkinson Brooks, prominent socially in New York, obtained a divorce on grounds of cruelty here today from John Brooks, whom she married in New York eight years ago.

A property settlement, which also arranged for the custody of two children, was approved by the court.

Washingtonian Asks Divorce.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 30—Divorce complaints filed today included Lehman E. Wellington Miller vs. Dorris Emerson Miller, of 1729 Thirty-fifth street northwest, Washington, D. C.; married Lebanon, N. H., June 16, 1915; cruelty; two children.

Signs NRA Pledge

Bulk of Capital Employers Get Eagles of NRA

70 Per Cent Sign Pledge; Probe of "Chiseling" to Follow Campaign.

More than 70 per cent of Washington's 12,000 employers have pledged acceptance of the Blue Eagle and promised to give their workers benefits accruing under NRA membership.

Through strenuous efforts by the more than 2,000 Washington NRA campaigners, 8,604 employers and 100,000 consumers have signed the pledge, it was learned last night at the District National Recovery Administration headquarters.

Within ten days, it was said, a fairly accurate estimate will be available as to the number of unemployed put back on pay rolls through the drive. Then investigations will be started to determine the truth of reports that some NRA employers have made their office boys "executives" and resorted to other subterfuges to display the Blue Eagle without giving employes the shorter hours and higher pay required by the codes.

Codes Felt in Many Lines.

Bank clerks, laundry sales girls milk wagon drivers and a large number of workers in other lines have obtained work as the result of the codes, it was announced. The total is expected to expand materially next week when the department stores begin remaining open all day Saturdays. A new hotel code also was expected to be approved and in effect with consequent benefits to waitresses, janitors, bell boys and clerks.

The Sanitary Grocery Co., it was announced, has increased its pay roll $9,500 a week for Washington and Maryland.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., though not making public its figures for Washington, has said it has raised its Nation-wide annual pay roll by $8,000,000 and added 8,340 employes.

Bank Employs 16 More.

Other pay roll additions.

Riggs National Bank, 16; Texas Oil Co., 7 at south Washington plant and 2 men per station at all filling stations; American Oil Co., 14 at Rosslyn plant and 100 at Lord Baltimore filling stations; Continental Bakeries, 14; Havenner Bakery, 11; Chevy Chase Dairy, 35; Thompson's Dairy, 15; Palace Laundry, 34; Sherwood Brothers' filling stations, 192; Cities Service filling stations, 10.

Warner Brothers' theaters and Southern Dairies announced they have increased their pay rolls 10 per cent through additional employment, and Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co. reported an increase.

Bus and street car companies are not yet under a code, but the Washington Railway & Electric Co.'s total of employes has been increased 7 per cent since April.

New Pepco Workers.

New workers were hired for the electrical appliance department of the Potomac Electric Power Co. after the company had been given a ruling by the NRA as to a code allocating for that department.

All office employes of the Potomac Electric Power Co. had been on a 40-hour week since Monday, extra employes to be hired as required.

Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. had no total of new employes, but it had been operating under a five-day week prior to adoption of NRA codes.

No definite figures were available, but Richard Dickson, of the Central Labor Union, said he was certain many in the printing industry had been returned to their jobs.

New Auto Repair Group.

Organization of the Washington Maintenance Association by independent repair shop operators was announced last night.

The association approved a code governing 325 local independent operators for submission to NRA. Officers elected included George E. Keneipp, chairman; C. A. Lane, vice chairman, and A. Leftwich Sinclair, jr., secretary-treasurer.

Invitations to affiliate with the Merchants and Manufacturers Association and the Washington Automotive Trade Association were received.

Auto Tunnel Awarded Loan Of $37,500,000

(Associated Press.)

Loan of $37,500,000 to the Port of New York Authority for a mid-town vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River yesterday brought total allotments from the public works fund to $1,327,896,138.

This advance, to finance construction of a tunnel from New York to Weehawken, N. J., carried the Public Works Administration's total approvals for the day from the $37,300,000,000 fund over the $55,000,000 mark.

Allocations of $15,415,000 for construction work on 14 irrigation projects in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Oregon and Utah, and $2,250,000 for the Naval Hospital at Philadelphia were announced.

The tunnel allotment was on the basis of a loan.

Hospital Is Under Way.

By yesterday's allotment the Navy Department will be able to complete the hospital at Philadelphia, already 30 per cent finished.

The Navy Department, by an Executive order, received the second largest item so far from the fund—$238,000,000 for ship construction. Contracts for the vessels have been awarded, the last of which will be signed this week. The Navy also received $13,600,000 for construction and repairs at shore stations.

The other larger allotments included $50,000,000 to the Tennessee Valley Authority, $100,000,000 to the Farm Credit Administration, $40,000,000 by Executive order to the Civilian Conservation Corps, $25,000,000 under a provision in the law for establishment of subsistence homesteads, $43,986,956 for flood control on the lower Mississippi River, $44,460,000 for reclamation, including $38,000,000 for Boulder Dam; $22,700,000 for the Casper-Alcova irrigation power project in Wyoming, $11,500,000 for continuation of work on the 9-foot channel in the upper Mississippi River, and $20,000,000 for forest highways, roads and trails.

River Program Incomplete.

The program for river and harbor improvement under public works fund has not been completed, but the board made a separate allotment of $14,158,108 for channel work on the Missouri River as far as Sioux City, Iowa.

Housing specialists of the Public Works Administration are studying extensive slum clearance projects in 25 cities. The administration has allotted approximately $10,000,000 for slum clearance projects in Boston, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, New York City and Hutchinson, Kans.

In approving the expenditure today for work on irrigation projects the public works administration said it would not bring new lands into cultivation, but would improve conditions on existing projects.

New Deal Wins At County Fair

John Roosevelt, 16, Rides Gift Horse; President Smiles Proudly.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP).—President Roosevelt went to the Dutchess County Fair today and saw New Deal win the blue ribbon with his youngest son, John, 16, in the saddle.

New Deal is the chestnut horse given to the President by Missourians. John came home from polo training camp job to put the horse through its paces.

There was plenty of competition and the President, sitting in his car smiled proudly as John rode up with the blue ribbon. Mrs. Roosevelt was just as happy and John got pats on the back.

While New Deal headed the saddle horse group he failed to place in the pleasure class. Later, John and his sister, Mrs. Curtis Dall, competed in the family riding group and took fourth place.

James M. Fassett Opens Law Offices

Was Formerly Special Aid to Attorney General Under Hoover.

James Maxwell Fassett, a special assistant to the Attorney General during the Hoover administration, has returned to the practice of law with offices in Washington and New York.

While in the Department of Justice, Fassett served in the antitrust division under John Lord O'Brian.

Because of the experience gained in this work, Fassett will specialize in cases coming up under the agricutlural adjustment, national industrial recovery and new securities acts.

Fassett is a graduate of Colgate Universtiy and the Harvard Law School. He served in the Navy during the World War.

Storm Losses of Navy Figured at $1,250,000

Navy property was damaged $1,250,000 in last week's storm, it was announced yesterday. A loss of $300,000 was experienced at stations in this area, including the Navy Yard, Anacostia Air Station and Bellevue Research Laboratory.

An aerial survey is being conducted by Col. H. M. Waite and Maj. Philip Fleming, of the Public Works Administration. They are traversing the Atlantic seaboard, piloted by Lieut. Frank D. Owers.

'Elope Again'

Baltimore Couple Reenact Runaway Marriage of Half Century Ago.

Baltimore, Aug. 30 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Beck, who eloped from Baltimore to Philadelphia August 30, 1883, will get married again tonight.

The ceremony, which will leave the Becks doubly rather than remarried, will feature the celebration of their golden wedding. The bride will wear the same white dress she wore when she and 21-year-old Henry ran away to Philadelphia 50 years ago. The bridegroom will appear in the "conventional black" dress suit which he last donned some 30 years ago.

The Becks' 8 children, survivors of 13 born to the couple, and 9 grandchildren, will witness the wedding.

Berle Resists Sugar Groups In Bias Charge

Spokesman for Refiners to Ask Wallace to Intervene.

(Associated Press.)

Another protest yesterday over continuance of A. A. Berle, jr., as legal adviser to the Farm Administration on the proposed sugar stabilization agreement failed to budge him from his post.

Charged for the second time with "bias and prejudice" by Wilbur Cummings, spokesman for domestic cane refiners, Berle, one of President Roosevelt's professorial advisers, called on Ellsworth Bunker, of the National Sugar Refining Co., to say whether the refiners had objected to his participation.

Bunker said there had been objections from the refiners to Berle's participation in framing the tentative pact, but that these had been withdrawn because of "confidence" in the former Columbia University professor's fair-mindedness.

Pact Expected Soon.

Thomas M. Woodward, presiding officer, said he expected the draft of a sugar agreement would soon be "evolved." This was construed as meaning that the Farm Administration would write its own draft and offer it to the various interests for acceptance or rejection.

A quota arrangement by which the producers in this country, Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico would be allowed to supply 6,575,000 tons annually to the domestic market is the crux of the stabilization arrangement.

Plan Appeal to Wallace.

Cummings was on his feet as the gavel rapped to assert that "We have been treated like Englishmen in a Soviet court."

"It is not a fact," he said, "that we knew a member of this commission was connected with interests adverse to ours."

He added that his group intended to appeal "to the Secretary of Agriculture to have a fair commission to hear our case."

Cuba's Finance Puzzle.

One of the things upon which Berle would concentrate in the event he is sent to Havana, as is expected, is Cuba's large external funded indebtedness, estimated at about $145,000,000. Dwindling tax collections have caused doubt as to the future ability of the country to pay on securities, many of which are American-owned.

Berle may be a factor in shaping the administration's decision with regard to a lowering of the duty of Cuban sugar or an expansion in the quota of 1,750,000 tons annually tentatively allotted under the stabilization agreement. The State Department is known to be sympathetic to Cuba's assertion that she should be allowed to export 2,000,000 tons yearly to the United States.

Farm Trade Pact Enforcers Named

(Associated Press.)

The Farm Administration yesterday announced establishment of three offices to enforce trade agreements under the farm act. They are at San Francisco, Chicago and Kansas City, with general headquarters here.

One of the first tasks of the Chicago office will be enforcement of the new Chicago milk marketing agreement. The District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday dismissed efforts of independent producers in the Chicago milk shed to restrain operation of the agreement.

George Carlson, of Detroit, will be chief of enforcement activities, with offices in Washington. The San Francisco office will be headed by Brice M. Mace, jr.; Chicago, C. B. Spoffard; Kansas City, Frank Baker. A special legal staff will be set up here with J. H. Lewin, Baltimore, in charge.

Coast Plane and Four Believed Lost in Sea

Mexico City, Aug. 30 (AP).—Reports from La Paz, Lower California, tonight said it was believed there the plane of Mack R. Ayers, Los Angeles pilot, missing with three passengers on the way from Mazatlan, had fallen into the sea. The plane and the fliers had not been found after an intensive search.

Oil Committee Of 15 Named By Roosevelt

Moffet to Be Right-Hand Man for Ickes; Initial Meet Called.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP).—President Roosevelt today appointed the oil planning and coordinating committee, with James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, as the Government's chief representative.

He named a full committee of 15 members in addition to Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator, who has called the group to meet tomorrow afternoon in Washington.

The two men representing the National Recovery Administration besides Moffett are Donald R. Richberg, labor counsel of the NRA, and M. L. Benedum, Pittsburgh oil man.

Committee Members.

The oil committeemen appointed to represent the industry are:

Howard Bennette, Tulsa, Western Petroleum Refiners Association, with membership composed of principal independent refiners in the Middle West.

W. T. Holliday, president, Standard of Ohio; director of Petroleum Institute and its marketing committee chairman.

Authority on Production.

E. B. Reeser, Tulsa, president Barnsdall Oil Corporation and former president of Petroleum Institute; considered authority on producing fields and production problems.

K. R. Kingsbury, president, Standard of California; leader in efforts to stabilize industry on Pacific Coast.

B. L. Majewski, of Chicago, Illinois Petroleum Marketers Association and receiver Deep Rock Oil Corporation; expert on retail dealers' problems.

C. F. Roeser, Fort Worth, Tex.; the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation Association, independent producer and active in campaign to obtain laws in Texas to curtail petroleum production to demand needs.

Amos L. Beatty, Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips Petroleum Co., former chairman Texas Oil Corporation and former president of the Petroleum Institute, considered authority on industry's legal problems.

Foreign Marketing Expert.

C. E. Arnott, New York, president Socony-Vacuum Corporation, active in domestic marketing operations, considered authority on foreign marketing.

Henry M. Dawes, of Chicago, president of Pure Oil Co., long active in domestic oil affairs.

Richberg, for years attorney for railway labor.

Moffett, long-time friend of President Roosevelt, aided Secretary Ickes in formulation of oil code.

Farm College Adds Winter Course.

Morgantown, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—A farm winter course has been added to the curriculum of the University College of Agriculture designed for young men engaged in farming or young people who do not have time to spend in obtaining a full B. S. degree, it was announced today by Dean F. D. Fromme of the college.

New U. S. Unit To Make Loans On Agriculture

(Associated Press.)

Money-lending functions of the Hoover-created Federal Farm Board yesterday passed to a new division of the Farm Credit Administration, the Central Bank for Cooperatives, with appointment of its directors. It will have headquarters here, and making loans to National farm marketing and purchasing cooperative organizations will be supplemented by cooperative banks in 12 cities where Federal and and intermediate credit banks are situated.

These will make loans to regional cooperatives for sums up to $500,000. Loans of more than $500,000 to regional cooperatives and loans to national cooperatives will be made directly by the central bank. Interest rates will be from 3 to 6 per cent.

Seven directors will have charge. F. W. Peck, St. Paul, cooperative bank commissioner, is ex officio chairman. Board members representing the public are Dean Thomas Cooper, Lexington, Ky., a 3-year term; J. D. Miller, Susquehanna, Pa., two years; H. Lane Young, Atlanta, Ga., one year.

Directors representing cooperatives are H. E. Babcock, Ithaca, N. Y., three years; F. M. Hayner, Las Cruces, N. Mex., two years; U. M. Dickey, Seattle, Wash., one year.

St. Paul Killers Take $30,000

Policeman Dead as Gang Robs Bank Messenger; Suspect Touhys.

South St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 30 (AP).—One policeman was slain and another wounded seriously today in a swiftly executed $30,000 bank messenger holdup, which officials said might be a sequel to the William Hamm kidnaping in June.

Suspicion was directed toward the Touhy gang, of Chicago, after five bandits drove up to the local postoffice, shot Officers Leo Pavlak, 35, and John Yeaman, and escaped in a smoke screen.

Fire from submachine guns, shotguns and pistols swept the street and sidewalk, scattering pedestrians.

The officers were accompanying two bank messengers, who had received the currency consignment from the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis.

District Attorney L. L. Drill said: "Rumors have been current in the underworld for some time that members of the Touhy mob might come here to start trouble."

Their leader, Roger Touhy, and three other Chicagoans are in jail in St. Paul on charges growing out of the seizure of Hamm, millionaire brewer, who was held nearly four days before being freed on payment of $100,000 ransom.

Bank Robber Killed.

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—A bank robber was killed and another captured, while a third escaped today, when police frustrated an attempt to rob a bank at Mount Auburn.

Police had been informed the robbery was contemplated and had hidden several armed men near the bank.

When the robbers appeared the bank employes fled into the vault, as prearranged, and sounded a burglar alarm. A posse closed in on the bandits as they attempted to flee.

Washington Employe Held on Theft Charge

Buffalo, Aug. 30 (AP).—Harry Hibbard, 26, Ridgeway, Ont., was held here today on a charge of stealing $1,406 from Miss Elizabeth Kramer, Port Colburne, Ont., now employed in Buffalo as a housekeeper.

Hibbard told police the money was given him as a loan and he had motored here from Washington, D. C., where he is employed, to face the charge.

Varying Types Of Sleep Plague Held Prevalent

Experts Say Outbreaks in Other States Unlike That in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 30 (AP).—Scientists studying the "sleeping sickness" epidemic here, were of the belief today that the encephalitis outbreaks in other States were of a different type than the St. Louis malady.

Two deaths occurred in a Kansas City, Kans., hospital in the last 24 hours, and six cases have been reported over Kansas. Ten cases developed in Kansas City, Mo., another death was reported at Fort Smith, Ark. The death list rose to 47 in St. Louis today.

"There are two types of encephalitis," said Dr. Paul Zentay, assistant health commissioner. "They are the sporadic type, which usually follows another illness, such as measles, whooping cough or other types of body infection, and lethargic encephalitis, a primary disease."

Surg. Gen. Hugh S. Cumming, here yesterday to make first-hand observation, said seven experts of the United States Public Health Service will join the four already here.

Detroit, Aug. 30 (AP).—Health officials today said five cases of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, have been reported in the Detroit area in two weeks. There has been one death and two patients are in a critical condition.

Cumming Seeks Fund Of $25,000 for Fight

(Associated Press.)

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the Public Health Service said yesterday he is asking a $25,000 fund from the Treasury to help fight the sleeping sickness outbreak in St. Louis.

Ever since the Cleveland administration, Cumming explained, Congress annually has appropriated a fund for the fighting of epidemics that might occur during a recess.

This fund, about $400,000, can be expended by authority of the President.

the general retail code. They have complained that under the guise of drug stores, seeking special exemptions, the drug stores have sought special advantages because they sell everything from drugs to sand buckets.

Modified presidential reemployment agreements were approved yesterday for these industries:

Sewing machine, folding box manufacturing, shoe last manufacturing, luggage and fancy leather goods, lye manufacturing, wax paper, slit fabric manufacturing, solid section steel windows, gas cocks, dental laboratories, seed, parking industry, mill, marine and contractors' supplies, advertising newspaper, stationery, tablet and school paper manufacturing, furriers supplies and refining and processing of cocoanut oil.

Coal Strife Feared.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Strife in the Nation's coal fields, especially in Illinois, was envisaged by Liberal and Socialist leaders tonight unless the NRA coal code guarantees the rights of independent unions as well as the United Mine Workers of America.

The American Civil Liberties Union telegraphed Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and Dr. Leo Wolman, of the labor advisory board, as follows:

"Protest strongly against reported provision for collective bargaining in coal code granting exclusive recognition to United Mine Workers with check-off system. We submit that such provision directly violates section 7 giving workers right to select own representatives. Independent unions in mining industry should be provided for. If reported provision adopted strife will follow particularly in Illinois field and court test inevitable. Urge your careful consideration of this point."

Brewers Draft Code.

District and Maryland brewing interests joined yesterady in drafting a code which is expected to be presented to Gen. Johnson today.

If accepted, the code will provide local brewery workers with a minimum wage of $15 and a maximum week of 40 hours. Policing powers under the code are to be turned over to a committee of ten elected from the U. S. Circuit Court districts.

G. H. Hocker, of Baltimore, represented District and Maryland brewers on the committee.

Rail Yardmasters Ask NRA for 8-Hour Day

Omaha, Nebr., Aug. 30 (AP)—Delegates to the convention of International Railway Yardmasters ended their three-day session here today by voting to petition the NRA for a code with an eight-hour day.

C. D. Anderson, Chicago president of the organization, said an effort would be made to bring the yardmasters' union to 23,000 members.

Unofficial "Honor Roll" Denounced as Racket

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—Publishers of an unofficial "roll of honor" listing firms which have signed to operate under the NRA Blue Eagle drew a sharp rebuke today from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, who termed the publication "undesirable" and "impudent."

"Attention has been called to a magazine published by Ira A. Wolfe," the general said in a telegram to Chicago NRA headquarters. Anybody who contributes to be included in such a 'who's who' is simply contributing to a racket," Gen. Johnson said.

Dr. Cumming Tells Objects Of U. S. in Study of Epidemic

Says St. Louis Outbreak Affords Unusual Field for Scientists.

Editor's note—On his return to Washington from St. Louis, where he made a personal inspection of the "sleeping sickness" situation, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, of the Public Health Service, was requested to write a summary of his findings.

(Copyright, 1933, by The Associated Press.)

The Associated Press has asked me for an article on epedemic encephalitis, the "sleeping sickness," which in the past month has resulted in 45 deaths, 320 cases in St. Louis.

My experience is that the press is the most valuable adjunct of the public health service in meeting such epidemics. It gives the people information for their protection. By promptly reporting the outbreak in other cities than the one principally affected, it gives our service information vital to its studies. Therefore, I gladly comply.

Not since the poliomyelitis epidemic in New York, in 1916, has this service been confronted with an epidemic in such imperative need of immediate and intensive study * * *

How Disease Develops.

Epidemic Encephalitis, or "sleeping sickness" is an inflammation of the brain itself, with a moderate insolvent of the meninges, or coverings of the spinal chord. It is one of the group known as virus diseases, the ultramicroscopic germ having thus far proven impossible of isolation. Its carriers remain unknown.

It usually starts with a pain in the back of the neck and headache. Often there are gastro-intestinal symptoms—vomiting, diarrhea or constipation. The patient is apathetic, lying immobile. The temperature rises. Characteristic is the "facial mask"—no mobility or expression in the facial muscles. Accompanying this condition often are motor reflexes of elbow, knee, wrist, or ankle; or tremors of arms or legs—continuous shaking. Irregular paralysis may occur. * * *

Studies show low incidence by personal contact. In efforts to prevent spread of the disease, therefore, we are not trying any quarantine methods, but we do emphatically urged isolation of the individual patient for three weeks. * * *

Goals of Health Service.

So far as the Public Health Service of the Federal Government is concerned, we have, in addition to aiding the local authorities, three main objects in view.

First, a detailed study of the epidemiology of the disease—all conditions, all factors, relating to its nature and its origin. This is the largest one-place outbreak of encephalitis the world has yet known, giving science opportunity for an intensive study of a little-known disease.

Second, research work on the nature of the disease itself—to get it, if possible, into animals, monkeys, guinea pigs, rabbits, or rats, permitting continued studies with a view to eventual solution and check.

Soviet Mobilizing, Japanese Charge

Tokyo War Office Watching Reported Increase in Siberian Forces.

Tokyo, Aug. 30 (AP).—Tokyo newspapers asserted today that Russia, confident of friendly relations with western neighbors, is reinforcing its army in far-eastern Siberia.

One journal credited its report to unnamed source in the Tokyo war office, which it said was anxiously watching developments.

These statements said Soviet troops in Siberia at present aggregate "more than half of Japan's entire army, with 300 planes, including heavy bombers."

Tyrolese Nazis Raid Austrian Jail, Free Chief

Innsbruck, Austria, Aug. 30 (AP). Three Nazis disguised as members of the fascist home guard raided the Innsbruck Jail today, released Franz Hofer, their Tyrolese leader and escaped with him toward the Italian border.

Policemen fired on the speeding automobile and it was believed one occupant was wounded. The car was found abandoned about two miles from the border.

The disguised Nazis were admitted to the jail at midnight and they soon overpowered the jailers.

Forty per cent of the citizens of Innsbruck voted the Nazi ticket last April. Hofer has been in prison since June 12.

Militia Consent Lacking.

Rome, Aug. 30 (AP).—England, France and Italy have not yet given formal consent to the creation by Austria of a supplementary militia, it was revealed today. The matter will be discussed at the next meeting of the League of Nations Council.

Hitler Opens Congress.

Nurnberg, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP). Bells pealed from the churches of this ancient city tonight as the biennial Congress of the National Socialist (Nazi) party was opened by Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

It was the first national gathering of the organization since Hitler rose to power.

Six hundred thousand visitors were here. The number was expected to be 1,000,000 Sunday.

Invitations to attend the affair were extended to all embassies and legations. Neither William E. Dodd, the American Ambassador, nor the French, British, Italian, Turkish, Japanese, Russian or Spanish envoys accepted.

Detroit Banks' Acts Defended By 2 Officials

Checks Not "Kited," Says Counsel, Answering Couzens' Charges.

Detroit, Aug. 30 (AP).—A bookkeeping official and a lawyer came before the one-man Detroit grand jury today to deny charges by United States Senator James Couzens and the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin there had been improprieties in Detroit banking conduct before th Michigan banking holiday February 14.

A. A. McGonagle, head of the bookkeeping staff of the closed First National Bank of Detroit, apprised of charges by the militant Father Coughlin that accounts of the bank deliberately had been "padded," declared "someone has been misinformed."

Thomas G. Long, counsel for the First National and for the Detroit Trust Co., questioned about Couzens' charges there had been check "kiting" between the two institutions and reciprocal deposits made, which tended to show greater than actual assets, declared the transactions "had no such purpose at all."

McGonagle said there was no concealment of figures in the First National's transactions; that on the day the bank closed it was more than 23 per cent liquid. Father Coughlin had declared the bank was only 14 per cent liquid when it closed.

Long recounted a deposit of $6,000,000 placed in the First National by the Detroit Trust Co., which Couzens charged was "switched" to show increased assets to that amount by both banks. He said the trust company included this when the State bank examiner presented his bill for services.

The bill, he continued, was based on assets of the company, and the $6,000,000 was included. He declared the $6,000,000 on deposit by the First National in the trust company was an interest-bearing checking account.

Truck Accident Fatal To Virginia Resident

Jake Leary, 65, of Harrisonburg, Va., died yesterday in Emergency Hospital from injuries received Tuesday when struck by a District Water Department truck at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest.

Long at Home, Fighting Mad; Bans Cameras

Ten Guards Meet Train; Senator Is Silent on Sideshow Offer.

New Orleans, Aug. 30 (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long arrived in New Orleans tonight fighting mad from his experiences in Milwaukee and New York and bearing the wound over his eye received in a fight in a Long Island club.

He flatly refused to comment on any subject put to him by interviewers and ordered the ten men who met him at a suburban station to keep photographers away.

The senator refused to comment on a $1,000 per day offer to appear as a sideshow attraction in Coney Island.

Maybe, He Saw Quadruple.

New York, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—That epochal incident in which Senator Long was socked in the eye at a Long Island society club early Sunday was discussed by Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, former prize fighter who now runs a gymnasium.

"The truth is," said Jack, "there is a subjective and an objective verity in every fight. Now, when I fought Joe Walcott I was up against the same wall of unbelief as the senator. I saw four or five Walcotts after he hit me the first time, but to the spectators only one Joe was apparent."

Georgia Governor Wins In Road Board Fight

Buchanan, Ga., Aug. 30 (AP).—Gov. Eugene Talmadge's appointment of J. J. Mangham as chairman of the Georgia highway board after the governor had ousted J. W. Barnett under martial law was upheld by a jury in the Harlason County Court here today.

Barnett had brought ouster proceedings against Mangham and the case was given to a jury to decide.

British Railways Will Leave Arbitration Board

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—British railway companies have given notice that they will withdraw next March from the National Wages Board, established in 1921 to adjudicate labor conditions.

Meanwhile the companies are inviting union heads to a conference to amend the present conciliation machinery. Both sides express anxiety to avoid disputes and have agreed the present machinery is inadequate.

Viscount Grey Out of Coma

War-Time Premier Again Conscious But Still Gravely Ill.

Christon Bank, England, Aug. 30 (AP).—Viscount Grey of Fallodon regained consciousness today after having been unconscious for many hours. He talked with his physician and with his sister, and recognized familiar sounds of country life that came through the open windows.

His coma ended a few hours after a bulletin issued at Fallodon Hall said there was a slight improvement in his condition, although he remained gravely ill.

Sickroom bulletins did not explain the exact nature of the malady of the viscount, who achieved international eminence by the part he took as British foreign secretary in the stirring events at the beginning of the World War. It was said authoritatively, however, that his condition was the result of high blood pressure, from which he has suffered many years.

Later an official bulletin said:

"The slight improvement of this morning has been maintained. Otherwise his condition is unchanged."

Buffalo Police Grill Gang Murder Suspect

Buffalo, N. Y. Aug. 30 (AP).—Seeking further evidence that Salvatore and James Callea were killed by rival alcoholic distillers from Cleveland, Buffalo police today questioned John Porello, 39.

Porello, whose five brothers were killed in a Cleveland gang war, was arrested in Jamestown last night and returned to Buffalo.

Dollar Rises As Mined Gold Ban Is Lifted

London, Paris and Berlin Report Stiffer Rates on Exchange.

(Associated Press.)

The dollar rose yesterday in London, Paris and Berlin in the wake of the announcement lifting America's embargo on mined gold.

London — Financial authorities thought the raising of the embargo might stimulate the opening up of new sources of gold supply, but they looked for no increased flow of sufficient proportions to depress gold prices appreciably. The dollar improved 1¾ cents, closing at $4.54½ to the pound.

Paris—The American action accentuated uncertainty of speculators. Bankers said that obviously the move would stiffen exchange. The dollar improved 19 centimes, closing at 17.90 francs (5.59 cents to the franc).

Rosenwald Urges Action.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—Emergency action by President Roosevelt to reduce the purchasing power of the dollar to its 1926 level, and thereby raise the price level of commodities, was urged by Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in an address here tonight.

Rosenwald said that if the Government delays action depositors' money will dwindle away in foreclosures and in forced sales of other bank assets.

Rosenwald also urged that the President issue currency against frozen bank assets.

"The President," he said, "has authority to do this now. The amount of such currency should be sufficient to pay immediately a substantial part of frozen bank assets."

Mad Man Killed Threatening Girl

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—Joseph Stassi was shot to death today as he menaced a 4-year-old girl with a rifle after running amuck in his apartment building.

Arrival of officers ended an hour of terror. Mrs. Stassi said her husband, frequently afflicted with delusions, leaped from bed and seized a rifle, imagining some one was threatening him.

Wife Killed When She Threatens to Leave

Le Claire, Iowa, Aug. 30 (AP).—Ira Smith was killed by her husband, Bert G. Smith, 53, today when she threatened to leave him.

Zionist President Praises Workers

Says Labor Is Backbone of Move to Restore Palestine.

Praha, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 30 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Nahum Sokolow, president of the World Zionist Organization, addressing the eighteenth congress, tonight defined his views on labor in the upbuilding of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

"In the center of the national upbuilding must stand the worker who has achieved more than any other section, forming the backbone of the movement," he declared.

He urged that all Jewish workers in Palestine be enrolled in the Histadruth, labor federation, to prevent the formation of a second such body.

Small Stores Code Working Plan Is Drawn

Would Make Family-Run Businesses Bear Part of Labor Load.

(Associated Press.)

Tentative plans by which small stores, especially those family-operated, would bear a share of the labor load imposed under a general retail code was worked out yesterday at the Recovery Administration.

This provision suggested that in stores where not more than five persons work, only one might be considered an executive. This would require all but one member of the family to work the hours set in the code.

A small store conducted entirely by three members of one family, without such a provision, might be operated by them, working any hours they desired, without hiring additional helpers.

Under the suggested provision one member of the family would be an executive and the other two might work only the stipulated hours, ranging, perhaps, from 40 to 48, dependent upon hours of operation, with the result that a part-time employe, at least, might be necessary.

A controversial provision of the druggists' code which would require retailers to sell at prices not less than 21 per cent under the retail price as set by manufacturers of trade-marked items, was being considered for the master code.

The effect of this would be to prevent the use by one trade of another trade's standard items as a lure for buyers.

Farm Depression Tale Sent to Roosevelt

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 30 (AP).—A simple discussion of every-day economic problems as they are reported from Route 1, Holly Springs, Ga., has been sent on to President Roosevelt by Gov. Eugene Talmadge with the comment that the farmer "must receive some help" before "any recovery can be expected."

The discussion was contained in a brief letter penciled on the back of a circular, and bearing the signature, "Will C. Smith, Route 1, Holly Springs, Ga."

$546,000 Forest Deal Is Approved

(Associated Press.)

Purchase of more than 274,000 acres of forest land in 17 States for an aggregate price of about $546,000 was approved yesterday by the National Forest Reservation Commission.

The purchase program covers 30 units within the boundaries of existing national forests and purchase units east of the great plains.

They will be added to areas under administration of the Forest Service and will be devoted to timber growing, water shed protection and other national forest purposes.

Improvement work on several of the tracts will be undertaken immediately by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Court Orders Union to Stop Bakery Picket

Green Says Protest Will Be Made Against Brooklyn Ruling

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Holding picketing to be a "nuisance," Supreme Court Justice Selah Strong in Brooklyn today enjoined members of the Bakery & Confectionary Workers International Union from picketing shops of members of the Specialty Bakery owners of America.

Six pickets were arrested in Brooklyn early in the week after Grover Whalen, National Recovery Administrator in New York, declared picketing of code establishments was a criminal offense.

"The mere walking back and forth on a sidewalk with placards," the court's opinion declared, "is sufficient to annoy the public and creates a public nuisance. Picketing frequently leads to malicious mischief and sometimes it leads to disorderly conduct and violence."

Green Opposes Decision.

(Associated Press.)

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said last night that "we will certainly oppose the decision" granting an injunction restraining striking union workers from picketing bakery shops in New York.

"I can't understand this decision," Green said when told of the action of Supreme Court Justice Strong in Brooklyn. "The courts always have held that picketing is perfectly proper and perfectly legal."

Good Citizen

Gen. Johnson Heeds Plea of Chinese Girl; Sends Emblems.

(United Press.)

A 10-year-old Chinese girl in Brooklyn, worrying over whether her father was a good citizen, wrote to Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson yesterday, asking for a Blue Eagle.

"May I please have the Blue Eagle?" Millie Wong's letter read. "I want to show that my father is a good citizen. We are good Chinese people. We are ten in the family. I will give you the names. Father Hing, Mother Lemshe, Millie, Dorsie, Jennie, Lorraine; brothers, Shun Chong, Wong, Shun S., Shun Gan. Please, may I have the Blue Eagle?"

Ten eagles were sent in the next mail.

Woodruff and Edwards Injunction Demanded

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 30 (AP).—Arthur Stone, Mount Vernon, N. The court told the company to show why a preliminary injunction should not be issued, but no hearing date was set.

Dole of Pork To Aid States In Relief Work

Millions of Dollars Worth Will Be Distributed by Government.

(Associated Press.)

Plans for giving millions of dollars worth of meat to the States to feed the hungry were announced yesterday by the Federal Relief Administration.

At the same time, C. M. Bookman, assistant relief administrator, predicted the need for jobless aid would be considerably less this winter.

Bookman disclosed that meat from millions of pigs and sows the Government is buying in its campaign to relieve the hog market would be distributed to the States free in addition to allotments from the $500,000,000 unemployment aid fund.

The meat, processed at Government expense, will be distributed to the States, he said, on the basis of need. Allocations will be based on the number of families on relief rolls and the adequacy of relief being afforded.

In tendering the meat as an outright gift the administration hopes to raise relief standards, which in many cases it considers inadequate.

The Farm Administration plans the purchase of 4,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 sows from the farmers in a drive to take the surplus from the market.

The entire cost to the Government is estimated at $50,000,000, of which $9,000,000 will be paid from relief funds.

Low Bid Is $171,347 For P Street Bridge

Low bid on the construction of a new bridge across Rock Creek at P street was submitted by the Pecora-Gaskill Engineering & Construction Corporation and A. T. Carozza, of Baltimore. Their figure was $171,347.

Bids were opened yesterday at the District Building. The project will be financed with funds from the Public Works Administration.

Wife Gets Divorce From Lieut. Webb

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—A divorce from Lieut. Comdr. Leland D. Webb, Navy, was granted today to Mrs. Eloise M. Webb,, Washington, D. C..

The trial began with the flying officer of the U. S. S. Lexington bringing suit against Mrs. Webb. He declared there was "too much mother-in-law."

Mrs. Webb, in a cross complaint, accuused him of associating with other women. Through her mother's "influence with officials at Washington," Mrs. Webb said, her husband received a commission, later winning his present rank.

Federal Plan Attempts Pork Boost

CORN PRODUCTION AVERAGE, 1928-32
THOUSANDS OF BUSHELS BY COUNTIES
500 to 1,000
1,000 to 3,000
3,000 to 4,000
PORK POPULATION INCREASES AND DECREASES WITH CORN
CONSIGNED TO UNCLE SAM

In an attempt to aid the hog grower, the Government announced its readiness to buy up 5,000,000 head, including 1,000,000 sows, with a bonus to be paid for the latter. A tax on hogs slaughtered for domestic consumption is to finance the program. The map shows the hog-producing centers of the country, since the production of pork rises and falls with the production of corn.

Canal Aided

(United Press.)

Andrew Jackson's dream of 104 years ago—a ship barge canal from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico across the Georgia-Florida Peninsula—moved a step toward fulfillment yesterday when the Public Works Administration began consideration of the $125,000,000 project. The proposed canal would connect coastal waterways with the Mississippi River system.

Proponents said 33 States would be benefited and the canal shorten the route from Atlantic to Gulf ports by almost 1,000 miles.

The Georgia-Atlantic Coast-to-Gulf of Mexico Canal Commission told Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. Robert the project was self-liquidating.

Grain Trade Asks New Price Spread

(Associated Press.)

Modification of rules now limiting daily fluctuations in futures at the Nation's grain markets were proposed yesterday by exchange representatives in a conference with George N. Peek, chief administrator of the farm adjustment act.

They reported the grain trade, including millers and elevator operators, are opposed to the present limitation as interfering with normal price movement and trading in cereal.

The present rules limit the daily fluctuations, either up or down, from the previous day's closing prices for wheat, barley and rye to 5 cents; corn, 4 cents, and oats, 3 cents.

Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said that doubling of these figures might satisfy members of exchanges and others who are opposed to the present limit.

The conference will be continued today.

Machado and 6 Ordered Back To Army Duty

Cuban Cabinet Summons Exiles; Young Rebels Get Election Pledge.

Havana, Aug. 30 (AP).—An order for former President Gerardo Machado and six other retired Cuban army officers to report back for active duty was issued tonight following a cabinet session.

The seven former officers either have fled into exile or gone into hiding in Cuba since the revolution which toppled the Machado regime.

The officers named, in addition to Machado, were Gen. Alberto Herrera, former secretary of war and navy; Col. Carlos Machado, former senator; Lieut. Col. Ramon Guerra, Maj. Gen. Campos Marquetti, Capt. Enrique Machado and Brigadier Ibrahim Consuegra.

President De Cespedes appeared tonight to have weathered the threat of a cabinet crisis by acceding to demands of the young revolutionary group for immediate constitutional reforms.

Election Forecast.

As the cabinet went into session it was believed in political circles it would prepare a decree calling for election of a constitutional assembly to meet in February. Meanwhile, Secretary of the Interior Saladrigas announced that the 11 justices of the supreme court who resigned last night would be retired on pension.

The supreme court has been under fire by revolutionaries because of what was described as failure to declare the regime of former President Machado unconstitutional.

Juan F. Edelman, appointed chief justice of the court last week, was the only member of that body holding office. A decree postponing opening of the fall term indefinitely was being prepared.

Ferrer Heads War and Navy.

Col. Horacio Ferrer, retired chief of the army medical department, was named secretary of war and navy, replacing Pokorny. Ferrer was one of the leaders in the army uprising which resulted in Machado's downfall.

A B C members at Baracoa, Oriente Province, captured Isidro Golt, former army corporal, reputed to have killed four revolutionists at Santiago in disorders that preceded Machado's fall.

Jury Holds Merchant For Shooting D. C. Girl

Because he shot a 13-year-old colored girl for "making too much noise," James M. Curtis, 63, 1252 Half street southeast, was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The girl, Dorothy Riley, was playing in front of Curtis' store when he ordered her away. She failed to heed his command, police said, and he fired, the bullet lodging in her right thigh.

Postoffice Plans Cut in Air Mail

Reduced Funds to Force Curtailment of Service.

(Associated Press.)

To meet reduced operating funds, the Postoffice Department yesterday said it was considering suspension of some air mail lines and curtailment of others in the near future.

The department, which used $21,000,000 in its air mail service last year, has available for the current fiscal year $14,000,000 for the same service, officials said, adding that they would attempt to suspend only lines on which traffic did not justify their cost.

A definite decision to suspend air mail between Charlotte, N. C., and Augusta, Ga., in September, was announced, with the statement that suspension of the following lines probably would result from a study being made:

Newark to Atlantic City, Albuquerque to El Paso, Pueblo, Colo., to Amarillo, Tex., and Amarillo to Dallas.

Politico-Gang Probe Is Asked In New York

Alliances Between Officials and Racketeers Draw Fire of Jury.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—New York County's grand jury today appealed to Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., to utilize the new State antiracket law to investigate charges of politico-racketeer alliances.

The jury, which heard United States District Attorney George Z. Medalie and Chief Justice Frederic Kernochan, of the court of special sessions, charge that certain political leaders were linked with racketeers, suggested that "if the conditions really exist, a State-wide agency should be the medium of investigation."

Use of the antiracket statute, signed yesterday, was advised by the jury, which had undertaken the investigation independently of the district attorney's office after Medalie and Kernochan had testified before the Senate subcommittee investigating racketeering.

Medalie and Justice Kernochan, called before the jury, had elaborated on their testimony to the Senate committee. Medalie said he knew at least four politicians who were in collusion with racketeers and Justice Kernochan told of reports that politicians used gangsters as strong-arm men during elections and, in return, protected them at other times.

Bennett, in Albany, informed his New York office that he would not comment on the jury's presentment until he had an opportunity to read and study it.

Hollywood Killers Sought.

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP). Four men he described as New York City gangsters were named tonight by Detective Capt. Joseph Taylor as the gunmen who killed Harry Mackley and Frank Keller in a cafe here.

Informed by Inspector John O'Brien, of the New York police, that the men named have criminal records in New York, Capt. Taylor launched a State-wide search for Morris Solvinsky, Jack Weinstein, Charles and Henry Sherman.

Harrison A. Love Held in Job 'Sale'

Washington Man Charged With Asking $1,000 for "Influence."

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—Harrison A. Love, 40-year-old mine owner of Washington and Seattle, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of soliciting money to "influence" a Government appointment. Bond was set at $2,500.

In an information issued by Assistant United States Attorney W. F. Palmer, the mine owner was charged with having solicited $1,000 from Charles F. Dycer, airport operator. Palmer said Love told Dycer he would "use his influence" at Washington in having Dycer appointed chief inspector of aeronautics of the Department of Commerce.

"I don't know what this is all about," Love told Palmer. "I don't know Dycer. He came to my hotel saying a mutual friend had sent him for money or promised to help him."

Wreck Fatal to 8 To Be Investigated

New Mexico and Railroad Will Open Hearing at Tucumcari.

Tucumcari, N. Mex., Aug. 30 (AP). Two members of the New Mexico Corporation Commission came here today to join railroad officials in investigating the cause of the wreck early yesterday of the Golden State Limited in a flooded arroyo, with the loss of eight lives and injury to 42 persons.

J. D. Lamb, chairman of commission, and Don Casados, another member, planned to conduct the inquiry with two railroad representatives and two disinterested persons.

Indian Prince Pays Tribute to Lincoln

Gaekwar of Baroda Visits Emancipator's Tomb in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—The achievements of Abraham Lincoln are known throughout the world and should be emulated in all countries, the Gaekwar of Baroda said today on his visit here.

The Indian prince, ruler of 2,000,000 persons and reputed fourth richest person in the world, visited the tomb of the emancipator, accompanied by Gov. Henry Horner.

"My country has nothing but affection for America," the prince told a luncheon club gathering.

The gaekwar came to America to attend the World Fellowship of Faiths at Chicago.

Insolvent Insurance Company Will Farm

St. Louis, Aug. 30 (AP).—The Missouri State Life Insurance Co., in the hands of R. Emmett O'Malley, State insurance superintendent, because of insolvency, is going in for farming.

Authority to make expenditures for harvesting of crops on property owned by the company was granted O'Malley by Circuit Judge Charles Williams.

Blue Shirt Base Raided.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 30 (AP).—The authorities raided the Blue Shirt headquarters in Dublin this afternoon, seizing a quantity of documents.

This is the ship on which the winners of second prize in the popularity contest will travel to Norfolk en route to Virginia Beach for their all expense vacation as guests of The Post in little more than a week. The S. S. District of Columbia runs on the Norfolk and Washington Line and is truly a luxurious boat.

We Hope.

We hope that everything will be Restored to normal ways.
We hope to see prosperity
And lots more sunny days.

We hope to hear a happy tune
When every one's content.
We also hope that we will soon
Get our 15 per cent!

SPEEDING is the raison d'etre of many jokes at veterans administration at the expense of Will Perry, popular authorizer in Converted Insurance section. His colleagues report he is enthused over a trip to Cadiz, Ohio, Saturday. We trust he will not bear down on the accelerator too hard, as we hear he never takes less than 18 hours to cover the 280 miles between here and Cadiz. He may set a record this time, provided he won't have to pull over for too many bicycles.

Popularity Contest.

Tomorrow we will run an extra tabulation of votes.

Just four more days remain for you Government employes to cast your vote for the most popular woman and most popular man to win a royal vacation.

As a reminder, two all-expense-paid tours to Chicago will be awarded to the woman and man receiving the most votes. To the woman and man receiving next to the highest total votes, will go on an all-expense-paid tour to Virginia Beach. Two gold watches await those third highest. The first prize is offered in duplicate in each division with provision made for the winners to take along a companion.

For convenience of contestants, we will receive votes Sunday from 11 a. m. to noon and from 6 p. m. to midnight when the contest closes. No votes will be accepted after midnight Sunday. However, those who might not be able to bring their ballots in person or by messenger to the Federal Diary Popularity Contest editor, may mail them, provided the postmark is prior to Sunday midnight, September 3.

PRESENTING to him a purse full of currency and hearing short speeches in his praise, employes and officials of the Interstate Commerce Commission bade farewell yesterday morning to Edgar B. Henderson (*), who retired July 1 after 30 years of Government service.

While Henderson sat again at his old desk, Otis L. Mohundro, examiner on the staff of Commissioner Mahaffie, made the presentation and spoke of the regret with which the retired man's associates saw him leave and of Henderson's faithful and long service. Arja Morgan, chief of the Bureau of Informal Cases, in which Henderson had served as an examiner, and R. I. Lyon (*), assistant chief, also spoke.

Henderson, a Washington civic leader and an attorney, has been active in community welfare work. He came to Washington in 1901 from Omaha, acting here as secretary to Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska. Then he transferred to the Interstate Commerce Commission as secretary to Commissioner Franklin K. Lane.

"CAREER MEN" is a term applied to certain State Department employes. But we found a man yesterday often referred to as one of Uncle Sam's career men. He is Dr. James E. Doran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol, with 26 years of continuous service in the Treasury Department behind him.

DORAN

We feel the hundreds of Federal workers in his bureau will be interested in a biographical sketch of this popular official, inasmuch as it is reported no biography has been written other than a skeleton summary in Who's Who.

Dr. Doran was born at Grand Forks, N. Dak., August 17, 1885, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Doran. After finishing high school in Rochester, Minn., he matriculated at the University of Minnesota in 1903 and was graduated with B. S. degree in 1907.

After a period in the laboratory of the Northern Pacific Railway he was appointed chemist in the Treasury. Meanwhile he took up post-graduate study at George Washington University.

For many years Dr. Doran was in charge of the Central Laboratory of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and also for other coordinate Government branches.

On March 1, 1920, Daniel C. Roper, then Commissioner of Internal Revenue, appointed Dr. Doran chief of the Industrial Alcohol and Chemical Division and the Prohibition Unit. After the enactment of new prohibition legislation, which effected a reorganization of the prohibition service and authorized the placing of personnel under Civil Service, Dr. Doran, May 20, 1927, was appointed Commissioner of Prohibition.

His next advance was his appointment as Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol July 1, 1930.

Dr. Doran's policy has been one of friendly cooperation with lawful industry. When he first assumed alcohol control in 1920 American industry used only approximately 19,000,000 proof gallons of alcohol. In subsequent years, as chemical industries expanded manufacturing operations to meet public demand for their products, they have required in peak years as high as 200,000,000 proof gallons of alcohol a year.

Dr. Doran has been a frequent contributor to technical magazines. He often is sought as a speaker. He is a member of the American Chemical Society. In 1928 he delivered an address before the International Congress Against Alcohol, at Antwerp.

In 1908, Dr. Doran married Miss Roxana Brook, of Winona, Minn. They have two children, Mrs. N. Graham Fountain, of Washington, and James E., jr., of Madison, Wis. The commissioner is a member of the Cosmos Club, and he and his family belong to All Souls Unitarian Church. He is a Kentucky colonel and a Sigma Xi.

Ladies League.

With 33 women already enrolled at Customs Bureau for the 1933-34 bowling season, the prospects this year are unusually bright.

William N. Crymes, president of the Dynamite Bowling League, is assisting feminine employes in their organization. The roll is still open for more entries, which can be made with Crymes, Room 250, Bureau of Customs, at noon or after 4:30. At least six teams are assured for the league and indications are the number will reach eight. A meeting will be held next week to elect officers, fix a schedule and settle other details. Attending the session will be:

Mrs. M. C. Burriss, Miss Florence Bond, Mrs. E. S. Cowan, Mrs. V. W. Dowling, Miss H. A. Devine, Mrs. H. M. Donaldson, Mrs. A. L. Garrett, Mrs. F. J. Gerardi, Mrs. R. H. Gray, Miss F. V. Greenfield and Mrs. E. B. Gatchell.

Miss H. A. Hall, Miss E. A. Hamilton, Mrs. M. N. Hill, Miss Hazel Hinrichs, Miss Thelma Hoffman, Mrs. V. P. Johnson, Miss E. A. Laws, Miss C. F. Lehman, Miss F. M. McGee, Mrs. A. F. Mullikin, Miss G. D. Nichol and Miss Paradise.

Mrs. C. M. Pittenger, Mrs. M. G. Pomeroy, Miss Mary Schulter, Miss E. E. Severns, Miss J. T. Smith, Mrs. R. M. Triplett, Miss R. E. Vanderbeek, Miss L. I. Warfield, Mrs. G. Warner and Mrs. I. M. Woodcock.

2 Women Hurt in Fight at St. Louis; 5,200 in Walkout There.

St. Louis, Aug. 30 (AP).—Arrests of striking garment and hat workers were continued today by police, who yesterday seized 86 men and women. About 5,200 unionists have joined walkouts.

Claire Windsor Hints at Other Read Affairs

Some One Else Took Love of Husband, Accuser May Be Told.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—Counsel for Claire Windsor hinted today that another love affair involving Albert C. Read, jr., may be disclosed as the answer to Mrs. Marion Read's charges that Miss Windsor alienated her former husband's affections.

This unexpected turn was injected into the $100,000 suit of the Oakland society matron against Miss Windsor shortly after trial opened with examination of prospective jurors.

Mrs. Read appeared nervous and Read seemed uneasy. Miss Windsor sat calmly. The two women seemed to avoid each other, although Mrs. Read smiled at her former husband several times.

There was an unexpected preliminary to the trial. Just before court a notice of foreclosure of a $2,000 mortgage on Mrs. Read's Oakland home was served.

Criminal Sterilization Studied in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Aug. 30 (AP).—Acting under a new State law designed to deter crime, the Oklahoma Board of Affairs today began a study of the question of sterilization of approximately 350 convicts classed as "habitual criminals."

While Oklahoma for several years has had a law providing for sterilization of certain insane, the last legislature extended it to provide for "habitual criminals."

Notrump Takeouts.

Notrump Takeouts of Opening suit bids, when only sufficient to overcall, may show hands containing no more than the equivalent of an Ace and a Queen in honor cards. Such Takeouts, however, usually imply some sort of a fit with partner's holding and, except in rare instances, when no other bid is available, a negative notrump (i. e., a bid of notrump only sufficient to Overcall) should not be made when void of partner's suit or holding only a singleton in it.

Some players are inclined to abuse this bid and to make it on honor holdings as weak as two Queens or possibly even a Queen and a Knave in different suits. This use of the notrump response is ordinarily the sheerest folly and results more often than not in the reaching of an unmakable contract, usually doubled.

In the Culbertson System the bedrock minimum for a notrump response to any Opening suit bid of one is, as stated above, the equivalent of an Ace and a Queen. This minimum requirement gives to the Opening Hand a solid foundation upon which he may safely build the later superstructure of the bidding. With hands of less honor strength, provided adequate trump support is held, a single Raise should be given in partner's bid suit.

The effect of either of these minimum bids is to give the Opening Hand, which may be very strong and may have further information to convey, another opportunity to call and perhaps discover a distributional fit in some other suit or, if the hand is of near two-bid proportions in honor strength, to disclose it by a Forcing Rebid on the second round.

When a response of one notrump is made to an Opening bid the Opening Hand knows that the hand has certain definite limitations. He knows that the honor-trick strength of the hand, though not less than the equivalent of an Ace and Queen as a minimum, is not more than 2-plus honor-tricks as a maximum. In addition, he is reasonably certain that the distribution is balanced—probably either 3-3-3-4 or 2-3-4-4 (which implies some sort of fit with the bid suit).

For example, assuming that the Opening bid is one heart and that Responding Hand holds:

Spades	A 10 4 3
Hearts	J 7
Diamonds	Q 8 6 2
Clubs	10 7 5

Spades	A 10 4 3
Hearts	7
Diamonds	Q 8 6 2
Clubs	J 10 7 5

then the response to the bid of one heart should be one spade, although the honor strength in the spade suit is greatly shaded.

With a singleton in partner's suit the negative notrump should be avoided whenever possible.

A second message that is ordinarily conveyed by the minimum notrump response to an Opening bid is the fact that the Responding Hand lacks a biddable suit. The Approach principle requires that, whenever possible, a biddable suit should be preferred in responding to an Opening bid as well as in the making of it. There is one exception to this rule which applies when a bid of two-odd is required to take out the Opening bid. In such cases the negative notrump response should be preferred if the hand contains only 1 plus honor-tricks and no better than a five-card suit.

For example, after the Opening Hand has bid one spade, the Responding Hand holding

Spades	J 5
Hearts	K 7 4
Diamonds	Q J 9 8 7

should respond with one notrump, rather than two diamonds. The reason is obvious. If partner should now bid two clubs that bid could be safely passed and could possibly be made, whereas if the response to the Opening bid had been two diamonds a two-club bid by the Opening hand would now have been shut out and the result might well be the acceptance of a penalty rather than the making of a valuable part-score.

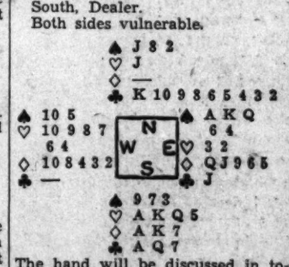
An additional argument for the negative notrump response on hands of like minimum strength is that the Opening Hand may itself be a minimum or a near minimum, with no other suit to show, and thus the Opening bidder may be both willing and anxious to pass partner's notrump response.

When the Opening bid has been one of a minor suit the Responding Hand, even in cases where adequate trump support is held together with enough playing-tricks to justify a Raise, should consider the advisability of a notrump Takeout rather than a raise in partner's bid suit.

Tomorrow's Hand.

What contract should North and South reach on the hand below, and what should be South's Opening bid?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Chicago Broker and Wife Take Vow Every Year; This Is Fourth.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—Just to help make things "sort of permanent," Thomas Ezell, former Chicago stock broker, is going to marry his wife for the fourth time next Saturday.

It's a good old family custom. The Ezells do it every year. They married for the first time four years ago in Chicago. On each wedding anniversary they take out a marriage license and have a minister read the vows.

The idea, Ezell said, originated with friends in South America. They have been married 14 times, said Ezell, "and that's a mark to shoot at."

Police Will Deliver County Repeal Ballots

Montgomery County police are to deliver the equipment for the special election, September 12, on repeal of the eighteenth amendment, to save the county $3,500.

Announcement of the policy was made yesterday by F. Byrne Austin, clerk to the supervisors of election. Formerly each election official who made the trip to Rockville to secure voting equipment was allowed a day's pay, at a cost of $3,500 for each election.

U. S. Cars Held Too Powerful

British Daimler Builder Says Highest Speeds Not Needed.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—When the average American citizen views the new automobile his neighbor has just purchased at a comparatively low price, he is wont to make inarticulate noises with his tongue, denoting the proper feeling of awe, and then exclaims:

"Say, that's a lot of car for the money!"

Which remark, a leader in the British automotive industry declared today, pretty well sums up just what is wrong with most American automobiles—too much speed, power and bulk for the investment.

English manufacturers, he said, were working toward perfection of small, economically-operating automobiles, "capable of giving performances satisfactory to the usual motorist."

"In the United States," he said, "the trend is toward big machines, with higher speeds than most sane drivers ever called upon.

"The British car is designed to be efficient and cheap to run. The American car is the triumph of effectiveness over efficiency."

Credits for the NRA.

Reports are current that President Roosevelt has directed the chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to work out a program for extending credit to industries faced by the problem of increased costs under the recovery act. Ordinarily, in the initial stages of business recovery, rising prices and advancing profits can be counted upon to add to profits and permit working capital to be replenished and increased as business activity expands.

Conditions under the NRA program, however, are not normal; they present problems for whose solution there is no guiding precedent. Industry has been organized for the purpose of raising wage rates and increasing employment, so as to stimulate a popular buying movement, resulting from pay roll increases. While this experiment in the creation of purchasing power is in its initial stages, increased production outlays will require additional credit accommodation under conditions that necessitate considerable risk-taking by the banks. Too rapid advances in the selling prices of goods produced under the new regime will undoubtedly defeat the purposes of the recovery plan by checking consumer buying. On the other hand, no business can function without profits, unless it is subsidized, and profits must come out of selling prices. Therein lies the major difficulty confronting the administration in its efforts to finance a recovery program without permitting prices to get out of bounds.

What is to be done for the smaller and weaker concerns unable to persuade their banks that they are good credit risks when their production costs are rising at a more rapid rate than their prices and profits appear to justify? The questions involved are singularly complex, especially as there is no mechanical formula by which to measure the extent of the additional credits needed or the length of the period of adjustment. Some industries will be able to adapt their prices to new conditions with relative ease, while others will have to proceed cautiously. In some cases, too, the increases in costs involved in acceptance of the labor sections of the various codes constitute a substantial percentage of total production outlays; in other instances, they are less important.

Banking resources are more than ample to meet all legitimate demands from commercial borrowers, and the banks should feel a responsibility for cooperating to the limits of safety, with due regard for the interests of their depositors, in efforts to give effect to the recovery program. They must, however, judge each application for loans upon its merits, and not yield to urgings to finance concerns which will be unable to survive in a fair competitive contest.

The great danger involved in suggestions that the R. F. C. should directly subsidize business units unable to obtain banking support is that the lame ducks of industry may be assisted to function for a time at public expense.

The County Fair.

County fairs are now flourishing in all parts of the United States. This is the mellow season when the fruits of nature and man's effort are on display. In thousands of exhibitions the true spirit of America shines forth in a steady light—the calm confidence of men and women in their ability to wrest a living from the soil; the pride in homely achievements in the field and home; the neighborly helpfulness and good-natured rivalry for first prizes; the renewing of old acquaintance; and the assertion of an optimism and courage which no depression can dismay.

It is noted that President Roosevelt's mother has taken 24 prizes for vegetable exhibits at the Dutchess county fair this year. That is an achievement which not only wins admiration for Mrs. Roosevelt as an expert gardener, but deserves praise as an example to all women, old and young. The Roosevelt family for four generations or more has figured prominently in that county fair. This year their participation attracts wide attention and can not but exert a good influence upon farmers and villagers everywhere.

The county fair! What can equal it in the association of old times and modern ideas? Yesteryear's pumpkins were big, but this year's are bigger. The jellies which grandmother made leave fragrant memories, but today's products are peculiarly delicious. Fat pigs and fat boys to show them; rotound heifers of renowned lineage; fast and high steppers at the racetrack; a vast array of jimcracks and nickel-teasers exhibited by leather-lunged peddlers, who go from fair to fair; sport contests of all kinds, both male and female; flowers of gorgeous hue; rows of miraculous pies and cakes; music and laughter everywhere, crowds jostling, cocks crowing, horses neighing, dust flying, motors honking, and lost dogs underfoot—who can list all the excitements of a county fair?

So long as rural America goes forward with its business, celebrating joyously in the autumn at the county fair, the United States will remain on an even keel.

Washington's Winning Team.

Public interest in baseball has been stirred to a high pitch by the remarkable performance of the Washington Nationals. The crowds which gather to follow the games on The Post scoreboard have been unprecedented in size, sometimes outnumbering the attendance at actual games in other cities. The Washington team returned yesterday from a triumphal western trip during which it broke the league season record by winning 13 straight games. It won 12 of the 17 games played in the west. It is now 8 games ahead of the New York Yankees. Washington has 29 more games to play and New York has 31.

Washington has won its high place, not by averages against low-placed teams, but by beating every team in the league. It met the Yankees in 19 games and won 12. It played 18 games with Cleveland and won 11; 16 with Philadelphia and won 10; 18 with Detroit and won 10; 18 with Chicago and won 12; 18 with Boston and won 14; and 18 with St. Louis and won 13. Washington stands first in the league in batting averages and second in fielding averages.

Manager Joe Cronin, who has developed on the Washington team into the best shortstop of his time, has kept up his individual playing while instilling the winning spirit into his men. He is a good trader, as witness his acquisition of Whitehill, who is now the league's leading pitcher, with 16 wins and 6 defeats. Crowder, another pitcher spurred on by Cronin, has won 20 games, more than any other pitcher in the league. Another player who has done remarkable work is Heinie Manush, who made at least one safe hit in each of 26 consecutive games, and then broke his own record by hitting safely in 33 consecutive games, a total not equalled by any other player in either league.

The New York Giants occupy the same position, relatively, in the National league as Washington occupies in the American league. As matters stand, only a baseball miracle will prevent a struggle between Washington and the Giants for the world championship. The Giants rank fifth in their league in batting averages, which indicates that Washington enjoys a strong advantage. But the Giants have wonderful pitchers in Hubbell, Fitzsimmons, Schumacher and Parmelee, who may give Washington occasion for some concern if these teams clash in the world series.

The Giants are not outstanding at the plate, while Washington has two men, Manush and Kuhel, who rank among the leading batters in the league.

The slump of the New York Yankees is one of the features of the 1933 season. In both infield and outfield the men are below par. Babe Ruth's crown as a batsman has been captured by Foxx. The Yankee pitchers are young and expert, but their showing is not notable this year, perhaps on account of inadequate support.

The opening game of the world series probably will be contested on American league grounds. If Washington should capture the league pennant, the National Capital will witness a repetition of the intensely exciting contests of 1924, in which John McGraw led the Giants against Bucky Harris, pilot of the Nationals. The Nationals won the world series by 4 games out of 7. Careful comparison of the batting, fielding, and pitching qualities of the Nationals and Giants this year gives sound reason for believing that Washington can duplicate the victory of 1924.

Marking Historic Trees.

The city of Paris has adopted the custom of marking its old and historic trees, so that passers-by will know the kind, age, and significance of notable specimens. It is a custom that should be adopted in Washington, which perhaps contains more interesting trees than any other city in the country.

In the Botanic Garden, which was founded by George Washington, are trees which were planted by famous men from many lands. The trees in some instances are rare importations which have flourished in this climate and furnished scions for other parks and gardens. At Mount Vernon the visitor, if persistent, can gather extremely interesting history in connection with its old trees; but they should be marked with more complete data. In the White House grounds are trees planted by Presidents and illustrious visitors from foreign countries, but the casual passer-by is ignorant of their significance. The public parks, circles and squares contain many fine tree specimens, both domestic and exotic.

Help for Home Owners.

Joseph A. Broderick, New York State Superintendent of Banking, has asked the local office of the Federal Home Owners' Loan Corporation to refinance about $10,000,000 of small home and apartment mortgages held by the State banking department as part of the assets of banks closed during the last three years. The proposed exchange of mortgages for bonds will facilitate payments to creditors of closed banks by sales of the acquired home loan bonds, while the mortgaged properties affected will be protected against foreclosure. These home loan bonds pay 4 per cent, are guaranteed as to interest by the Government, and represent at least 80 per cent of the actual present value of the mortgaged properties.

The proposal of Superintendent Broderick merely indicates one of the ways in which the new Federal home loan agencies can bring relief to hard-pressed home owners whose position has become increasingly desperate as the depression has continued and private funds for refinancing mortgages have proved to be unobtainable. It is estimated that at present probably 25 per cent of the mortgages on homes are in default and their owners in distress. However, not more than $7,500,000,000 of the approximately $20,000,000,000 of total mortgages placed on American homes are eligible for refunding under the terms of the Home Owners' Loan Act, while the corporation is limited to bond issues amounting at maximum to $2,000,000,000. Nevertheless, it is hoped that business improvement and rising prices will assist many home owners to meet their mortgage obligations and will likewise increase the willingness of holders of mortgages to carry the mortgagors.

Obstacles to debt scaling encountered in dealing with individual holders of mortgages will be largely absent in refinancing mortgages held by receivers for failed banks. Hence the service which the Home Owners' Loan Corporation can render in this field is evident. The scope of the corporation's activities is indicated in a statement of its general counsel, who says that there is a possibility that the corporation may refund the mortgages on one out of ten of the owner-occupied mortgaged homes, thereby relieving a majority of the real distress cases. The resultant aid to home owners and the benefits to mortgage lenders ought to assist resumption of financing in this field, although it is obvious that the bulk of the funds for financing must come in the future as heretofore from private sources. It is especially gratifying, for instance, to learn that the pressure upon insurance companies for loans against policies has been relaxed, and that their cash resources are increasing, and are beginning to be invested again in approved mortgages.

Chinese Communists.

China's latest trouble zone is in the south. American, British and Japanese warships are moving on Foochow to provide protection for resident and refugee nationals in case the Communist armies threatening that area should lay siege to the port. The American gunboat Sacramento and the British destroyer Wishart have left Hongkong for Foochow, and two Japanese destroyers and one cruiser are reported also to be on the way there.

The Chinese Communist hordes that have been ravaging Fukien province for a month are once more moving toward the coast. Their repulse in the recent attack on Amoy, an important port south of Foochow, has not prevented the reformation of the hungry and tattered followers of the red flag. Following their capture of Yenquing, it is feared that they will now attempt to obtain possession of a seaport.

American missionaries and resident foreigners generally have been flocking to the coast cities during recent weeks, seeking protection from the ruthless invaders of interior cities. The request for American naval aid was forwarded by American Minister Johnson from Peiping, following reports of conditions at Foochow by the American consul. It is believed that all Americans in the track of the advancing Communists have been able to reach Foochow, but in case the city should be captured it would probably be necessary for them to take refuge on the warships.

Chicago's Art Exhibition.

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

There's one part of Chicago's observance of its centenary which every person who visits that city this summer owes it to himself to see. That is the exhibition of paintings and sculpture at the Art Institute of Chicago in Grant Park, a mile and more from the nearest gate of the fair grounds.

This assembly of art can be called without hesitation the greatest collection which has been brought together in the United States. Virtually all the great artists of the world are represented, many of them by masterpieces. Thirty-one art museums and some 200 private collectors lent their treasured possessions in order to make this exhibition possible. It is never satisfactory to measure art in terms of wealth, but the spectator can not but be impressed to know that the value of the collection is some $75,000,000, which is very near to double the value of the entire Columbian Exposition, held in Chicago 40 years ago.

The exhibition displays the course of art through a century in the United States—from West, Copley and Stuart through Chester Harding, Inness, Whistler, Homer and Sargent, to John Curry and Grant Wood. It also shows a century's progress in the collecting of art treasures in the United States. A hundred years ago, practically no examples of work by great European artists could be seen in this country. In 1933, it was possible to assemble this entire collection without going overseas for more than one painting, Whistler's portrait of his mother, which was lent by the Louvre Museum. Thus it is that American collections today are rich in works by masters of the Old World—by Titian, Botticelli and Tintoretto, by Rembrandt, Van Dyck and Hals, by Velasquez, Goya and El Greco, by Gainsborough, Lawrence and Reynolds, by Millet, Renoir, Degas and Monet.

One of the most interesting features of the exhibition is its inclusion of some of the controversial essays of the modernists. Marcel Duchamp's famous "Nude Descending the Stairs" is on view, as are many canvases by Henri Matisse and Pablo Picasso, including the latter's "Seated Woman." To many persons, some of these will mean little or nothing; to those who have the background and a willingness to understand, they indicate a movement in art which must be recognized for the ability of its proponents.

A large share of these paintings belong in private collections. Much effort was expended by the sponsors of the exhibition to persuade their owners to part with them temporarily. The chance to see them in the congenial surroundings of the classic Italian Renaissance Building on Michigan avenue is truly one of the opportunities of this generation.

This Little Pig Went to Market.

The Once Over.

By H. I. Phillips.

TRIBUTE TO A GENERAL.

He may be pretty rough in speech
And seem a little rude;
He may not pull his punches much,
His method may be crude;
He may not be a diplomat
Or take the smoothest way,
But just the same it seems to us
This Johnson guy's okay.

He isn't much on politics
And lacks the little tricks
That help a fixer keep his stride
When there's a deal to fix;
He lacks the sweet and gracious ways
That make a man polite,
But somehow he's the man for us
When there's a fight to fight.

He doesn't always choose his words
In putting forth a plan;
Nobody'd ever say of him,
"He's such a lovely man!"
He may not always strive to please
By tactics very sweet,
But somehow you can't think of him
Together with defeat.

He doesn't know the oily ways
Of noble statesmen whose Behavior is all pussyfoot;
He wears no rubber shoes;
He doesn't go for padded gloves—
No nose guard does he don,
But he can have my money
When a good, hard fight is on!

Some people do not like his ways—
They say he hits too hard;
The book of etiquette he does
Not hold in high regard;
He doesn't go for "Pardon me"
Or "Sorry; my mistake!"
But in the heat of battle, say,
We think that guy is jake.

His language never's very soft—
His wears no velvet glove;
There's nothing in his manner that Suggests the turtle dove;
He likes to swing 'em from the floor
And sock with all his might,
But we will string with Johnson when
The going's pretty tight.

He always calls a spade a spade;
No black with him is white;
He doesn't ask for music soft
When putting on a fight;
But if that eagle needs a man
To keep it sailing high
This fellow Hugh S. Johnson seems
To us the proper guy!

TURNING THE CORNER.

Prof. Moley has resigned as quarter back on the White House All-America brain team to start a magazine. This is conclusive proof that at least one man thinks the slump is over.

Wanna subscribe, Mr. Hull?

It would seem that just when the professor was getting his drive against kidnaping under way Vincent Astor kidnaped him.

Possibly in interesting Mr. Astor the folks behind the magazine felt that they had the Ray and needed only the dough.

Topeka Capital.

In dispatching Norman Davis back to Europe to resume his diplomatic labors in behalf of arms reduction President Roosevelt probably foresees an issue not far distant, emphasized the other day by the sensational interview given to the Associated Press by Gen. Araki, Japanese war minister, which with brutal frankness served notice on the rest of the world that Japan intends henceforward to insist unequivocally upon its rights as a power of the first class and upon its supremacy in the Far East.

A Man's Freedom Must Be Taken Away When He Uses It to Rock the Boat

By Robert Quillen.

If a mere writing man is privileged to make a prophecy to warn the great, here it is: The cows will get in the corn again if you don't patch the fence.

The American people are natural-born speculators. Unlike other races, that gamble much but risk no more than they can afford to lose, Americans stake everything they have on one turn of the cards.

There is reason in their madness. The history of their land is a story of climbers. The rags to riches drama has been repeated so many time that it seems the normal way of life. And every fortune quickly won, since the first man sold out his holdings in the Esat and traveled West to strike it rich, has been the reward of taking a chance.

Every poor man hopes some day to get rich—not by toiling and savings, but by getting a "break." The experience of fortunate thousands gives reasonable hope that a "shoestring," invested at the right time and place, will return a fortune.

Oil wells and real estate, gold mines and industrial stocks have made many a poor man rich. And if one man can invest little and win much, any other may do it if he happens to be lucky.

When a broken market brought disaster to the nation in 1929, there were many men who said: "The people have learned their lesson. They will gamble no more. Hereafter they will build in the old sure way."

But the characteristics of a race are not so quickly changed. Repentance ends when the hurt is forgotten.

A few weeks ago, when many factors combined to increase prices, thousands eager for easy money made their bets in the same old way. We are still a nation of gamblers.

And another orgy of gambling will bring us to red ruin. Let another bull market get under way, with nothing to support it but popular excitement, and the inevitable smash will wreck us past all hope of repair.

Yet it will come, in all probability, unless something is done to prevent it. The wisdom of the people is not to be trusted. They have learned nothing. For once they must be denied the right to ruin themselves.

If the cat can't keep away from the cheese, you must keep the cheese away from the cat.

Comment of the Press

Testimonials to the C. C. C. Boys.

Portland Oregonian.

Some days ago this newspaper called attention to the fact that the forest fires which got under way during the period of unusual heat were controlled with unexpected efficiency, largely due to the presence in the forests of the C. C. C. boys. Since then testimony has come from several sources to the effect that the forest workers gave far better service than even the forest officials had looked for—and far better service than the hillbillies have been in the habit of giving in past years.

There is the problem of the incendiary. The youths are unable to understand why any one should wish to touch a match to the rich green woods. There has been considerable excitement over the matter already in several of the camps, and it is possible that these young guards may make a few captures and put some fear into the culprits before the season is over. All who know Oregon forest conditions know that millions of dollars worth of virgin timber has been burned by the sockless firebrands of the mountains.

Married Men Preferred.

Houston Post.

"Women and children first" is the law of rescue on the sea. This principle is being adopted by the public works administration in ruling that married men are to be given the preference when employes are retained on public works projects.

In the present situation, the rule is not only a manifestation of chivalry, but it is a practical move in lessening the demand for aid from public relief agencies. A job held by a married man usually makes provision for a greater number of people than does a job held by a single man. For every married man put to work on a public improvement project, one family will be taken care of.

Tariffs and the NRA.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Just now there is talk at Washington of raising tariff rates to prevent foreign competition with domestic manufacturers whose costs have increased with adoption of industrial codes. One can understand that attitude. When a manufacturer is playing ball with the NRA it seems only fair to see that he does not as a consequence encounter fresh competition from abroad.

Just Folks.

By Edgar A. Guest.

Sunset.

Some days die, as some men,
Soft and peacefully, and then
Others with pain-wracked twisted forms
Go to their graves 'mid gales and storms,
And knowing only skies of gray
And the wind's weird wail they pass away.

I watched the death of yesterday.
Golden the couch on which it lay.
Imperial purple edged a cloud
As if it were a monarch's shroud,
And there was neither pain nor fright
To mar the silence of the night.

Beauty and glory watched beside
The old day's bed until it died.
Troops robed in scarlet seemed to stay
To bear the noble corpse away,
Then hooded dusk with footsteps slow

Sweet be the sunset of their day!
May beauty grace their lives, and when
Thou call'st their spirits home again
May trails of glory round them sweep

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

Bargeron.

WELL, sir, I suppose that as long as I live, I shall never witness such a recovery of America as I witnessed Tuesday night. And by the recovery of America, I mean the recovery as personified in the recovery of the Nation's Capital.

I think I am on good ground, too, in assuming that this recovery in the Nation's Capital, which occurred Tuesday night, was a personification of America's recovery, because ever since I have been here I have read periodically that the Nation's Capital led in the observance of Memorial Day, or in the celebration of the Fourth of July. I have read, too, that the Nation's Capital led in the Nation's mourning for something or another. As I have come to understand it, we in the Nation's Capital lead in the Nation's sorrows and in its joys. We lead always, whether the Nation is hot or cold.

THIS being the case, then I am sure that prosperity had not officially returned until we, of the Nation's Capital, rushed to Pennsylvania avenue, the avenue of triumph and sorrow as we have come to call it, Tuesday night. I saw the people rushing to this prosperity which was marching up that thoroughfare. Indeed, I did. And, having seen it, I think I am fair in saying that I shall never again see such a recovery.

There the thing was right before my eyes. History, man, history, that is what it was! Can't you understand my emotions? History—I've read about it ever since I was in my teens. Studied it in school, read about it in later years. But to think that I would see it unfolding right before my eyes, that is too much for my mortal frame to stand. And with Gen. Fries at the head!

• • • •

OH, I should like to live to see the writing of it! That's the pity of things. It won't be written by men who, as I did, saw it with his own eyes. Posterity, I'll bet my shirt, will miss the point.

It was stupendous, I am telling you. I was sitting on the twelfth floor of the Press Building, a bird's-eye view, you might say. I saw the Americans rushing frantically toward the Avenue, toward the prosperity parade that was marching up it, saw them shoving their fellow men aside because prosperity is something that every American wants to be in on.

What a pell mell they made down Fourteenth street from F, such a determined people for prosperity as I have never seen. Frankly, it was old America, on the up and up, with that do-and-die spirit which has made our country what it is.

Then suddenly I saw America halt. As a matter of fact I wasn't looking at America at the time, my attention having been attracted by one of the gentlemen with whom I was enjoying the episode. Indeed, it was five or ten minutes before I realized that America, on its way to prosperity, had stopped in its tracks. There suddenly appeared the absence of resounding steps, of the thud of America, when it goes down the paved walk.

I stopped in my conversation with my colleagues—they stopped arguing with me, too—we all realized that a phenomenon had occurred outside, that somewhere, somehow, a flaw had occurred in the business of America returning to prosperity, America recovering.

• • • •

AND what in the name of goodness do you suppose it was? It was "Sporting Daniel" cavorting on Fourteenth street between F street and the Avenue. He had stopped America just short of the recovery goal. In the event you do not know "Sporting Daniel," well, he is a colored man who has been cavorting around here for a long time. Always immaculately dressed, we have frequently seen him in the downtown section twirling a cane, a colored minstrel is he.

But now what is "Sporting Daniel" doing but whirling his cane, and singing, too. And there stopped the crowd its great rush to the prosperity that was on the Avenue.

Down Fourteenth street they poured, or rather, they ran, toward this rainbow which lay at the bottom of the hill, on the Avenue of Triumph, of Sorrows. They stopped and looked at "Sporting Daniel," they did. The looked at him and then they listened, did America seeking recovery.

PATRIOTIC SHIRTS.

The red shirts preempted by the Garibaldians 65 years ago have a new vogue in Soviet Russia, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Any red rag to the bull of capitalism pleases Moscow.

The black shirts of the Fascisti intrigue all Italy. Not even the castor oil can is so useful as a Mussolini totem.

The brown shirts of German Nazis came into the market only lately. Decorated with the swastika, they are not unbecoming.

And now we have the blue shirts of the Irish Free State compelling international attention. Gen. O'Duffy heads these wearers of the blue. He denies seeking to establish a dictatorship, but his defiance to Eamonn De Valera can not be misunderstood.

The worst thing about these shirtings is that they all suggest the shirt of Nessus—venom, stinging, bitterness. Perhaps what civilization needs is the penitential shirt of haircloth, undramatic but admirable as a distraction from superpatriotism, dangerous wherever it is developed.

Fraud Charges In Gold Mine Stocks Heard

"$400 Samples" Assayed 40 Cents, Virginian Informs Court.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 30 (AP).—Charges of fraud in connection with promotion of the Tabscott Gold Mine, Inc., of Goochland County were argued before Judges William Fletcher and Ozlin of the State Corporation Commission. The State sought a restraining order to prevent stock sales.

Charles Laurens, formerly connected with the mine, appeared as complainant, naming John E. Hanson and H. L. D. Moorman.

Laurens, who said he was employed by Hanson and Moorman to sell eight shares of stock at $2,000 per share, with two shares for him as commission, testified he was shown samples of ore which moorman and Hanson told him were valued at from $300 to $400 a ton.

He said that when he had an assay made he learned State assayers valued the ore at about 40 cents a ton. He got terms of his agreement in writing and caused action to be taken against the mine.

On cross-examination Laurens said he was interested in a nearby mine and he had a verbal agreement to sell it for 5 per cent of $125,000.

J. H. Elder, chemist for the State department of agriculture, said samples of ore from the Tabscott Mine ran from 40 to 60 cents a ton, but other mines in the vicinity were much more valuable.

Weakened Railway Bridge Discovered

Woodson Gives Warning and Road Director Speeds Repairs.

H. D. Woodson, 4918 Fitch place northeast, was credited by District officials yesterday with averting an accident similar to the wreck of a Pennsylvania passenger train near Cheverly, Md., last week.

Woodson operates a gas station at Forty-ninth street and Dean avenue northeast near the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Railway Bridge. He noticed that last Wednesday's storm had undercut the bottom of abutments. Being a civil engineer, he understood that the bridge could not long hold the weight of the interurban trolleys.

He notified Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, highway director, and a repair crew was at work last night.

Tallulah Bankhead Ill; Condition "Improved"

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The condition of Tallulah Bankhead, actress, was said by her physician today to be "much improved."

Radio Waves and Ripples

ABOUT to go under the new blanket NRA code for broadcasters, WJSV officials were scratching their collective heads for an insignia.

Unlike newspapers, stores, trucks, wagons, airplanes and so on, it is rather impossible to stamp a Blue Eagle on an air wave. So—the great minds getting together devised the following, which is, as a stunt alone, something to make even the best of press agents sweat green beads of perspiration.

They went out and hired Percy Patrick Posey, the animal and bird imitator. "We want you," they explained, "to imitate a blue eagle."

Percy looked puzzled. "How about a plain eagle?"

"No!" they screamed at him, "a blue eagle—NRA!"

"Then I'll have to go to the zoo," said Percy Patrick Posey. All day yesterday he spent many hours listening for a blue eagle at Dr. Mann's emporium to scream. He finally got it.

WJSV officials plan to have the eagle give the famous cry at the beginning and end of the day's broadcasting.

THAT excellent magazine, Broadcasting, carries an article in its issue of August 15 relating what might happen if a radio-press war really got serious.

It points out, in phrases aimed to strike holy horror in the hearts of publishers, that if the journals should decide to eliminate radio programs from their columns, that radio could send into each home a printed paper, full of news, features, sports, comics and all of those other things—"by means of a simple and not expensive accessory, tapped onto the present home receiver."

Oh, yeah? And when all this takes place, what sort of guys are they going to get to run down those murders? What kind of men to wallow around in a morgue for a few accurate facts? What kind of personalities to sweat their hearts out for little printed words? What manner of man to edit those columns, and keep a diatribe on milady's underskirt off page one, where a bang-up story about one politician poking another one in the nose, ought to be?

They're going to get newspapermen! And the printed-radioed sheet is going to be a newspaper, no matter how it's transcribed. Hasn't the paper of today adopted a million inventions in its sweep of progress? Verily. Then, why not this superphase of the radio?

O. K., let me have it, boys. I asked for it,. Anyhow, I can dodge some of those things you'll throw.

Out in Iowa, where the tall corn grows and the strong corn flows, one farm woman has worked out something new. She turns on her radio, places it near her telephone, and gives the instrument a certain number of rings. Five of her neighbors, who don't have sets, pick up their telephone receivers and get the whole program.

Steamed up over its new opus—"Broadway to Hollywood" (Loew's Palace tomorrow), the ones who matter in California's movie capital, go radio tonight at 10:30 o'clock. WRC will handle the outlet locally.

With a promised line-up of Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore, Marian Davies, Jimmy Durante, Helen Hayes, Ed Wynn, Robert Montgomery, Jack Pearl, Madge Evans, Jean Harlow, Norma Shearer and others, this should easily top anything movieland has yet offered to the ether.

The entire program is being arranged by Nicholas M. Schenck, president of a large theater chain and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. It inaugurates the opening of the fall movie session in some 60 large American cities and to ballyhoo "Broadway to Hollywood."

In addition to the stars west of the Rockies, another group has been lined up to broadcast from the lobby of the Capitol Theater in New York City. Included in the group are Ruby Keeler, Al Jolson, Walter Winchell (main bout), Ed Sullivan, Louis Sobol, Kate Smith, Lou Holtz, Ethel Shutta, Paul Whiteman, Joe Laurie jr., Mills Brothers, and Phil Spitalny.

And, ladies and gentlemen, if there is still breath left in the body, harken to the already-realized fact that this is some line-up. And, if it goes over as press-agented in advance, blow the whistles long and loud for Oscar A. Doob, and his Manhattan publicity forces, as well as Pete Smith and the boys in Hollywood, and a snappy salute for Ray Bell, Washingtonianally.

Waves.

The NRA parade sounded, in one way, like a series of Harris Hull's Postilions, with The Washington Post March being played by every band but two as they passed The Post building.

The Baron and Sharlie come back October 7, N. B. C., with a 30-minute program on Saturday nights instead of the hour show.

Lew Cody (now what's he going to do), and Frank Fay appear with Rudy Vallee tonight WRC.

The Southern Singers (WMAL locally for N. B. C.) stated yesterday morning that the best tune adopted for washboard music is the Washington & Lee Swing. Wonder how those good old seniors down in Lexington are going to take that?

Says a gang attacked him—
What a funny guy!
Called reporters polecates;
Roasted all the press.
And he a U. S. Senator.

Nursery, or nutsy rhymes, Dr. Gillilan?

After 94 weeks of listening to himself with his band play and broadcast, Pete Macias sat at home Tuesday night with his shoes off, an ear to the loud speaker. He listened to himself without the band. Just a night's rest before he starts that Heigh Ho Club.

WHO DEPARTMENT.

Who's Burrus Williams, that ever-excellent piano plunker going to plunk with soon?

Who's the little girl such a big politician demanded that audition for and got it, and then got a program?

Who's responsible for all of those mix-ups in time announcements from few-minute-to-few-moment, on some of the early morning recording orgies?

The All-America Football Show returns to a Nation-wide Columbia network in late September, just when the pig skin is mingling with the ether. Christy Walsh will be in charge of the program.

Alexander Wollcott, who also went to school in Philadelphia (attention Ed Wynn and John Riseling), goes back on the air Columbia, September 13.

Les Reis played a local theater not so long ago as a singer, and didn't even get billing. It's different nowadays. Incidentally, one of radio's real gentlemen.

This is how seriously people take Art Godfrey's WMAL breakfast club. Art received a panning note, checked it like he does all of them. Result—found out a maid in an important Capital home sent it. Lady of the house heard about servant doing it. Fired her before Art's call. Now he's begging the boss to take her back.

Virginia Birgfeld, NBC, under the knife. Doing OK. Good!

Nat Brusiloff—"The Marvelous Melody Man." That's the new tag as he begins the Hudnut program, NBC, WRC locally. He's the brother of our own Leon.

Flying Dog

Clovis, N. Mex., Aug. 30 (AP).—What part a dog played in the crash of a Transcontinental & Western Air Transport plane 60 miles northwest of here yesterday was puzzling members of the party which went to bring the bodies of the five victims to Clovis for funeral arrangements.

Those first to reach the wreck on the steep slope of Mesa Redondo said the dog limped toward them from the wreckage with a broken leg.

The dog may have been a pet of 3-year-old Evelyn Gore, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gore, of Albuquerque, N. Mex.; the passengers who perished, or mascot of the dead pilots, H. R. Morgan and W. G. Barcus, both of Kansas City.

Hit-Run Hurts Two at Laurel

Both Legs of One Victim Broken; Policeman Also Injured.

A hit-run driver plunged through cars at the Twin City boxing arena, Laurel, Md., last night, striking a Maryland State policeman and seriously injuring a Maryland House of Correction guard.

The runaway driver first struck the car of Charles S. Sykes, Edgemoor, Md. Sykes and two passengers were shaken.

Caroming from Sykes car, the automobile hit Oscar Parker, Maryland State policeman, and Clarence Beaseman, guard at Jessup House of Correction, who were directing traffic.

Beaseman's legs were broken and Parker was bruised.

Two Feared Lost In Missing Plane

Mexico City, Aug. 30 (AP).—Mack Ayres, of Los Angeles, Calif., an American pilot operating his own air line between Mazatlan, Sinaloa, and La Paz, Lower California, was reported missing since yesterday over the Bay of California with one unidentified passenger.

Reports indicated Ayres had been forced to descend on the water.

Airplanes were searching for him today.

F. W. Hunton, Bank Founder, Is Dead

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 30 (AP). Fred Wood Hunton, 83, native of Reedfield, Me., who sold real estate in Texas, had mining interests in Colorado and California, and banking interests in Kansas, is dead.

After serving as cashier in banks in Auburn and Gardiner, Me., Hunton went to Kansas City in 1882 and participated in the organization of what was then the largest bank in that city. He leaves a widow.

White Cork Headgear For New York Police

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—New York's mounted police and 3,500 traffic officers soon will don cork helmets covered with white canvas.

Coast Foresees Repeal Certain By Christmas

Mounting Returns Report 4 Dry Washington Delegates, 95 Wet.

Seattle, Aug. 30 (AP).—Washington's leap to the repeal bandwagon gave it a push that will assure elimination of prohibition before Christmas, national and State repealists said today as mounting returns from Tuesday's election indicated the State returned only four dry delegates to 95 wets.

The total vote for wet and dry delegates late today with 2,079 precincts out of 2,682 reporting, was 340,310 for repeal and 141,857 against.

The State voted by legislative districts, so the State-wide vote was only an indication of sentiment, but wets apparently elected delegates to the constitutional convention, October 3, in every district but two, the ninth and tenth, composed of four agricultural counties, Whitman, Asotin, Garfield and Columbia.

H. C. Henderson, director of the State wet campaign, said: "Nothing can stop repeal now."

Postmaster General Farley announced from the National Capital that the vote of Washington, long regarded as "one of the outstanding bone-dry States," now the twenty-fourth to vote repeal, makes certain his prediction prohibition will be abolished "before the end of the year."

By November 7, 37 States will have voted on repeal. The repealists need only 12 more to win; the drys need 13 to block repeal.

Arizona Ratifies Tuesday.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 30 (AP).—Delegates from Arizona's counties, pledged to vote for ratification of the twenty-first amendment, will meet here next Tuesday to formally vote for national prohibition repeal. Arizona on August 8 voted 3½ to 1 for repeal.

Indiana to Seize Cars With Arkansas Tags

Indianapolis, Aug. 30 (AP).—Matt Leach, chief of State police, announced today that Indiana State police will begin impounding automobiles with Arkansas licenses tomorrow morning.

Leach said the order had been issued after Indiana had been unable to get a reciprocal license agreement with Arkansas. He said that Indiana trucks have been impounded in Arkansas and that the Hoosier State police will retaliate by seizing both trucks and passenger cars from that State.

Attendants Named By Miss Sandoz

Miss Nancy Sandoz, daughter of Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Fritz-Louis Sandoz, whose wedding to Mr. Lawrence Thomas Weir will take place September 16, will be attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Sandoz, as matron of honor. Miss Priscilla Sandoz will act as maid of honor for her sister.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Anne Mallory and Miss Beatrice Weir, New York; Miss Mary Jane Semmes and Miss Doris Kengla, Washington; Miss Julia Paul Ward, Norfolk, Va., and Miss Lolita Kahle, New Orleans.

Mr. Weir will have as his best man Mr. John Snure, and the ushers will include Mr. Thomas Sandoz and Mr. Walton Sandoz, brothers of the bride-elect; Mr. J. F. Meyer, Utica; Mr. Frank Grace, Brooklyn; Mr. Robert Camino, Pennsylvania, and Mr. Harold Henry and Mr. John Clephane, Washington.

The ceremony will be at 4 o'clock, in the Church of the Bessed Sacrament, and will be followed immediately by a reception at Owl's Nest, the home of Commander and Mrs. Sandoz, at Grant and Gates roads.

Buttons in Front Help to Children

Small children arriving at the age to be taught to dress themselves will learn more quickly if their garments button in the front. The foundation garment should consist of a small waist, on to which the panties may be buttoned.

Petticoats may be of the wide-armed and open-necked variety, which slip over the head without buttons. Little dresses and suits, which button or tie, or snap down the front, can be found easily.

Little hangers may be purchased and a half-dozen hooks placed low inside the closet. As the child sheds his garments at night, he will take pride in placing them on hangers, "like mother does," and hanging them in the closet. Once having attained this, of his own volition, he will place his shoes neatly toed against the closet wall and place his hose in vertical parallel position on a chair. A lifelong habit of neatness is instituted easily at this age.

Miss Crosby, E. J. Roberts Take Vows

The wedding of Miss Louise Elizabeth Crosby, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Crosby, to Mr. Eugene J. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wert B. Roberts, took place last evening at 8 o'clock in Saint Stephen's and Incarnation Parish Church. The Rev. George Fiske Dudley officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin made on long flowing lines, with a fan-shaped train. The neckline was round and low. The tight-fitting sleeves were shirred at the elbow and formed points over the hands. A long veil of tulle was caught into a lace cap, which was trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Leese, wore a gown of pink satin and her small net hat was of a matching shade. She carried Talisman roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Adelaide Woodley, Miss Marguerite Bracey, Miss Lois Spencer and Miss Marjorie Morton.. Their frocks were of satin, with small net hats to match. Miss Woodley wore apple green; Miss Bracey, peach; Miss Spencer, pink, and Miss Morton, light blue. Their slippers were of silver, and they carried pink roses.

Little Miss Dorothy Woodward, the flower girl, wore a frock of pink georgette. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

The best man was Mr. Lewis W. Crosby, jr., brother of the bride, and the ushers were Mr. Frank Holmes, Mr. Robert Hitch, Mr. William Schwarzmann and Mr. George Crosby, another brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The house was decorated with potted plants and roses. Mrs. Crosby, mother of the bride, wore a dress of pink lace. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Roberts, mother of the bridegroom, was costumed in blue lace and wore a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

Dress Suit Rental Men Cry for Code

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The dress suit renting industry has decided to get itself a code. As Lou J. Harris, once a prosperous soup-and-fish renter, phrased it, "it can't do us any harm."

"Take this last fiscal year," he said. "My average weeks have been pathetic, terrible, if you know what I mean. Oh, my, oh, my, what a fiscal year! For weddings we used to get the guy that got married, the guy that gave the bride, the best man, ushers—all of 'em Now we're lucky if we get the bridegroom."

Miss Hoover Bride of Navy Officer Here

Wed to Ensign C. B. Lanman in Afternoon Service; Motor West.

The wedding of Miss Louise Gautier Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pendleton Hoover, to Ensign Charles Burrows Lanman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lanman, took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. The Rev. Thomas G. Smyth performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore the gown that was worn by her two sisters, Mrs. Warren I. Glover, jr., and Mrs. R. C. Leonard, at their recent weddings. It was of antique satin made on princess lines with a bateau neck. The tulle veil was held in place by orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Glover, jr., was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was of gold satin, with a rolled neckline. The entire frock was plaited into sunburst plaits. She wore a brown velvet turban with a veil and carried a mixed bouquet of the season's flowers.

The maid of honor was Miss Gladys Murphy, Lowell, Mass. Her gown, made like that of the matron of honor, was of a rust shade of satin. She wore a brown velvet turban and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Lanman, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Roger S. Peacock. Their frocks were of the same pattern as the others, of bronze green satin. They also wore brown velvet turbans and carried bouquets of summer flowers.

The best man was Ensign Albert Sidney Major and the ushers were Mr. Maurice Lanman, brother of the bridegroom; Ensign Grimshaw Moore, Ensign John Everett and Ensign Melvin Young.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Mrs. Hoover, mother of the bride, wore a white georgette and lace dress, with black lace hat. Mrs. Lanman, the mother of the bridegroom, was costumed in black lace with a close fitting hat.

History Repeats In Bridal Garb

Customs of a lost generation often become the fashions of the present. Illustrative of this is the some time vogue of delicately tinted green footwear worn by attendants in a bridal procession.

Three generations ago in England if the younger sister in a family was elected to the marriage state before her older sisters, custom rigidly required that the presumably less-favored sisters wear vivid green stockings to the wedding ceremony. Nowadays, the fashion extends to others than sisters in the bridal procession, and, when followed, represents nothing other than

First Lady's Desk Once Used By Another Mrs. Roosevelt

When Mrs. Roosevelt sits down to pen a line or two in the upstairs corridor living room of the White House, she uses the mahogany kidney-shaped desk formerly used by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt. This desk was in use by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt when the present First Lady, as a shy young girl, used to visit her uncle, President Theodore Roosevelt, and Mrs. Roosevelt in the White House.

This desk has served for many important functions at the White House. Mrs William Howard Taft used it to pen thanks for many presents sent to herself and her husband from world rulers when fanciful choice or whimsical irony. they celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in the White House. Many of the "thank you" letters of both Miss Jessie Wilson and Miss Eleanor Wilson, the White House brides of the Wilson administration, were written at this desk.

Mrs. Hoover used this desk where it is now, although she had a more workaday desk for the great bulk of her official business in her office, at the end of the corridor.

Mrs. Roosevelt has a much more practical desk in her study and has provided herself with a cabinet like filing case. The office at the end of the corridor used by recent First Ladies has been abandoned in favor of a study by Mrs. Roosevelt, although her secretary's office is established in a wing of the corridor, once the White House children's play corner.

Six-Year-Old Travels World

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Claudia Denzelovna Carr, world traveler and master of six languages at 6, is about to learn another tongue and travel alone from Hawaii to Japan.

The little girl, daughter of a former Oklahoma City man who is widely known as a professor of languages, recently made her first visit to the United States. She was born in Japan when her father, Denzel Carr, was on the faculty of the University of Japan.

Her mother was Russian, so she learned that language as well as English at home. She learned Japanese from playmates. When she was 4, her father was a professor in Cracow, so there she learned Polish and studied music in that language.

Prof. Carr, after visiting his parents here, left for Hawaii to teach English, French and Russian at the University of Hawaii. His daughter will go alone to her mother in Japan.

MOTORISTS!
100 times on every trip you'll wish you had KLEENEX!

Better keep a package always handy in the car—for long trips or daily driving.

OH, for a clean cloth to wipe that dusty windshield! But the only cloths in the car are greasy.

Oh, for a clean handkerchief, to wipe the perspiration from your face! Another wiping with the same handkerchief would smart and irritate.

Hands covered with dirt and grease, steering wheel covered with grime, eyeglasses clouded with dust—how many times have you wished for Kleenex?

With Kleenex handy in the car, what a difference! Kleenex is your handkerchief, your dusting cloth, your eternal comfort.

Stop for a roadside bite, and you have a dainty napkin in a fresh, clean Kleenex tissue. Stop at a roadside pump to wash and you have an emergency towel.

Let the children have that ice cream cone! Kleenex will keep the drippings from soiling their clothes or the car.

Pay no more than 25c for Kleenex

With Kleenex so inexpensive, why not have it always with you? The patented pull-out carton on the seat beside you is dust-proof ... economical ... and most convenient. You don't have to take both hands off the steering wheel to help yourself.

You'll need Kleenex. Get Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store.

Real Baskets Of Oak Still On Sale Here

Then There Are Bargains Aplenty With Lots of New Ideas.

By Ruth Anne Davis.

It all happened way back when. He was a typical up-State Connecticut Yankee and refused to be daunted by hardships. In 1862 he set up a small factory which was really nothing more than a group of workers, expert basket weavers, interested in preserving the ancient American art, and making of it a real American industry.

That was the beginning. Through fat years, and lean, the little plant struggled on. Now it looms large and unique among plants of its kind in the country.

The weaving and manufacture of baskets remains essentially the same as it always was. The ash and oak strips that go into their makeup are genuine hardwood splints, cut by hand and with the grain to give a continuous fiber to the strip.

See these baskets in all shapes, for all purposes, in a Connecticut avenue store.

If you are tired of the same old thing in lamps and want something different for your radio or console table, see those in an E street furniture store. They have heavy glass shades, with ornate cigarette boxes attached to the base.

It isn't time for the fiannels yet—and aren't we glad! And you'll be glad, too, when you see those cool, soft, batiste gowns on sale at a downtown store. They're handmade and appliqued. Choose from a varied assortment of blue, pink and tearose, with many combinations of trimmings. Only 59 cents.

You may say there's nothing new under the sun, but believe us there's something new in a G street store. Walk down the basement stairs and ask for the sponge dish mops so arranged that the soap fits down inside of them. They're flexible enough to conform to almost any shape, milk bottle, tumbler, vase or pitcher. They have a way of shedding grease and food particles that will intrigue the tidiest of housewives.

They must have the personality secret, for they're endowed with personality plus. Who? Those Scottie dogs! We see their pictures on ads, on compacts, on brooches, and now they boast a conspicuous place on the newest desk blotters. A downtown novelty store has in a new line of these with genuine leather frames, green, red, brown and blue with the blotters of lighter contrasting shades.

You may have seen them when they were five dollars. If so you'll be delighted to meet them in a humbler station of life, now that they're only $1.50. You can always use them, these electric face patters. If you don't need a skin rejuvenator, you won't deny a skin refreshener? These serve both purposes and they serve them well.

Plan your winter drapes and buy them now at real bargain prices. A downtown department store is showing some heavy veloire, in rose or a golden tan, which has been reduced from $3.50 to $1.95. If you prefer something more elaborate, the ribbed veloire might suit your taste. This comes in a deep shade, a cross between rose and rust. Reduced from $4.95 to $2.95. Here's opportunity knocking!

When it's maid's day off and it's up to the dainty little miss to do the dishes, she naturally dreads the disagreeable task of picking up the sink refuse. Some understanding inventor realized this and put on the market a "sink scoop," which does all the dirty work. You'll find it in a G street store, and it's yours for 10 cents.

Call Ruth Anne Davis, of the Woman's Department of The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 105, for further information. Or write, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

Pleads for NRA Aid in Homes

Lazarnick Photo.

MRS. CHARLES E. BURDEN, JR., attracted attention at NRA code hearing with eloquent appeal for protection of American homes as well as American industry. She is a daughter of Count Casimir de Strelecki, Polish patriot exiled to Siberia for resisting Russian domination of Poland.

The Family Marketer

Storm Ruins Spinach, But It'll Be Back; Now Is Time to Can.

Let there be great rejoicing in the family ranks! The tasty spinach growing row on row was beseiged by the monster storm, beaten to the ground and left groveling in the dirt! For two weeks there will be no first quality spinach on the market.

Resign yourself to this calamitous circumstance. Be of good cheer, for an excellent grade will be back on the market in all its former glory, though perhaps a little higher.

All you lovers of hot, spicy sauces should take advantage of the supply of little red peppers now on hand to put up several jars of peppery relish. They're selling for 5 cents a bunch.

Beans "Not So Good."

"They simply aren't selling," he said. "They aren't so good, it's true, but, on the other hand, they they aren't so bad. Yesterday these baskets sold from 75 cents to a dollar a piece. Today, they're yours for a quarter!"

If you find good canteloupes today, you're extraordinarily lucky. According to market reports, that deluge we had the other day served to take much of the natural sweetness from the melon. And that's not all it did.

The golden corn standing so proudly in the field was beaten down ruthlessly. But the fully matured ears gathered immediately after show scarcely any signs of damage. You can buy five dozen ears for 75 cents, one dozen for 25 cents in the retail stores.

Peaches Giving Out.

The local peaches are practically all gone. A great many of them were blown from the trees last week and others rotted from too much moisture. A few from Jersey are still with us, but it won't be long now.

The best peaches will be here next week, all the way from western New York State.

If you're planning to pickle peaches and have been waiting on the white heaths, buy as soon as they appear on the market. Otherwise you may be left without. They're the choicest of peaches for pickling, but their supply and demand is uncertain. According to a dealer, there is likely to be a scarcity of them this season.

Grapes Plentiful.

There is, however, a bounteous supply of grapes on the market. It's an excellent time to get ready for the grape jellies, or grape wines you want to tuck away in the cellar. Today, there're 12 quarts for $1, but next week you probably will be able to buy them at 12 quarts for 75 cents.

If you're making no plans for the future but want them for the kiddies, you can buy grapes for 5 cents a pound. The malagas and extra fancy seedless are 10 cents a pound.

To look at them you wouldn't give them credit, but taste them—those littel sugar pears. They're sweeter and juicier than you remember. You may buy them, 25 cents for 4 pounds this week, but if you wait they'll be 5 pounds for the same price next week.

Egg Plants Steady.

You can depend on egg plants. They maintain a staple price and practically the same quality, at 5 or 10 cents, according to the size. The small or medium-sized egg plants are best. If you buy them too large they are apt to be pithy and not half so tasty.

When you buy them, consider two things. First of all if you want them for frying, the long, cylindrical type is apt to be better than the chunky variety. Second, they should have a smooth skin, as wrinkles often denote age and bitterness.

Have you tried the eggplant stuffed with grape nuts? Here's how:

1 large eggplant, 1 cup grape nuts, 1 tablespoon onion, finely chopped; 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, ¼ cup ketchup, 4 tablespoons cooked ham, finely chopped; ¼ teaspoon paprika, and 1 teaspoon salt.

Parboil eggplant 20 minutes. Cut into halves and scoop out center, leaving a wall about ½ inch thick. Chop portion of eggplant which has been removed, add ¾ cup grape nuts and remaining ingredients. Mix well. Put dressing into eggplant shells, cover with remaining ¾ cup grape nuts and dot with butter. Place in greased baking dish. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Women Wets Joyful

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, today received the following message from Miss Augusta Trimble, Washington State chairman:

"Overjoyed to report Washington has joined the repeal parade. Approximate 3-to-1 majority."

Woman Calls For NRA Aid In U. S. Homes

Former Polish Countess Tells of Hardship Imposed by Shop Work.

Drama was injected into the NRA code hearings this week when gentle-mannered, Polish-born Lucille Burden, head of Lucille Burden, Inc., New York, made a passionate plea for protection of American homes as well as of American industry.

Daughter of Count Casimir de Strelecki, Polish patriot, whose activities against Russian domination of Poland brought 10 years' exile to Siberia, descendant of a family which for nine generations has been active in the government of Poland, Mrs. Burden proved herself worthy heiress of a crusading tradition.

Speaking from experience as social worker and manufacturer, Mrs. Burden insisted that an industrial code must be established to abolish manufacturing through the medium of "home work."

Hits Greedy Manufacturers.

"In the last few years," declared Mrs. Burden in an interview, "manufacturers, in order to reduce cost of production, thereby increasing profit to themselves, have resorted more and more to so-called 'home workers,' instead of using legitimate workers in their factories.

In low, sweet, unhurried voice, stumbling now and then over an unaccustomed phrasing, struggling smilingly with an irrepressible accent, she continued:

"Such workers are drawn from the lower foreign element in the larger cities, workers who are unprotected, because incapable of organizing into a self-protecting body.

"These are given work to do at home, nearly always with the stipulation of return delivery within 24 hours.

"Usually the family is large, the quarters small. Every inalienable social right of the human being, the home, the family, is violated. So are legislative rulings.

Children Neglected.

"The poor tired mother, whose first duty, after all, is to her children, pushes them aside to do the work at hand—to make a few cents. Insanitary conditions become more pronounced with crowding.

"Small children are made to work, oft-times all night, to meet the morning delivery. There you have the child labor situation.

"Hours can not possibly be governed, so how may a code be devised for fair competition—on the question of hours alone—so long as 'home work' is tolerated?

"The problem of neglected children goes hand-in-hand with home work. Children are thrown upon the mercy and the expense of the State.

"The manufacturer engaged in legitimate practice, who conducts a factory, pays living wages, maintains decent hours, he is undersold by his competitor who unethically resorts to 'home work.'

Sees Hope in NRA.

"But I have hopes that the 'home work' is to be abolished by our NRA," she offered. "I think the administration and the Labor Department are very favorably inclined to our presentation of the needs of industry, which is in accord with the purpose of the NRA. We feel it is the only plan which will preserve fair competition, maintain human rights, protect the functioning of the home, and provide employment to more people."

Mrs. Burden was sent to Washington by the National Flower and Feather Manufacturers Association, which was organized three months ago for the purpose of obtaining a code which will, among other things, abolish "home work" in that industry.

She is a director in the association, and, prior to her determined stand against "home work," had been director of the Artificial Flower and Feather Association of America, which holds the opposing view that abandonment of "home work" before July 1, 1934, would constitute suicide to the industry, owing to imminent seasonal demands and shortage of trained labor.

Came Here as Refugee.

This gentle crusader for American rights came to American shores in 1915, a schoolgirl refugee from war. Studying in Switzerland at the beginning of the World War, she was cut off from her family for so long a time she eventually came to New York City to be with friends.

"Seeking to make myself immediately useful," she explained, "I studied under Mr. Frank Oliver, internationally recognized authority on art."

Here she acquired the facility which in later years made her a successful designer and manufacturer of artificial flowers. She is now head of her own establishment.

Later she enlisted with the Polish Gray Samaritans, a Polish-American group sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and the American Red Cross, and took a ten months intensive course in social welfare work and nursing, with the idea of doing reconstruction work in war-torn Poland.

Helps Immigrants.

Just as she finished her course the armistice was signed and she devoted herself to the needs of the foreign immigrant residents in New York City, particularly those from central Europe and the Balkan States.

"I found them in deadly need," she said, "and I was able to do a great deal of Americanization work. Many of them had been here for as long as 25 years and couldn't speak a word of English. Many of them didn't know how to go about becoming naturalized citizens.

"You will recall that just about the close of the war, much emphasis was placed on the necessity of Americanizing our foreign element."

In 1920, the youthful countess married Mr. Charles E. Burden, jr., New York broker and descendant of Anglo-Saxon stock which settled on Long Island four generations ago.

Remember

By Katherine W. Smith.

Thrust me out and do not listen
When my words are cruel, remind
My heart that it is gentle when
My tongue is less than kind.

So be patient when the bitter
Thoughts that, overflowing, spill
Their venom on my lips. Forget,
Because I love you still.

Curie Denies Interviewers Eleven Years

Codiscoverer of Radium Will Not Talk for Publication.

Geneva, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Mme. Marie Curie, codiscoverer with her husband of radium, is the most "uninterviewed" notable ever to attend league meetings.

Mme. Curie has not been interviewed once in the 11 years she has attended the annual meetings of the league's international commission on intellectual cooperation, of which she is a member.

No Interviews.

This year was no exception. There were no big stories running in Geneva, consequently many correspondents attached to the league attempted to interview the tiny, black-garbed scientist. She flatly refused. She refused even to chat with newspapermen, thus breaking the Geneva tradition that all statesmen, big or small, easily are accessible to journalists when in Geneva.

Shakes Head.

In the meetings of the Intellectual Cooperation Commission she takes an active part—but she never says anything exciting enough to print. When other speakers say things she likes she nods energetically. When their remarks displease her she shakes her head in protest.

Mme. Curie is one of a number of prominent members of the Intellectual Cooperation Commission, who are trying to further international understanding through education and closer intellectual ties between nations.

Aviatrix Proposes Hop Around Globe

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30 (AP). Blanche Wilcox Noyes, actress and aviatrix, has just announced plans for a round-the-world flight next year "just to prove that a woman can do it."

Mrs. Noyes, here with a theatrical stock company, said she plans to start from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, the latter part of next May or June and proceed by easy stages. Her route would be substantially the same as that followed by Wiley Post, she said.

That's Honesty.

San Jose Calif., Aug. 30 (AP). An envelope containing $190 in currency was dropped on the street by G. L. Gina, manager of a market here, and a gust of wind scattered the bills for half a block. Passers-by picked up the bills and handed them back to Gina. And when he counted them—so he says—he had exactly $190.

Start-of-the-Season Coats Use Rich, Unfurred Fabrics

Directed by Amos Parrish.

There's a kind of coat that fits into the gap between early fall and actual winter as neatly as a chestnut fits a burr. And it keeps on being wearable right through the winter. It's that breezy, city-country furless coat.

The kind of coat that college girls take back with them for campus and football. That strides to business on early chilly days. That shops, motors, goes here, there, everywhere.

This fall you'll see it in straight-lined, wide-shouldered style such as the sketch above shows. Those shoulders are padded and tucked to give them that hearty football-player look. And some like it in a mannish topcoat version, boxy of line, with lapels and cuff straps.

The new hairy coat woolens in interesting textures makes such coats extra good looking and characterful. And the colors—rich browns, taupes, oxfords and rusts—make the wearers seem as much a part of fall as the shedding trees.

Semifitted Type.

The woman who wants such a coat to look just a little more citified will pick it in semifitted style. We saw one of these bought for a tideover until fur-coat time. It had broad shoulders, too . . . with padded rolls that were a "steal" from a Javanese dancer's costume. With high-tying scarf and a belt that could stay at home if the wearer wished. Some of these semifitted coats are simpler, with high, side-closing collars.

The fabrics, too, help them to be a bit more dressed up. Two-tone mixtures . . . grayed overtones on taupe, brown, green and wine. Rich, individual materials that are pet fashions of the new season.

Leaflet on Gloves.

Being unfurred, these fabrics can show their textures to better advantage. And also they can take some of the bright accessories—scarfs, hats, gloves—which are fashion's way of accenting the new dark colors. Gay gloves are especially smart, and if you'd like to know how to key them to your coat—as well as what gloves to choose for other fall and winter costumes—better send for our leaflet which is telling many women all about it.

Stork Favors Twins

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP).—Twin brothers are the fathers of daughters, born within a few hours of each other. At 2 a. m. a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin K. Bare. At 8 p. m., the same day, a girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elvin K. Bare.

Studious Convicts.

Seattle—Convicts at the Nevada State Penitentiary at Carson City are becoming studious archeologists, says King County Deputy Sheriff Jay Cage. He said scientists are excavating in the prison yard for the remains of prehistoric monsters, and that convicts being used in the work are "extremely interested."

Beauty Valuable, But Poise Is Needed; Dress the Part

But any husband can tell her that gayety and cheerfulness are powerful weapons, too.

In the commercial world, women have learned that cheerfulness is not only a weapon, but is, indeed, an essential qualification for success. If she doesn't have it she acquires it, or displays so clever a synthetic brand that it is accepted as genuine.

Housewives Forget.

Women in the home are most apt to react according to their inner feelings, not always the most cheerful, without stopping to think of the advantages they may thereby be yielding.

Specially recommended to housekeeping women with spirits inclined to sink are house dresses of attractive colors, in shades to emphasize the best in their eyes and hair, with lines that bring out the best features of the figure.

The psychological value of skin care and cosmetic make-up, to these women, will be immeasurable. It bucks up the morale of the tired wife and mother. It gives a sense of poise, self-possession and efficiency.

Fresh Lingerie Important.

Psychologically, much is gained from stepping into freshly-laundered, faintly-scented lingerie, though it be last year's, or the year's before. A routine habit of swishing hose and undergarments through warm suds the minute you take them off brings this luxury within the reach of any woman. They can be laid away, as soon as dried, in a bureau drawer containing lavender sachets.

A good weekly manicure, in which everything is done with professional thoroughness, followed up by a daily going-over with an emery board, will add yet more to that sum total of self-approval, which is the basis for cheerfulness.

Gala Evening

By Mary Brook Lucas

The last big party of the trip is a gala night starting with the purser's cocktail party, the captain's dinner and ending with a vaudeville show and dancing. Judy enjoys the festivities, knowing she is wearing one of the smartest gowns of the evening, a simple affair of icy white satin and emeralds.

Another lovely miss floats gracefully over the ballroom floor in a pink and white frock of starch chiffon. The crepe satin gown gives us the latest in sleeves and draped bodice. It buttons down the back. Black dotted net over satin is worked into an extremely slim silhouette Paris approves.

Like thousands of tiny stars, glistening crystal beads have been woven into a delightful chiffon frock in an exquisite shade of pale turquoise blue. The ruffled scarf slips over the head and floats on one shoulder. A dress that almost matches moonlight on the ocean; a sight Judy will never forget.

Dark blues and shiny black satins for evening remind us that fall is just around the corner. Judy admires one young woman's sleeved gown of Burgundy satin with painted dots. Heavy crepe fashions another sleeved model cut on a rather "tubular" silhouette. Silver fox and crinkled satin are combined in the evening suit.

Beer License Siege Occurs At Arlington

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

A resolution calling for a special county tax of $10 a year for immediate sale of 3.2 beer will be introduced today at the Arlington County Board meeting by Lyman M. Kelley, of Clarendon.

Other matters scheduled, include ratification of the appointment as sanitary engineer of Allen B. McDaniel, and the awarding of contracts for water system extensions.

With signing of the beer bill by Gov. Pollard, County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green's office yesterday was besieged with persons seeking licenses.

Until he has received instructions from State Tax Commissioner Morrisette, Green will issue no licenses.

The executive committee of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, meeting at the home of Mrs. N. Rex Hunt, Clarendon, voted to hold its fall meeting September 27.

Fred McWane, Republican candidate for governor, and Allen B. McDaniel, newly appointed sanitary engineer for the county, will speak.

The committee commended the county board for keeping County Manager Roy S. Braden in charge of installation of the proposed county-wide sewerage system. Mrs. Carmen Morris, civic committee chairman, was instructed to urge before the county board employment of men in the county on construction of the system and to award contracts to local firms.

'Victim of Ride' Only Iron Pipe

River, Dragged for Hours, Yields Object That Alarmed Doctor.

Believing he was witnessing the end of a gangster "ride," Dr. N. B. Steward, of Laurel Md., called police. He had seen two young men toss a large object into the Patuxent River, climb into their automobile and speed away with a third man.

Two Washington youths, when arrested, admitted tossing a large object into the river, but maintained it was iron pipe.

State Policemen C. C. Sherman, C. E. Baker, Wade L. Smith and E. R. Quandt dragged the river for hours and found a piece of pipe.

The youths were linked by police to a $27 gasoline station holdup until the station attendant, Clyde Smith, Beltsville, failed to identify them. Then they were released.

Arlington's NRA Drive Sept. 5 to 20

Plans for House-to-House Canvas Are Discussed by Fellows' Aids.

Plans for an NRA house-to-house drive from September 5 to 20, in Arlington County, were discussed at a meeting last night.

The drive will be directed by "General" Harry A. Fellows, who will have "Colonel" George M. Yeatman as chief aid in the business area. The county will be divided and will be covered by units under captains. Plans call for each home to be visited. NRA consumer stickers will be distributed.

Eighty per cent of Arlington County business houses now are NRA members, it was reported at the meeting.

Bonds Fail

Man, 81, Found Dead With Notice of Default in Pocket.

It was believed the aged man suffered a stroke while walking. A note asking that in case of accident or death an undertaker be notified was found in his pocket, as was a letter from a bank notifing him his bonds would bear no further interest.

The body was taken to Silver Spring while police endeavored to locate relatives.

Maryland Will Stock 700-Acre Game Preserve

Sandy Spring, Md., Aug. 30 (Spl.). An interesting feature of the meeting of the Izaak Walton League held with Mr. Milton Bancroft and his son at their home, Norwood, was the announcement that the large game preserve of 700 acres between Olney and Sandy Spring would be stocked with quail and pheasants by the State, and posted for a period of five years, with Fred Jones as a special deputy warden.

The local men of the league will also stock the preserve, and Edward Snowden, chairman of the conservation committee, announced that 12 property owners had signed up their property for the enterprise. Robert H. Chichester will entertain the September meeting at Springland.

Mrs. Armfield Named In Herndon Campaign

Mrs. Eudora Armfield yesterday was appointed women's chairman of NRA campaign in Herndon, Va. The chamber of commerce committee comprises Dr. Ernest L. Robey, T. Edgar Reed, Willis W. McGlincy, Dr. Ralph Chamblin and W. Frank Humme.

Son Who Shot Father to Save Mother Freed

Benford Newman, 23, of Fairfax, Va., was freed yesterday in the Fairfax justice court of a technical charge of murder. The night before he shot and killed his father, Calvin J. Newman, 59, who threatened the lives of his wife and son with a razor.

Dismissing the charge Judge Paul E. Brown said:

"I don't think there is any reason to hold this boy. He only did what any other person would have done under similar circumstances and probably what should have been done long ago."

Testimony was that the elder Newman, Spanish-American War vetrean, had been drinking steadily since Sunday. When he returned home Tuesday night he discovered a .38-caliber revolver missing from under his pillow. The gun had been hidden from him since he shot at one of his sons two years ago and he had found it last Sunday. Raging down the stairs with the razor in his hand he cornered Mrs. Newman and threatened her if she did not return the gun.

Benford told his father he had the gun and did not intend to return it. The father turned on the boy, who begged him not to advance. The youth backed away and when cornered he fired five shots into his father's body, two bullets entering the heart.

D. B. Diamond Named On Land Bank Group

Gaithersburg, Md., Aug 30 (Spl.). Douglas B. Diamond, of Gaithersburg, has been appointed a Montgomery County representative of the Land Bank Commission.

Loans which are available for any farm of ten acres or more, provided the land is used for agriculture purposes, may be made, according to Mr. Diamond, to pay off present indebtedness and provide working capital for farm operation and to enable any farmer to repurchase farm property owned by him before foreclosure, if the farm has been foreclosed since July, 1931.

Council to Fix Alexandria's Rules for Beer

Mayor Calls Meeting of Council Tonight to Decide on Fees.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
207 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A special meeting of the city council tonight was called yesterday by Mayor Edmund F. Ticer to draw up rules for the sale of 3.2 beer effective next Monday, in accordance with the bill signed Tuesday night by Gov. Pollard.

The first step will be to amend the present license law. The next will be to fix license fees for retailers, wholesalers and distributors. Licenses will be issued by the commissioner of revenue.

Mayor Ticer also announced the council will give further consideration to the proposed loan of $600,000 from the Federal Government under the Public Works Act. It is planned to use the funds, if obtained for the construction of a high school, extensions to the city's sewer system and building roads.

34 Prisoners To Be Paroled

Montgomery County Men Slated for Freedom September 5.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 30 (Spl.). Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will parole 34 prisoners in State penal institutions September 5.

Three cases are from Montgomery County, one from Prince Georges and others from Frederick and Allegany Counties.

The three Montgomery County cases, sentences in which were passed in the Circuit Court, are:

Austin A. Becraft, two years, chicken stealing.

The Prince Georges County case is that of Noble Duckett, colored, serving eight years in the penitentiary for manslaughter, for slaying his wife.

Others to be freed:

Guy Baker, Frederick County, one year.

Robert Jeffries, Frederick County, four years, burglary.

Walter Albaugh, Frederick County, larceny, 18 months.

William Hess, 15 months, Allegany County, larceny.

Perry Barnes and Alfred Kerns, Allegany County, 18 months, larceny.

Silver Spring Club Pledges NRA Aid

Lions Hold Open Forum and Discuss Problems of Recovery.

Pledging support to the National Recovery Act, members of the Silver Spring Lions Club held an open forum yesterday at the Montgomery Country Club. In addition to a general discussion by the members, papers were read by Dr. James J. Hannan and Bery R. English, past presidents of the club.

Mr. English urged that greater speed be displayed by business heads in joining the movement. "If the NRA fails," he said, "there will be no next President, for revolution through despair can be the only outcome of failure to make successful the most stupendous economic adjustment in the history of the world."

Dr. Hannan stressed the benefits promised by the NRA to the class of labor which has been paid starvation wages. He pointed out that if the NRA raised wages of textile and mining workers alone a tremendous increase in purchasing power would follow.

Dr. Hannan and Mr. English were appointed to draw up a resolution to be presented at the next meeting which will officially carry a constructive suggestion on the part of the club concerning the functioning of the NRA.

Friday, 13th, Proves Lucky For Civil War Veteran

To begin with, the captain was born Friday, October 13, 1843.

Then, before he was many years old, his family exchanged the comparative security of Eastern civilization for the frontier life of Minnesota. While the Indians there were considered of average savagery and though a frontier boy was allowed to roam pretty much as he pleased, Capt. Woodworth reached the age of 18 ready to fight when Lincoln called for volunteers.

From '62 to '64, Capt. Woodworth faced the Confederate gunfire from Petersburg to Richmond. He suffered no injury. Not once was he sick enough to go to a hospital.

The captain made one of his excursions to the Capital yesterday to see old friends in the District Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, an organization of commissioned Union officers, and to sit in his room at the Raleigh, reminiscing of Gen. Grant, smoking many cigars.

"All I want to do now," he said, "is to grow old gracefully."

Next October 13 the captain will celebrate his ninetieth birthday. It falls on Friday this year.

LIKE a lot of big news these days, this has a Washington date line, too. It's an Endurance Run, officially conducted by the *A. A. A. in the Nation's Capital.

In 5,000 miles continuous driving through traffic, AMOCO-GAS, in a new stock V-8 Ford, gave 22½ miles to the gallon—20% more than the Ford factory considers good mileage with regular gasoline. AMOCO-GAS does not cost the motorist that much more over regular gasoline.

So even on mileage alone, you don't save a cent when you buy "regular"! The added mileage from AMOCO-GAS places it on a lower cost footing.

But observe the other great plus values you get from AMOCO-GAS that you cannot get from any "regular" gasoline. Or from any other premium fuel, either.

(1) Complete "anti-knock" performance.
(2) Greatly decreased carbonization—and far fewer repair bills.
(3) Infinitely more power—and smoother motor performance.
(4) Quicker pick-up—no "choking" on the get-away.
(5) Far fewer gear shifts—you can loaf along in traffic in high.
(6) Instant starting—no running down the battery; no flooding the carburetor.
(7) Greater, more luxurious riding and driving ease.

For these many comforts and economies you pay absolutely nothing. Everything but the mileage is free!

Why, in the face of these facts, continue to buy "regular" gas? AMOCO-GAS has always been the lowest-cost-per-mile motor fuel you can possibly buy.

And right now it's a better buy than ever—for the premium is 2c* (40%) less. So now you can afford the best!

Now, Pegler Recalls, Jack Was in '32 Race

Yes, Come to Think of It, He Led Repeal Fight From the Rear!

By Westbrook Pegler.

New York, Aug. 30.—I remember who shot McKinley and, with my rather morbid knack for odd and inconsequential information, I could tell you just off-hand that Babe Ruth pitched 29 consecutive scoreless innings in World Series play, although not in one world series, and still holds the record. But I have been trying to think of the name of a man—you know the man I mean, perhaps. He ran on the ticket with Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and was elected Vice President.

A great public leader and statesman he was, by the name of —— was it Garland? Arizona Bill Garland? That sounds something like it. But it isn't Garland, Gardner, Garside?

Isn't that strange now?

Had Hide-Away Office.

I used to know that name just as well. And I used to see him in Washington, first in the House and later over in the Senate after the coronation day. The boys told me he had a hide-away office somewhere in the attic or in the cellar.

I really shouldn't say I saw much of him, either, because he wasn't down in the well with the rest of the statesmen, but on his throne, and the press coop overhangs the throne so that you can't see who is sitting there unless you hang clear out over the rail and have somebody hold your feet.

Well, nobody is ever going to make a human chain of himself to snatch a squint. What difference does it make who is on the throne? You catch a bumble of conversation from that direction now and again, and you form a mental picture of that statesmanlike figure, and have a contented feeling that Jack's in his heaven. All's right with the world.

Jack! That's His Name!

Jack. That's it! Jack was his first name. Jack Garbisch, no; Jack Garbisch was that West Point football player, and anyway his name wasn't but Walter. Or was it Walter? I think it was Ed Garbisch. About the time that professor up at Brown University told the boys at commencement time one year during the boom, that the thing to do was not to grub along for little raises, but marry the boss' daughter. Garbisch married a very rich young lady and resigned from the Army, and the Navy crowd that had been accusing the Army of using nonserious types on their football team raised quite an odor.

They said: "See? What have we been telling you! They import a lot of big man-eaters up at the Point; use them to smack the Navy around for three or four years and then excuse them out of the service, whereas, we restrict ourselves to kids who seriously intend to become naval officers!"

Anyway, this man's name was Jack. I don't know that it is so important, but you know how it is when you get to thinking of a man's name and it is right on the tip of your tongue and you can't quite say it, and it pretty nearly drives you nuts for days and days.

I know his name was Jack and I know they used to call him something like Denver Jack or Oklahoma Jack Whosit. I remember who Curtis was. He was on the throne before Jack. Billy Curtis, wasn't it? Billy or Harry. He had a sister who got into a row with Alice Longworth about who should sit where at table, and then this sister wrote her memoirs and peddled them around.

Led From the Rear.

The amateurs certainly have been crowding the professionals in the writing business, haven't they? They ought to be made to take out cards like the rest of us.

But Curtis isn't the one I am trying to remember. I am trying to remember the one who came after him, although I don't know why. I wonder if Addison Sims, of Seattle, would know.

He was a great leader of the repeal movement, too. He did his leading from the rear while Al Smith led in front.

I saw where he voted against prohibition the other day. Where was it they voted against it the other day? Texas. That's it! Texas Jack is what he is called—not Arizona Eddie nor Oklahoma Bill—Texas Jack.

Wait! Don't prompt me. I've got it! Texas Jack Garner. That is the name—Texas Jack Garner.

Well, so what? So nothing. But you know how a little think like that will bother you for days and days and like to drive you nuts.

Complaining of the monotony of luxurious hotels, some one has said, "The Ritz in New York, the Ritz in Cairo—what's the difference. They are all alike."

Unfortunately, something of the same sort often applies to the homes of wealthy and cosmopolitan people. The homes of millionaires, be they on Park avenue or the Faubourg St. Germain, are likely to have a resembling marbled elegance. They are houses of citizens of the world, rather than homes of natives of a country.

But nothing of the sort can be said about the Mexican Embassy here. It is a great mansion stamped clearly as a part of "old Mexico," and the new Mexico, too.

Our southern neighbors' love of brilliant color strikes the eye like sunlight as one crosses the threshold. One side of the great entrance hall is taken up by a tremendous wall fresco, "Fiesta del Flores," by Roberto Cueva del Rio.

The composition is modernist. It flares and blazes with tropic color. Its dozens of figures include Mexicans of all types, strong vivid folk, all imbued with the gaiety and rhythm of the fiesta spirit.

Will Reach Third Floor.

This fresco, when completed, will cover walls extending up to the third floor, following the grand staircase. At present, it is completed only to the top of the second floor. Young painter Cueva del Rio, a black-haired lad who claims 25 but looks 16, with his assistant is laboring assiduously. He hopes to finish the task by fall, when the ambassador returns and winter social activities again will flourish.

The painting, when completed, will give an impressionistic portrayal of all Mexico and its history. Thus, on the upper floor will appear a delineation of the conquest of the country by Pizarro and his conquistadors. Part of the picture will show the cool Mexico of the snow-covered Sierras, and in contrast will appear the sun-smitten tropical valleys and great ranchos with their galloping charros. The "Fiesta del Flores," already completed, shows the great annual fiesta of Tehuantepec.

Works of other famous Mexican artists appear in the state entrance hall. Among them are a landscape by Clausell, who has been pronounced the finest Mexican landscape artist by no less an authority than Diego Rivera.

The color of these paintings dominates the great hall, the only other pronounced color note being that of the deep blue carpet. Screens of finely wrought iron at either side of the entrance contribute an interesting pattern. The walls are of rough plaster, in odd opalescent bluish tone. The furnishings are simple, and include a large marble table and tall torchieres of intricate wrought iron.

Office Richly Furnished.

The ambassador's private offices are subdued in coloring but richly furnished with dark carved woods and draperies, and upholsteries of light mulberry velvet.

Portraits of all the Mexican presidents since the days of the Diaz revolution are hung high on the walls of the outer office. It is significant that no portraits of that iron-hearted reactionary, Porfirio Diaz, are to be found throughout the embassy.

Over the ambassador's desk in his private office, hangs a painting of Benito Guarez, famous Mexican patriot of the last century. A frieze of photographs of Mexican buildings extends around the walls of the outer office, at a level which makes it easy to view their interesting detail.

The second, formal floor of the embassy, is reached by the most luxurious of automatic elevators, its walls padded with pastel brocade in the continental manner.

The formal dining room of the embassy is said to be the largest in Washington. Here again the work of a noted Mexican artist, Yela Gunther, contributes the dominant note. The paneled walls of dark wood are covered with Gunther murals, done on the same background or dark cloud-blue, in the primitive Mayan mode. One huge study of a mother and child is reminiscent of the manner of Sculptor Jacob Epstein.

Opening from the dining room is the conservatory. Farther on is the roof garden. This is quite as large as the usual hotel roof garden. During the days of Ambassador Tellez, when he remained in Washington during the summer because of special duties, this roof garden, lighted and beflowered, was the scene of some of Washington's gayest entertaining.

Lounging Room Delightful.

But the most characteristcially Mexican part of the embassy is a delightful little lounging room that adjoins the billiard room and overlooks the front terrace.

Every color of the rainbow meets in this room—and gets along beautifully with all the other colors. The ceiling, striped gaily in reds and yellows; the brilliant serapes that are used for rugs and wall draperies; the thousand-and-one highly colored ornaments that appear at every turn, all blend into an interior that is the very spirit of relaxation and gayety.

Outstanding among all these interesting details is a set of leather chairs that Yela Gunther decorated with caricatures of the embassy staff as a means of amusing himself while he was working seriously on the dining room murals.

Formal Dining Room, Largest in Capital, Decorated With Gunther Murals.

On the backs of these chairs appear sketches of Ambassador Tellez, now Mexican Ambassador to Italy; of Charge d'Affaires Louis Padilla Nervo, who was second secretary when the sketch was made; of the then Counselor Manuel de Negri, now Mexican Minister to Denmark; of Antonio Castro Leal, now Mexican charge d'affaires in Holland; of Carlos Baumbach, now first secretary of the Mexican Embassy in Japan.

Other interesting decorations in the Mexican room include small figures of the Mexican charro and his hardy little companion, the china. Also a number of satiric little satuettes of famous Mexican political figures.

Library Is Praised.

To many persons, the library is the most beautiful room in the embassy. Paneled in dark wood, decorated with graceful bronzes, its walls hung with Gobelin tapestries, the whole effect is one of spacious and studious twilight. Directly by the door is the grandfather of all desks. It is no exaggeration to say that its mahogany top is as large as the floor space in many apartment rooms. Aside from a few books and practical desk furnishings, its only adornment is a dark blue ribosa, the favored scarf of Mexican women from time immemorial.

Here, too, is found the authentic Mexican touch in two splendid wood carvings by Fidias Elizondo. One is a bust of Padre Morelos, one of the fathers of Mexican independence; the other, the head of a Mayan Indian.

In only two of the formal rooms of the Embassy is there a decorative treatment, without admixture of the Mexican spirit. These are the gold room and the music room, both French period rooms. The music room is a copy of one at Fontainebleau. French period furniture in varying gold treatments is used in both rooms, while the wall treatment in the gold room is of gold brocade.

The music room is an exquisite apartment in gold and rose, with one wall in delicately painted panels, a stately chimney piece with raised fleur-de-lis decoration and a pipe organ. The floor is in two levels, one forming a low stage at that end of the room where the pipe organ is located. Amusing, among the formal furniture, is a beautifully preserved sedan chair, painted and brocaded, in which the Pompadour or Du Barry might have been carried.

Three Convicted For Chicago Killing

'Blonde Tigress' Given 199 Years; Sweetheart Sent to Chair.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Mrs. Eleanor Jarman, called by police "the blonde tigress," was found guilty tonight of murder and sentenced to spend 199 years in prison.

The third member of the gang, Leo Minneti, was sentenced to serve 199 years in prison.

National City Fair Completing Program

Amplifiers were being installed at the old Benning fair grounds as plans for opening National City Fair Sunday were nearing completion last night.

Sponsored by the Police and Fire Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, major attractions include the Fort Myer Cavalry troop, Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol Team, carnival and circus, and George Hamid's rodeo.

Cornice of White House Repaired for First Time

Work Underway to Protect Passers-by From Danger of Falling Mortar.

Repair of the cornice of the White House is the first work to be undertaken in Washington under a $6,000 allotment from the Public Works fund, Arno B. Cammerer, director of the Office of National Parks, Buildings and Reservations, announced yesterday.

The work, already in progress, is believed to be the first repair of that nature that has been made on the White House, which is over a century old.

Though progress has been delayed by adverse weather conditions for about five working days, it is hoped the job will be completed in time for the return of the President.

The work includes replacing two great Indiana limestone cornice stones at a cost of $1,000 each. The remaining $4,000 will be expended in replacing defective mortar with new water-tight mortar and in repairing defective stones.

The repairs are necessary to prevent further deterioriation and possible injury to persons underneath from falling mortar or stones. The cornice has weathered and the mortar has crumbled and fallen out along with chunks of stone loosened by freezing and thawing of moisture in cracks.

Mr. Cammerer said the work is being done on force account by employes of the Public Buildings Branch of the Office of National Parks, Buildings and Reservations.

Wheat Revival Seen in World Production Cut

London Pact Called Main Step in Restoring Prosperity.

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—Argentina's signature to the international wheat agreement today put the finishing touch to a pact which, the negotiators assert, will revive the wheat industry and do more to restore world prosperity than any other factor.

Wheat experts here assert that unless the world's impoverished wheat farmer is put on his feet there can be no universal prosperity.

Argentina became the twenty-second nation to sign the pact, the general purpose of which is to reduce production by the great wheat nations and stimulate consumption in the importing countries.

The delay in the signature of Argentina had caused uneasiness. Other principal nations signed last Friday, but Argentina did not join them because her representative, Tomas Le Breton, was on the continent.

The next move is for the governments to appoint members of the permanent advisory wheat committee. Two Americans are being discussed. One is Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher, and the other is Robert W. Bingham, American Ambassador to Great Britain.

To Limit U. S. Exports.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Wallace said last night the international wheat agreement will limit exports of the United States to 47,000,000 bushels; Canada to 200,000,000 bushels; Argentina to 110,000,00 bushels, and Australia to 105,000,000 up to July 31, 1934.

Wallace sent messages of congratulations to Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher, who represented the United States throughout the negotiations and was the chief delegate in bringing the negotiations to a close.

Appointed Tax Collector.

Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 30 (Spl.). Delayed for three months by inability of Frank C. Cunningham, tax collector, to secure bond, the 1933 duplicate on Waynesboro school taxes will be turned over to John C. Mumma, newly appointed collector, by the board of education here Friday night.

Fox Is Indicted In Aid Forgery

The District grand jury yesterday indicted Morris M. Fox, 1451 Park road northwest, on a charge of embezzling $137 from the District Emergency Relief Fund.

Fox, who was employed as a case worker, is accused of having authorized issuance of checks in January and February to nine needy persons. After the checks were mailed, it was charged, he phoned recipients a mistake had been made and requested them not to open the letters.

The grand jurors were informed that at this point Fox would call on the addressees, obtain the letters and forge indorsements on the checks, later cashing them.

Earl Brightwell Death Accidental, Jury Finds

A coroner's jury in Hyattsville last night decided Earl Brightwell, of Edmonston, Md., died July 27 in Hyattsville as the result of an automobile accident involving an unidentified driver.

Brightwell was fatally injured when a car operated by Robert M. Fleshman, of Edmonston, was struck in a downpour of rain at the overhead bridge in Hyattsville by an automobile operated by a Pennsylvania driver, who gave his name as Luther Thompson, of Philadelphia. He disappeared after treatment in a hospital, police said.

Insull Granted Defense Plea

Athens, Aug. 30 (AP).—Forest Harness, representing the United States Attorney General's office, announced today that he will allow Samuel Insull to see the indictment papers under which his extradition to Chicago is sought in order to enable him to prepare a defense.

An appeals court yesterday sanctioned the detention of the former utilities operator pending a second attempt of the United States to extradite him.

It appeared that yesterday's hearing might be the last for a long time, since the evidence must be obtained from the United States and thoroughly examined and sifted.

Questioned on the case, Harness replied:

"Well, we have gone thoroughly into the matter, and if we were not sure we would not have filed a second request for extradition. However, I can not prejudge."

Insull spent a quiet day in the nursing home where he was taken following his detention. He received newspapermen and friends.

Farm Home Burns Near Poolesville

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday practically destroyed the home of Eaton Poole on his farm 2 miles from Poolesville, Md. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

The fire was the third one of mysterious origin in the Poolesville section in the last two weeks. Similar fires destroyed barns belonging to Robert W. Oxley and Mrs. L. E. Poole.

The Gaithersburg-Washington Grove and Rockville Volunteer Fire Departments responded to the alarm. The fire had gained such headway they were able to save only a few belongings.

Slayer's Friend Sentenced.

Flint, Mich., Aug. 30 (AP).—Probation during the coming school year, residence with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio, and work in his uncle's radio shop, was the sentence pronounced on William Terwilliger, jr., 16, for his fight with Balfe MacDonald May 27, the morning Balfe killed his mother at her home here.

McSwain Backs Aid for Larger Capital Airport

Legislator Thinks Congress Will Approve Closing of Military Road.

Tangible results from efforts to arouse public interest in the inadequacy of the airport here were realized yesterday when Representative John J. McSwain, chairman of the House committee on military affairs, volunteered to sponsor legislation necessary to the closing of Military road which separates the Washington and Hoover fields.

Mr. McSwain said he would vote for legislation necessary to enlarge the airport by adding to it land now included in the Arlington Experimental Farm.

Mr. McSwain who is cofather, with Representative W. Frank James, of the Army Air Corps, commended The Washington Post for its efforts to arouse public sentiment to the necessity of adequate airport facilities here.

Called Unsuited to Purposes.

"I agree with Gatty and all other experienced and widely traveled persons that the airport on the south side of the Potomac is a disgrace, not only to the City of Washington, but to the American Nation," Mr. McSwain declared. "Although wonderful improvement has been made in recent years by filling and draining, it is dangerously small and unsuited to its purposes.

"Legislation closing the Military road will have to come before the Committee on Military Affairs. I know this committee is air-minded and will lend a sympathetic hearing to that proposition.

"In view of the fact that travel along the southeast side of Arlington Cemetery may detour either across the Arlington Memorial Bridge or eastward and then northward through a suburb of Alexandria, little inconvenience will be caused by the closing of the Military road. In fact, this same committee last year recommended a bill, which was enacted into law, granting to the State of Virginia a right of way for highway purposes along the south and east side of the Arlington Cemetery. Since the construction of the Francis Scott Key Bridge it is the more direct route between the city and Fort Myer.

"I can not anticipate in our committee any difficulty in recommending necessary legislation to close the Military road. I, therefore, believe such legislation will pass the House, and for the same reason believe it will pass the Senate.

Ready to Sponsor Legislation.

"I stand ready to sponsor such legislation. I also will vote for any legislation necessary to enlarge the landing field on the north side by either granting in fee simple, or leasing for 50 years, enough of the Arlington Experimental Station to make the landing field long enough and wide enough to insure safety for landing and taking off.

"I think the District Commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce, as well as other organizations representing the public, should appoint a joint committee with power to make decisions and to agree upon a plan of action. Let the plan be definite and practical, and then let everybody get behind it and present the same at the next session of Congress. By this time next year Washington should have an airport that American citizens can be proud of, and not have to hang their heads in shame when the subject is mentioned.

"Washingtonians are primarily interested in the matter, but all Americans are interested in it, too, and so far as the House is concerned I am ready to lead the fight to have a decent airport at the Capital of the Nation which invented and developed aviation.

Tribute to Wrights Urged.

"Our National Capital's air terminal ought to be made in some way to memorialize the efforts of Orville and Wilbur Wright. For hundreds of years men all over the world have been struggling to solve the problems of mechanical flight. It was two great American citizens who accomplished that feat, and their names must never be forgotten.

"We have a Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, where the Wright brothers lived. But some name can be given to the field here which will bring their names and deeds to memory every time the word is used. Such a combination as Willvill, composed of syllables in their first names, would imply affection and familiarity, and would be a fitting tribute to these men of humble station but lofty genius."

Mrs. R. A. Hercher Rests in Arlington

Widow, 87, Was Collateral Descendant of Ethan Allen.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rosalie Allen Hercher, widow of Dr. Ferdinand Hercher, of Louisville, were held yesterday at Chambers funeral home. Interment was in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mrs. Hercher died here Sunday at the age of 87. She was born on a homestead in Clark County, Ind., founded by her great-grandfather, who was a nephew of Ethan Alen. Orphaned in early childhood, she was raised in the household of her cousin, Michael Kerr, then Speaker of the House of Representatives. With Dr. Hercher she came to Washington in 1884.

Woman Scalded by Exploding Can.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—Mrs. Joseph Stokes, of this city, was burned yesterday when a can of tomatoes which she had prepared burst and the scalding contents splashed in her lap. She was removed to a local hospital. Attendants said her condition was serious, with the right eye especially affected.

Rover Would Again Choose Law if Renewing Career

U. S. Prosecutor Has Been Student of Courts From Boyhood Days.

A Post reporter yesterday asked the District attorney what he would make his lifes' aim if he should start over again?

"Why, I'd be a lawyer," said Mr Rover. There was considerable surprise in his tones as to any doubt about what he'd do all over again.

Ever since Mr. Rover was a knee-trousered kid in Gonzaga Primary School, he haunted the courts. He ogled the lawyers with envy. That was the job for a guy and that was the job Mr. Rover landed in.

"The law has always been my main interest, my guiding purpose in life," said Mr. Roover yesterday.

For the first time in the history of local legal circles, the District Supreme Court docket is about up to scratch, always for almost instant trial of the next case.

Leo Rover, the short-trousered urchin who haunted the courtrooms, has achieved an ambition.

Three Youths Held In Brawl Murder

Victim Killed, One Says, When He Refused to Play "Leap Frog."

Weston, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.). At a hearing by Mag. J. Lee Fox, of Sutton, Braxton county, three youths were held for the grand jury on a charge of murder. They are Glen Ocheltree, William Brown and "Mutt" Lipps.

Lipps assertedly confessed he assisted in the murder of Hugh Ocheltree in 1931 and implicated the others. He said Ocheltree was stoned when he refused to play "leap frog" at a drunken brawl. One of the stones rendered him unconscious, and when he failed to revive, Lipps said William Brown placed a revolver to his head and killed him.

According to the confession the body was weighted and tossed into the Kanawha River. Officers have searched for the body since the confession but it has not been found.

High School Demanded By St. Marys Negroes

Leonardtown, Md., Aug. 30 (Spl.). The colored United Parent-Trustee Association, of St. Marys County, held their bimonthly meeting at Banneker School, at Loveville, this week. A committee was appointed to again insist upon the board of education to open a high school for the coming scholastc year.

There is no high school provided for the colored children of St. Marys County, and it has been necessary for the families of children of high school age to send them either to other counties or nearby cities in order to secure this higher education.

$12,000 Fire in Bedford, Va.

Bedford, Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.). The large store building and dwelling of David Updike, at Huddleston, 18 miles south of Bedford, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 4:30 yesterday morning. Several outbuildings, merchandise and household furniture were also destroyed, entailing a loss of $12,000.

Pastor Shoots

Keeps Tent Meeting Order by Wounding Pair for Heckling.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 30 (AP). Shot by a minister who told police he was trying to maintain order at his tent revival meeting, two young men were under treatment in a hospital here today.

No charges were filed against the Rev. Clarence Morgan, who had been deputized by police when he complained that a gang of youths attempted to break up his services.

The wounded pair—James Serra and Irvin Lemon—were accused by Mr. Morgan of participating in a disturbance.

"I pleaded with the gang for several nights to leave us alone," the evangelist explained.

"I went out to talk to them again last night, but they just hooted and jeered. Then I attempted to arrest Serra and the shooting followed. I hope there will be no more disturbances, but if they come around again they will be arrested."

Noted Airmen Are Expected To Assail Code

Wage and Hour Clauses in Proposed Pact to Be Fought.

With former Representative F. L. LaGuardia serving as their chief counsel a group of noted fliers representing the Air Line Pilots Association are expected to oppose vigorously the code of fair competition for the aviation industry on which hearings open here today.

They will fight the wage and hour limitations contained in the tentative code submitted by the country's leading operators.

The pilots argue that the $250 minimum is less than half their present earnings and that provisions of the code would increase their working hours by about 40 per cent.

The proposed code asks that recognition be taken of the fact aviation is a new science, that its personnel must be highly skilled, that the fliers are obliged to work irregular hours and that the aviation carriers assume a serious obligation in carrying the United States mail and passengers.

The pilots here for the hearings include E. Hamilton Lee, who has spent more hours in the air than any other pilot; David L. Behncke, president of the Air Lines Pilots Association; Mal Freeburg, Clyde Holbrook, Charles M. Drayton, John Neale, R. F. Cole, and John Tilton.

Dr. Ralph Greene, former president of the Aero Medical Association, will testify on behalf of the pilots, it was announced last night at the fliers' headquarters, at the Hamilton Hotel. The Aero Medical Association is a group composed of Army, Navy and Department of Commerce flight surgeons.

Squadrons Hop Today.

Two Marine aviation squadrons which are to attend the international air races in Chicago September 1 to 4 will leave Quantico, Va., this morning, arriving at the Century of Progress Exposition at 3:30 p. m. After circling the Chicago area they will land at 4 p. m.

One squadron, under the command of Lieut. Col. Ross E. Rowell, and a Ford transport plane will leave at 7 a. m. This squadron will refuel at Columbus. The fighting plane squadron will take off at 8 a. m., refueling at Dayton, Ohio.

Admirals Board Macon.

Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, left the Naval Air Station at Anacostia yesterday afternoon for Lakehurst, N. J., where they boarded the dirigible Macon for a training flight scheduled for early this morning.

Accompanying the two admirals were Commander Alfred E. Montgomery, Lieut. Comdr. Jack Duncan, aid to Admiral Standley, and Lieut. Thomas H. Robbins, jr., aid to Admiral King.

Marital Rift Claim Revealed In Lamson Case

San Jose, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP).—A cry "Why did I marry her!" came from the lips of David A. Lamson after his wife, Allene, was found dead with her head crushed last Memorial Day, a deputy sheriff testified today in Lamson's murder trial.

Other testimony that all was not as happy within the walls of the Lamsons' Stanford University campus home as pictured by the defense, was offered by the State as it sought to strengthen its contention that Mrs. Lamson, pretty campus Y. W. C. A. secretary, was slain because of marital strife.

Lamson was seated in the patio of his home, his sister, Dr. Margaret Lamson, kneeling before him, Deputy Sheriff John Moore testified. Both were weeping, Moore said, and then suddenly Lamson raised his hands and cried out, "My God, why did I marry her!"

Dr. Lamson, the deputy continued, put her arms about her brother and said, "David, don't say that."

Moore's testimony followed the declaration of another surprise State witness, Frank J. Taylor, Los Altos writer, that Lamson told him three weeks before his wife's death that Allene Thorpe Lamson "could not be happy until there was a complete separation."

Girls Leave Camp On Kidnap Threat

Philadelphia Society Group Departs for Home Under Guard.

Bradford, N. H., Aug. 30 (AP).—Ninety girls and 16 counselors from an exclusive camp in North Sutton entrained here today under heavy guard for their Philadelphia homes.

Three weeks ago one of the campers, Pretty Downes, 15-year-old daughter of James R. Downes, Pennsylvania Railroad official, was threatened with kidnaping, and the camp, on the shores of Lake Kezar, was guarded by National Guardsmen, police and private detectives.

77 Gifts Promised for Fair Bride.

Lovingston, Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—The committee chosen to select presents for the bride-to-be of Nelson, at the public wedding to take place at the county fair, Shipman, Va., the night of October 10, are receiving many applications from engaged girls. So far 77 gifts, including money, have been promised. The names of the lucky couple will not be known until September 10.

Family Hikes

Weavers With 7 Children Have Traveled 2,300 Miles.

Waynesboro, Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.). Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weaver and seven children arrived here last night en route from Florida to Pennsylvania.

That sounds just like another personal notice, but it really is the latest hard luck story. The family walked into Waynesboro.

The only thing they had on wheels was a small express wagon of the toy variety loaded down with their bedclothing and pulled by two small girls. They have been on the road for the last fifteen weeks and have traveled 2,300 miles, for about 1,900 of which they managed to find rides. The remainder of the distance they walked with the mother carrying a baby and the father assisting a 3-year-old child most of the distance. They could only accept rides in trucks which could accommodate the entire family.

Canada Limits Oats Sent United Kingdom

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—Discussions between Canadian and United Kingdom representatives in an effort to meet the objections of British agriculturists to huge imports of oats ended amicably today when the Canadians promised to restrict their exports to the average of the past two years—around 6,000,000 bushels.

The new British duty on foreign oats and products will amount to 20 per cent and valorem.

Stork May Stop At Walker's Villa

Former New York Mayor Expecting Addition, Says Friend.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—A hint that former Mayor and Mrs. James J. Walker are expecting a baby was given today by A. C. Blumenthal, home from a visit with the couple on the Riviera.

"They both talk about the baby all the time," said Blumenthal, a close friend of Walker and his second wife, the former Betty Compton.

He returned yesterday from a European trip, during which he stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Walker in their villa at Cannes. They have been living there since a honeymoon tour of Italy after their marriage at Cannes City Hall last April 18.

Arlington Burial For Naval Flier

Rites for Lieut. Hill Also Held at St. John's Church.

Lieut. C. Phillips Hill, jr., naval flier who was killed in Honolulu in an airplane accident, was buried in Arlington Cemetery yesterday after impressive ceremonies held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillips Hill, sr., 1828 Wyoming avenue northwest, and at St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette Square.

Full military honors were paid to the young flier, and the officiating clergymen included the Rev. Dr. Sydney K. Evans, chief chaplain of the United States Navy; the Rev. Dr. Edwin C. Niver, librarian of the College of Preachers, Washington Cathedral, and the Rev. L. Shearer, assistant rector of St. John's Church.

After the interment of Lieut. Hill in Arlington, his funeral party attended services for Radioman Hovey, who was killed in the same airplane accident with Hill, at Pearl Harbor, West T. H., on August 9. Members of Hovey's family, who were from the Middle West, were unable to be present at the Arlington obsequies.

Henry Yost Rites To Be Held Today

Stansbury Masonic Lodge Will Have Charge of Funeral.

Funeral services for Henry Yost, sr., 93, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2 p. m. today by the Stansbury Lodge, F. A. A. M., at Grace Reformed Church, Fifteenth and O streets northwest.

Mr. Yost was organizer of the Order of the Eastern Star here and first patron of the Ruth Chapter, No. 1. He served as master of Stansbury Lodge, No. 24, F. A. A. M., in 1899, and was organizer of Brightwood Royal Arch Chapter, No. 9, serving as its high priest in 1891 and 1892. Mr. Yost was a meat marketer here for more than 40 years.

Surviving him are a son, Henry Yost, jr., and four daughters, Mrs. Clifford C. Weinberger, Mrs. P. Frank Pollard, Mrs. Herbert F. Ivers and Mrs. Arthur C. Shaw.

Maj. Erlenkotter, Field Artillery, Dies

Maj. Herman Erlenkotter, U. S. A., field artillery, died at Walter Reed Hospital yesterday.

He was born in Hoboken, N. J., January 18, 1885, and was graduated from the Military Academy in 1909. The major also was a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology, Command and General Staff School and Army War College. He had been on duty in the Inspector General's Department, Second Corps Headquarters, New York. The widow, Mrs. Eleanor Erlenkotter, survives.

Mary Pickford Asked To Fight Movie Code

Hollywood, Aug. 30 (AP).—Representatives of motion picture extra and "bit" players have appealed to Mary Pickford to take their side in Washington hearings on the motion picture code.

A telegram was sent to the actress in New York asserting that the proposed code submitted by movie producers would "cut our wage scale 60 per cent."

Cattle Raisers Seek U. S. Help On Low Prices

Russell County Farmers, at Mass Meting, Say Ruin Faces Them.

Bristol, Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.). Alarmed at prevailing low prices for cattle, producers of Russell County, Va., at a mass meeting yesterday at Lebanon, asked Federal intervention to correct a situation which they charged will bring ruin to cattlemen in this section.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to Senator Harry F. Byrd, Representative John W. Flannagan, George C. Peery, State Senator S. J. Thompson and the marketing association. The Congress members were asked to lay the problem before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Russell County annually produces 3,500 export cattle, weighing approximately 1,550 pounds each, and 15,000 smaller cattle. The fat cattle are ready to market, but none has been shipped because of low prices. The county's farm income is largely from cattle.

The mass meeting expressed hope that other cattle producing counties would take similar action.

Davis Opposes Arm-Debt Link

Envoy, on Way to Europe, Glad U. S. Is Dropping Concessions Idea.

S. S. Washington at Sea, Aug. 30 (AP).—Norman H. Davis, American Ambassador-at-large, declared today he was happy the United States was drawing away from a policy of making the war debt concessions conditional on European disarmament.

He is returning to Europe after conferring with President Roosevelt. He will visit London and Paris before going to Geneva in September for a meeting of the disarmament bureau.

The ambassador said the Government since March wisely had taken the view the two questions must be isolated.

"I certainly am against linking them," said Davis, "because each is a tough enough nut to crack alone. Linking disarmament with debts hurts the chances of settlement of either problem."

Tobacco Crop Control Plan Nears Completion

(United Press.)

A general program for the tobacco growing industry exclusive of cigar types will be completed within a few days, J. B. Hutson, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, tobacco section, predicted last night after a conference with nearly 40 manufacturers and exporters.

S. Clay Williams, president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston Salem, proposed that instead of a processing tax similar to those for cotton and wheat, manufacturers adopt a surcharge on internal revenue stamps, which would be used to finance a production adjustment program for growers.

$299,779 Drop In Telephones' RevenueShown

Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.'s operating statement for July, just filed with the Public Utilities Commission, shows operating revenues for the month of $726,571, or $18,269 less than in July, 1932. Total revenues were also below the corresponding month of last year by $21,278. Expenses and interest for July this year were $571,270, leaving a balance of $155,305.

For the first seven months of 1933, total revenues amounted to $5,303,544, a decrease of $299,779 from the corresponding months of the previous year. Expenses and interest for the first seven months of this year were $4,316,982, leaving a balance of $986,562, which was $39,369 less than the balance reported for the same period of 1932.

The cost of telephone plant in service at the end of July was $34,436,622. According to John A. Remon, general manager of the company, the net return for the first seven months, on an annual basis, was 5.81 per cent.

6,253 Less Telephones.

There was a reduction during July of 1,196 telephones in the District of Columbia. On July 31, the number of telephones in service was 172,827, which is 6,253 less than the number in service on the same date a year ago.

During July 17,103,000 telephone calls were made, approximately 321,000 less than were made in the same month last year.

United States banks will cooperate to the fullest extent with the Federal Government in its efforts to reduce unemployment and restore normal business activity, F. M. Law, first vice president, American Bankers Association, declares in a statement in the current issue of the association's journal, entitled "A Basis for Banking by Code."

Group Cooperation Urged.

He states cooperation among banks themselves is the first step and explains that for several years his organization has aided bankers to establish regional clearing houses, to standardize banking practices and create a solid basis of fair competition, before which "injurious competitive practices were reducing bank revenues to the vanishing point."

"Banks must compete, yet it is surely a development of extraordinary importance to the nation that banking competition is being confined more and more to suc.. things as service and soundness of policies, rather than high interest rates, free services and concessions to important customers," Mr. Law says in part.

"In view of the fact that it has become the announced policy of the Federal government to prevent wasteful riva y between various elements of an industry, it is significant to look back over the things which bankers have done in the past few years to build a solid basis for fair competition.

Held Effective Instruments.

"In 447 clearing houses, whose members hold approximately 85 per cent of all bank deposits in the United States, banks have an effective instrument for local group ' n in working out agreements for fair competition."

Trading slackened yesterday on Washington Stock Exchange. All transactions were in Mergenthaler Linotype. Fifty shares of this stock changed hands in lots of 10, 10, 10, and 20 shares at 25½, last sale quotation.

151 Railroads Change Losses To Big Profits

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday announced figures showing that 151 major railroads in the United States as a group had a net income in June of $21,276,730, after all taxes and expenses were paid, as compared with a deficit of $20,632,703 for June, 1932.

The report showed the operating income of the class 1 railroads was above $59,000,000 in June, more than four times what it was in June of last year.

For the first six months of the year the figures revealed all class 1 roads as a group to have a deficit of $101,710,247 after all expenses had been paid, as compared with a deficit of $125,314,233 for the first six months of last year.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Railroad statements for July issued so far indicate a total net operating income for all class 1 carriers of approximately $63,760,000 against actual operating income of $11,596,852 for July, 1932, an increase of about 450 per cent. The figure also promises to exceed that of July, 1931, in spite of a decrease in gross revenues.

Gross revenues are estimated at about $291,700,000 against $237,813,054 in the same month last year, an increase of 22.7 per cent.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Cotton cloths—Brokers report that the market is not holding either the strength or volume of business that were evident at the start of the week. Print cloth prices have eased about ⅛ cent a yard.

Cocoa—Arrivals of cocoa beans in August ran more than double the figures for the same month last year, according to trade interests. Receipts so far exceed 268,000 bags.

Machinery—"Inquiries are still abundant," says the American Machinist, "but manufacturers, wondering where the Blue Eagle will finally light, are going slow with new commitments."

Molasses—Distillers continue to show an active interest in the market and prices for blackstrap have been lifted slightly in some quarters.

Linseed oil—Demand is light, and brokers report that bids are too scarce to accurately test the market.

Men's clothing—Mill operators are said to be of the opinion that the apparel produced during the last three months of active operations will be rapidly absorbed. Current retail sales show a substantial gain over last year, it is stated.

Cotton Drops In Liquidation Selling Wave

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Cotton lost some ground today under liquidation and Southern selling. December contracts after declining to 9.65 during the forenoon sold up to 9.83, but lost the improvement, closing at 9.66. The general market ended barely steady at net losses of 13 to 19 points.

Initial prices were 7 to 12 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and scattering liquidation. October sold off to 9.45 and May to 10.10 late in the morning, making net losses of about 17 to 18 points. Offerings tapered off at these figures and rallies followed on covering and a scattering demand promoted by improvement in grains and stocks.

For a time the market showed considerable firmness, with October selling up to 9.65 and May to 10.27, but this advance brought out increased Southern selling and prices eased, closing within 2 or 3 points of the lowest for the day on most of the active positions.

Liverpool Market Steady

Liverpool cables reported a steady market there on scattered buying and some month-end price fixing, but said business in cotton goods at Manchester was quiet with the turnover restricted by prevailing uncertainties.

The day's detailed weather reports showed rains distributed quite generally over the Eastern and Central belt, except South Georgia, with none in Oklahoma. In Texas rains were general in the south and scattered in other sections.

Trade houses were reported fairly good buyers of October and December during the early trading. The demand being attributed to price fixing.

The weekly report of the Weather Bureau was considered about a standoff according to some of the local traders, and had little apparent effect on the market. Exports today 32,361, making 496,425 so far this seoson. Port receipts 29,886. U. S. port stocks 2,976,676.

Cottonseed Oil.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Bleachable cottonseed oil was quiet and easy today, with prices down on liquidation and local selling promoted by reports of difficulties in moving spot oil. Stocks Dragged Lower By Dwindling Turnover

Professional and Routine Trend Apparent; Oil Equities Fairly Firm; Gold Mining Issues Upturn Change Into Losses; Sales, 2,170,780 Shares.

Wheat, on the other hand, rallied vigorously after an early sag. Its recovery served to check the downward swing in shares during the last hour, but the list slipped again at the close and net losses of a point or more were numerous.

Trade statistics coming to hand at midweek served to emphasize the previously apparent seasonal contraction in industry. Mining shares, stimulated yesterday by President Roosevelt's gold order, appeared to have discounted the prospective improvement in earnings as a result of better selling prices. They met considerable profit taking and finished with numerous losses of a point or so.

Professional Trend Apparent.

With the market facing a three-day vacation, traders seemed willing to close out commitments and reluctant to acquire new lines, hence prices receded easily under moderate pressure. Transactions, on the whole, appeared professional and routine.

The trend was readily influenced by orders either way, as was the case in wheat. Around mid-afternoon cotton had a flurry when a rumor of imminent Russian recognition was floated, but that commodity was off 65 cents a bale, net. Stock sales totaled 2,170,780 shares.

Oil equities were fairly firm as the industry's code date approached. Utilities also braced a bit, but rails and industrials were sluggish. Washington's repeal vote, like Missouri's, found the wet issues indifferent.

Steel Production Off.

Steel production, said Iron Age, has gone to a 47 per cent rate from 50, and there is no suggestion of a trend reversal "outside of a seasonal upturn in automobile production." Much of the recession, the review pointed out, is attributable to uncertainties over NRA readjustments; also, consumers are apparently well stocked. Shares representing the industry, including U. S. Steel and Bethlehem, were mildly reactionary. Consolidated Gas was firm to the close.

American Can, General Electric, American Telephone, Du Pont, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Western Union were down 1 to 2.

Allied Chemical reduced a loss of more than 5 points to 3¼ net. Homestake Mining dropped 21 points, then rallied to close 6 lower.

Looking to foreign exchanges for possible repercussions from the new gold order, it was obvious that operators were somewhat uncertain. The dollar had a fair rally in the morning, then tended toward narrow movements. Yesterday talk of a "free gold market" brought a late reaction in our currency. Pending the expected Treasury's regulations governing controlled sale of newly mined gold, the market decided to go slowly.

Money weakened. The stock exchange posted a record-low call loan renewal rate of ¾ of 1 per cent, thus breaking with the 1 per cent figure, which had been regarded as artificial in view of general conditions in credit markets. Funds were unavailable unofficially at half of 1 per cent.

Late in the trading day bankers' acceptance rates were cut another eighth, reflecting a stronger investment demand and reduction in yields on Government obligations through purchases by the Reserve System.

Clothing Industry Has Sharp Upturn

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Clothes may not make the man, but new ones are almost synonymous with a new job, especially if the old suit has served courageously through the depression.

As a result of increased general trade and the rising tide of employment, apparel makers are looking forward to the most active fall season in several years.

Both in units and value, production during the past five months has exceeded last year's record by 30 to 50 per cent. Many factories are working at capacity.

Some conception of the eagerness with which consumers are replacing their battered raiment is provided by the July indices of employment. In the men's clothing industry, the employment index stood at 76.2—based on 1926 as 100—as against 56.4 for July last year and 76.3 for July, 1931. In the hosiery and knitting goods trades the figures are still more impressive, with the employment index at 90.6, as compared with 67.5 for July a year ago, and 79.9 for July, 1931.

Mixed Course Features Bonds In Lifeless Day

Prime Investment Groups Lose Fractionally; Sales Sink to $9,638,000.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Bonds displayed little interest in generally lifeless trading today and, at the close, prices were mixed.

While a few specialties were fairly active at times, the majority of listed issues recorded only minimum turn-overs. Sales totaled but $9,638,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans eased one-tenth of a point.

Fractional losses were the rule in most of the prime investment groups. Owing to a late moderate rally in the speculative categories, the majority of net price changes here were also unimportant. Traders apparently were watching stocks and commodities for a cue as to future commitments. Business and industrial news was a little spotty. Seasonal relaxation was displayed by both steel production and electric power output.

Among the rails, Western Pacific first 5s recovered 2¼ points, following announcement of the road's officials that September 1 interest payments had been arranged. Allegheny 5s last 2 points and Chesapeake Corporation 5s were off 1¾, these issues apparently reflecting disappointment over the failure of the Chesapeake Corporation to follow the Chesapeake & Ohio in raising dividend rates. The latter road's bonds, however, also were slightly lower. Loans of Louisville & Nashville were up a point or more.

Maturities of Amreican & Foreign Power, Armour & Co., Paramount and Phillips Petroleum were a trifle higher. Those of Warner Bros., United Drug, United States Rubber, International Telephone, Consolidated Coal and Kresge Foundation were somewhat heavy.

United States Government securities eased and foreign obligations were irregular.

London—The stock exchange today was quieter. Some realizing was observed in gold shares on the lower price of bar gold. Attractive prices of gilt-edged securities reached in recent recessions induced buying which resulted in advances in this section. International issues were irregular and the market closed quiet.

Paris—In absence of any encouragement from Wall street, business on the bourse was inactive. Oil shares, however, were an exception and strengthened on covering. The closing was steady.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse were fairly sustained, especially mining shares. Reichsbank issues were firm. Prices generally declined fractionally at the close.

Stocks.

Stock prices were dragged down by a combination of circumstances, the chief ones apparently being the lull before the three-day holiday, lack of bullish news and decidedly dwindling sales. Professional and routine trends were evident. Oils held fairly firm. Gold shares lost as a natural reaction to their upswing Tuesday. Utilities braced somewhat in the afternoon. Sales dropped to 2,170,780 shares. The composite price lost nine-tenths of a point.

Bonds.

Bonds experienced a lifeless day. The prime investment loans lost fractionally. Western Pacific climbed 2½ points. Chesapeake Corporation declined 1¾, despite the increased dividend rate announced by Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. The turnover sank to $9,638,000. The index lost one-tenth of a point.

Curb.

Curb oil shares rose, while the gold issues lost. Other groups largely regained their losses near the close of the day. It was an irregular market throughout. Trading dwindled to 320,000 shares.

Wheat.

All grains staged a late rally on a variety of bullish news—such as Argentina signing the London pact and droughts in that country and Australia. Wheat was 2⅞ cents higher at the close. September wheat sold at 86⅝; May at 94⅞.

Cotton.

Waves of liquidation and Southern selling forced wheat down. The market closed barely steady at net losses of 13 to 19 points. Considerable firmness was shown for a time, but was later dissipated. December sold at 9.66; October, at 9.48.

Rubber.

Sugar.

Both raw and refined sugar were unchanged at 3.60 and 4.70, respectively.

Coffee.

Silver.

Gold.

Dollar.

The United States dollar gained on foreign exchanges. It stood in New York, with reference to other currencies, $4.51¾ to the English pound; 5.54½ cents to the French franc, and 33.74 cents to the German mark.

Grains' Prices Climb Steadily In Late Rallies

Wheat Rises 2⅞ Cents on News That Argentina Had Signed Pact.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—Grains abruptly "about faced" today and turned sharply upward late in the session. Reports that Argentina had signed the London wheat pact helped the advance.

Led by wheat with a rise of more than 6 cents a bushel from early low levels, all grains finished well above the previous close. Weakness in early dealings was acute, September liquidation causing distress in all grains. Wheat quotations were down to the lowest levels reached since June 23. But better buying developed at the bottom and the upward reaction was the strongest in some time.

Wheat closed strong at gains of 2⅝ to 2⅞ cents a bushel, compared with yesterday's finish; corn, also strong and 1⅞ to 2½ cents up; oats, ¾ to 1⅞ higher; rye, 1¾ advanced, and provisions ranging from a 25-cent decline to gains of 8 cents.

Wheat Prices Toboggan.

Wheat opened with a mixed tone and soon declined sharply under pressure of persistent liquidation of September contracts by traders unwilling to accept wheat on the first delivery date, Friday. The pressure carried prices down more than 3 cents a bushel, with offerings heavier than demand. May wheat declined below 90 cents, hitting bottom at 89¼, but rallies from that level were continuous.

Belief that September liquidation had run its course brought many buyers back into the market and May wheat rallied more than 6 cents, to a peak of 95⅝. Bullish news overnight was paid scant heed in early rounds.

The drought situation in Argentina was said to be nearing an acute stage with only small rains in parts of Australia. The Liverpool market was also much stronger than expected, failing to follow the drastic decline in Chicago yesterday.

Professional Bears Routed.

Professional bears were routed by the late upturn which forced many of them to cover their commitments. This buying also served to push the reaction along and the market was buoyant at the end with buying on the broadest scale of the week.

Liquidation of September corn held prices of the yellow cereal in check for a time, but the upswing in wheat carried corn also sharply higher. Corn displayed more resistance to the selling than did wheat and only declined around 2 cents a bushel, but the rallies were also shorter than in wheat. Corn shorts were slow to cover on the bulge.

Oats idled up and down with the leading cereals. Rye and barley were firmer than wheat early and quickly turned upward with improvement of the leading bread grain.

Provisions were under pressure of liquidation, but recovered somewhat with grains.

Clarksburg Lumber Mill Plans Additions

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—What is said to be the largest hardwood lumber manufacturing plant in the world is to be made even larger.

It is the Meadow River Lumber Co., at Rainelle. Increased demand for choice lumber has led to the construction of additional buildings to provide storage space for kiln-dried lumber and factory room for finished specialties, such as wood demanded for ballroom floors and for trimmings. About 400 men are employed at the plant, many having been with the concern for years.

Utility Files Suit On Valuation Rate

Company at Martinsburg Objects to $300,000 Intangible Figure.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—Potomac Light & Power Co., a public utility with extensive holdings throughout this section, has filed objection to the valuation placed upon its intangibles, the first action of the kind in the State, court observers here said today.

Counsel for the plaintiff company appeared at a special term of Berkeley Circuit Court yesterday and recorded the appeal. It was ordered placed on a special docket to be heard October 2. Notice to the prosecutors in Berkeley, Jefferson, Mineral and Morgan Counties, where the affected property lies, and the State tax commissioner will be advised of the objection.

The company prays for an appeal from a valuation of $300,000 on intangibles imposed by the State board of public works for the purposes of taxation.

Rubber Manufacturers Again Tackle Code Plans

The meeting was closed and was still in session late in the afternoon, and no announcements were forthcoming.

New England Business Rise Continues; Many Obtain Jobs

Boston, Aug. 30 (Spl.).—The National Shawmut Bank, of Boston, in its current New England Business, reports a continued betterment for this section of the country.

July was the fourth consecutive month to register an improvement in general business and industrial actvity in New England. With the exception of car loadings and construction, all indexes were at the highest levels since March.

Highlights of the situation are: Greater employment and higher average weekly earnings in manufacturing establishments; productive activity at the highest level since January, 1930, and higher retail prices, although they are still lagging behind rapidly advancing wholesale prices.

The bank says: "Of outstanding importance during July was the vigorous organization of the National Recovery Administration to put into immediate operation measures designed to give further stimulous to the general improvement in business. New England manufacturers have shown a high degree of cooperation in the speedy adoption of codes which are considered vital to the success of the Government's program of industrial recovery."

Western Maryland's Net Totals $155,901

Baltimore, Aug. 30 (Spl.).—The Western Maryland Railway Co. reports July operating revenues of $1,226,831, as compared with only $763,190 in the like month last year.

Net income after fixed charges was $155,901, as compared with a net loss last year of $69,692 in July, 1932.

Trade in Ireland Suffers Setback

Imports dropped from £49,000,000 to £35,000,000. (The pound at the opening of the market in London today was $4.56¼.) Exports dropped from £33,000,000 to £19,000,000.

In the first seven months of the present year the Free State's exports to the United Kingdom declined by more than £6,500,000 from the total for the corresponding period last year.

A trade war is going on between England and the Free State as a result of the Dublin government's refusal to pay land annuities to the British.

Chicago Pit Closes Saturday.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—The Chicago Board of Trade will be closed Saturday and Monday, Labor Day.

Electric Power Output Again Up

Rise of 13 Per Cent Over Similar 1932 Week Reported.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Electric power output last week was 13.5 per cent above that for the same period last year. This was the smallest gain since the week ended July 1, and compared with the previous week's rise of 15.2 per cent. Production also was down moderately from that reported in the period ended August 19.

The out-turn, as announced by the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,630,394,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,650,205,000 in the previous week and 1,436,440,000 in the corresponding week last year.

In reporting output for various sections of the country the institute split up some of the major geographic divisions to more clearly indicate the consumption trend in Western areas. The added divisions are West Central and Rocky Mountain. The former gained 3.8 per cent over last year compared with the previous week's rise of 4.8 per cent over 1933; Rocky Mountain was up 27.1, against 26.9; New England, up 16.5, against 18.7; Middle Atlantic, up 10.2, against 9.9; Central Industrial, up 18.2, against 20.4; Southern States, up 11.6, against 18.1, and Pacific Coast, up 5.9, against 9.3.

Bank in West Virginia Makes Part Payment

Gary, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.).—A 20 per cent dividend, amounting to approximately $100,000, was distributed to depositors of the closed Gary National Bank yesterday, making a total of 45 per cent depositors have received.

The Gary National Bank was closed in October, 1931. The receiver for this bank and the First National Bank, of Anawalt, which closed at the same time, announces that depositors of the Anawalt Bank have been paid 48 per cent.

"Buy British" Plan Reflected In Trade Gains

Empire Countries' Exports to England Increase; Their Imports Up.

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—The "buy British" trend of United Kingdom trade is revealed in an anaylsis just published by the board of trade of the kingdom's exports and imports during the first half of 1933.

Imports into the United Kingdom from British countries were valued at 38.78 per cent of imports from all sources during the period, compared with 36.23 per cent in the first half of 1932 and 31.36 per cent in the first half of 1924.

Exports of United Kingdom produce to British countries acounted for 44.12 per cent of the total value of shipments to all destinations, as against 44.82 per cent in the first half of 1932 and 40.71 per cent in the first half of 1924, the decline from the 1932 figure being accounted for by the smaller purchases of the Irish Free State.

Total Trade Slumps.

How much total trade has slumped is shown in the analysis, which reveals that the recorded value of all imports during the first half of 1933 was 11.2 per cent below that of the corresponding period a year earlier, representing, if allowance is made for price level changes, a decrease in volume of 3.2 per cent; while the decline in recorded values of exports of United Kingdom produce and manufactures was 6.3 per cent or, when allowance for price level changes is made, a decline of 3.4 per cent in the volume of domestic exports.

The half-year's imports consigned from British countries, when compared with the figures for the same period last year, show a larger proportion being received from each of the dominions except the Irish Free State, while among the colonies Ceylon was the only one showing an appreciable decrease.

Canada Has Notable Increase.

Canada showed the most notable increase, from 4.81 to 6.37 per cent, which more than counterbalanced so far as the Western Hemisphere was concerned, decreases in the share consigned from the United States and Argentina.

The downward trend in the proportion of imports consigned from Europe has been a feature of the trade for more than a year, significant increases coming only for Roumania and Sweden.

Europe and Asia were the only continents to take a smaller proportion of United Kingdom exports of domestic products, largely due in the case of Europe to the reduced exports to the Irish Free State.

An improvement in the case of South America was mainly due to increases in Colombia, Argentina, and Brazil, while an important decline registered by the United States was offset by increases to British countries in North and Central America.

International Paper Co. Cuts Quarter's Loss

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—International Paper & Power Co. today reported June quarter net loss of $1,535,417 against losses of $2,239,072 in the preceding quarter and $1,856,237 in the second quarter of 1932.

Preliminary figures of the company indicate a profit in July, said Archibald R. Graustein, president.

"In spite of the $5 a ton decline in newsprint prices effective April 1, there was improvement in the second quarter both as compared with the first quarter of this year and to the second quarter of 1932. From April through July the paper business steadily improved. Consumption of practically all grades increased as did prices for most grades except newsprint. There has also been a substantial improvement in volume and some improvement in earnings in the power subsidiaries in New England."

Notes payable of subsidiaries totaled $19,517,423 on July 31, a reduction of $8,666,824 since the end of 1932. The $14,500,000 bank loans of International Paper Co. have been extended a year from Aug. 15, Graustein said, subject to payment of $1,000,000 on account Feb. 15 and another $1,000,000 next May 15.

Pennsylvania Railroad System's car loadings last week totaled 97,579 cars against 98,342 in the previous week and 78,622 a year go. Norfolk & Western's traffic increased slightly, totaling 25,809 cars compared with 25,776 in the preceding week. This road's volume a year ago was 17,635 cars.

Freight loadings on New York Central lines last week totaled 102,392 cars compared with 105,886 in the previous week and 79,293 in the same period last year. The week's gain over 1932 was 29.1 per cent as against a 34.7 per cent rise in the preceding week's loadings over the corresponding period last year.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 30 (Spl.). Federal Water Service Corporation subsidiaries reported earnings today as follows:

West Virginia Water Service Co. had gross revenues of $1,021,141 for the year ended July 31, 1933, as compared with $1,094,488 for the preceding 12 months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes other than Federal income tax totaled $540,386, as against $601,741. Gross corporate income amounted to $480,755, which compares with $492,747 for the year ended July 31, 1932.

Ohio Water Service Co. reports gross revenues of $478,851 for the year ended July 31, 1933, as compared with $533,403 for the preceding 12 months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, other than Federal income tax, totaled $243,720, as against $260,914. Gross corporate income amounted to $235,131, which compares with $272,489 for the year ended July 31, 1932.

Illinois Water Service Co. had gross revenues of $598,544 for the year ended July 31, 1933, as compared with $650,730 for the preceding 12 months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, other than Federal income tax, totaled $296,565, as against $316,770. Gross corporate income amounted to $301,989, which compares with $333,960 for the year ended July 31, 1932.

New York, Aug. 30 (Spl.).—Kelvinator Corporation announces that shipments during the quarter ending September 30 are already more than double those for the entire last quarter of 1932. August shipments alone promise to approach those made during July, August and September of last year, according to H. W. Burritt, vice president in charge of sales.

Prices of Tobacco Swinging Upward

Growers in North Carolina Plan to Send Protest Group to Capital.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Prices on the bright leaf tobacco belt markets showed an upward trend today, but growers of the leaf went forward with plans for a mass meeting here tomorrow to protest the auction bids.

Official prices on yesterday's opening break, completed today, revealed averages ranging from $10.23 a hundredweight at Greenville to $13.96 at Fairmont. Wilson had an opening day average of $10.93 for 1,264,448 pounds, a record opening. Rocky Mount sold 866,002 pounds at an average of $11.22.

Sales in the early trading today indicated a slight upward trend in the bids. Most markets reported that prices went up during yesterday afternoon. A similar situation was apparent on several markets today.

There appeared to be some dissatisfaction among farmers on the Wilson market because of low prices, but there was no organized protest. The market, however, is expected to be represented at the protest meeting here tomorrow.

It is planned to send delegates to Washington to confer with administration officials on the price situation.

Plan to Close Markets

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 30 (AP). Charles H. Gerald, secretary to Gov. Blackwood, today informed a committee representing tobacco growers of the Pedee section that the governor lacks authority to close tobacco markets as a means of forcing prices upward.

The committee, which was chosen at a meeting at Florence yesterday to urge the governor to suspend tobacco sales, differed in opinion as to the course to be pursued.

Senator Emerson L. Ard, of Kingstree, and M. B. Huggins, of Timmonsville, said they believed it would prove inadvisable to close the markets. Three other members of the committee contended the markets should be shut down until prices rise.

Transactions on N. Y. Curb Market

Columbia Reverts to Friday Opening—Movie Code—Holiday Week Programs

Loew House to Change Policy After Tonight

Maxine Doyle Off to West; Dancer Gets Contract; Theater Gossip.

Beginning tomorrow, September 1, with the return of Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in "Tugboat Annie" to F street as the screen attraction signalizing the change, Loew's Columbia Theater will revert to Friday openings of its new bills.

This change of policy will put the Columbia in line with all the other motion picture theaters now in operation in the matter of uniform opening day for new attractions. For many months the Columbia has pursued the course of inaugurating its new bills on Monday of each week—the only theater in the Capital to observe such a schedule.

The shift to Friday opening this week will have the immediate effect of speeding up the reappearance of the Dressler-Beery combination in one of its most popular vehicles by three full days. "Tugboat Annie," as must still be fresh in the public mind, created two new attendance records during its fortnight at Loew's Palace—one for each week.

Following its third week of exhibition in downtown Washington, "Tugboat Annie" will be succeeded on the Columbia screen by another repeat engagement. Paramount's picturization of "The Song of Songs," presenting Marlene Dietrich in a fascinatingly different type of role, will be the booking for the week beginning Friday, September 8.

So a brief call from Maxine Doyle, mistress of ceremonies at the Earle, all atwitter at the prospect of really beginning the long drive to the West Coast in the family roadster, come 5 a. m. tomorrow morning, and mightily pleased that her place is to be taken during her six weeks' absence by Gracie Barrie, one of her bosomest friends. It might have been gathered between the lines of an excited conversation, perhaps, that a Pullman train, after all, would not be anathema to the Doyle notion of comfort in traveling!

Miss Barrie Arrives Today.

Gracie Barrie, the sweet singer of songs—or does the Warner publicity department mean "the singer of sweet songs," or possibly both?—after twelve weeks as featured artiste with Abe Lyman and his orchestra in Hollywood, arrives in Washington this morning at 8:40, by train.

Miss Barrie, well known to Washington audiences by virtue of her memorable engagement of three consecutive weeks at the Earle and a subsequent appearance at the National in revue, following settlement of her Lyman contract, left Los Angeles by plane for Chicago. She then transferred to train and will arrive in the Capital in ample time to rehearse the repertoire of songs she will sing during her first week as pinch-hitter for her pal, Maxine.

Will Present Act.

As was more or less of a foregone conclusion, Miss Barrie, in addition to serving as mistress of ceremonies, also will present a complete act of her own during her first week, and, presumably, during other weeks of the six she will substitute on the Earle stage.

It is higly probable, furthermore, that she will be present at the early-afternoon levee the Warner Brothers executives are holding in honor of the departing Miss Doyle in their club rooms on the seventh floor of the Earle Theater Building today between the first and second stage performances. That would be approximately between the hours of 2 and 3 p. m.

Speaking of Hollywood contracts, as nobody was particularly, Dorothy Dare, red-headed dancing partner of Hal LeRoy in his revue headlining the vaudeville bill through today at the Earle, yesterday signed articles with Paramount to appear with Bing Crosby in his next picture, to be known as "A Cruise to Nowhere." Miss Dare will leave for the West Coast about the middle of September to take up her new duties singing and dancing in support of the famous crooner. This afternoon's party evidently will take the form of a carnival of congratulations!

That Movie Code.

It may reasonably be expected, since we are more or less on the subject, that many an old Hollywood custom will be scrapped under the proposed industry code filed with the NRA, and, as it stands at the moment, there is even a clause to inspire the enthusiasm of stage producers.

The code, as filed, is in two parts. The first is that proposed by the producers and distributors—in many instances the same firms or individuals. The second is proposed by the exhibitors. The two will be combined by Deputy Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt and heard as one at the hearings scheduled for September 12.

The two codes agree in major principles. Adjustment of the remaining differences is expected to be effected by the hearings.

Sharp reductions in the hours of labor and increased wages to bring the industry's buying power up to the level of 1929 are the main points.

"Raids" Prohibited.

The process of "raiding" rival studios for stars will be terminated under the code, which labels this unfair practice. This provision is understood already to have caused a sudden skyrocketing of stars' salaries.

In keeping with the producers' promise made at the time the legitimate theater code was being formulated before Deputy Administrator Rosenblatt, the motion picture producers specifically agreed to refrain from negotiating with an artist engaged in a legitimate theatrical production under a so-called "run of the play" contract, for his services in a motion picture production.

Hollywood's insatiable appetite for new talent from the stage often reached a point where studios could not wait to snatch budding stars until after the stage producer who discovered them had reaped a little benefit from his enterprise.

Quite a number of Hollywood's players arrived for pictures, leaving behind them stage plays which had not yet completed their runs. Theater producers sometimes were hard put to find substitutes, and obviously a play that has gained prestige with one star will lose when that star has to be replaced. The loss, even, of a minor player disturbs the production's polish.

Minor Role Ruined.

For the Los Angeles run of "Counsellor at Law," for instance, a youth named Lester Salkow had an office boy's role. It was not a leading part by any means, but it accounted for many laughs. C. B. Demille is reported to have spotted Salkow, changed his name to Lester Arnold and drafted him for "This Day and Age." The play didn't close as a result of Salkow's absence, but the producer found no satisfactory substitute, and the office boy's part was cut considerably.

It's the old Hollywood custom of coaxing players out of casts just as a play is getting under way that has had some stage producers tearing their hair.

All that will now come to an end. That is to say, all that will come to an end unless the offenders want that Blue Eagle in their hair doing the tearing!

Shades of Janet Gaynor! Charles Farrell, believe it or not, has been signed by the Warner Brothers to play the masculine lead opposite Bette Davis in "The Shakedown," soon to go into production. This is the picture in which Ricardo Cortez will make his bow under his new Warner contract. Others in the cast are Glenda Farrell and Allen Jenkins. A good many "Farrells" seems to be the Warner rule. Or shall we skip it?

Ready for Holiday.

Glancing back over the records of past seasons to a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the management seems to have established the fact that a holiday is always the signal for an extra good time at Glen Echo Park.

With this thought in mind, arrangements are being perfected to accommodate the customary overflow crowds over the week-end and Labor Day, the summer's last chance at one final burst of gayety and al fresco merrymaking.

Foremost among the attractions, of course, will be the Crystal Pool and the new Spanish Garden Ballroom, with its air-cooled expanse of mirror-like floor area. These have been the most popular of the resort's seasonable diversions.

All of the rides and outdoor amusement devices will be in full operation over the holiday, assuring a diversity of entertainment that can not be found at comparable cost anywhere in this immediate vicinity.

Gayety Plans Benefit.

Another impetus will be given late summer and early fall amusement by the opening of the Gayety Theater with a matinee performance by the "Girls From Paris" company of singers, dancers, comedians and display artistes on Saturday of this week, September 2.

Manager Jimmie Lake promises the best burlesque has to offer for the new season and in addition to the regular Saturday and Sunday afternoon and night performances this opening week, is putting on a special Fireman's Parade midnight benefits show Sunday night.

This will enlist the services of acts from all the theaters in Washington, a more detailed report of which will appear in this space in due time.

Unusual Stage Story Unfolds At the Palace

"Broadway to Hollywood," featuring a veritable who's who of the stage and screen in a heart drama with music, and presenting the first big hit of Loew's fall list of attractions, is due to open at Loew's Palace Theater tomorrow.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture will be unfolded to Washington before one of the most notable of premiere audiences, and presents a story throbbing with the heartbeats of human drama and backgrounded by the pageant of theaterdom extending over three generations.

It is the poignant story of the hopes, attainments, joys and disillusionments of a theatrical family who carry on from the days of Tony Pastor to the modern talking film era. Its brilliant aggregation of stars includes Alice Brady, Frank Morgan, Jackie Cooper, Jimmy (Schnozzola) Durante, Madge Evans, Fay Templeton, Russell Hardie, Eddie Quilllan, May Robson and others.

"Broadway to Hollywood" strikes a new note in the field of entertainment, for, in addition to its absorbing drama, it has a background of music and dazzling musical settings. The famous Albertina Rasch dancing girls are prominently cast in several of the musical sequences.

Throughout the changes that are worked in the three generations depicted in this film, the old theatrical family proudly marches down the years to the amazing climax, in which the grandfather, having taught his film-star grandson that troupers are still troupers, and that the show must go on, concludes his work as the great ballet marches down the largest set ever built in a kaleidoscopic wave of splendor.

A Brisk Farce And Tunesters Lead at Earle

As a stage play, "Goodbye Again" enjoyed one of the most successful runs on Broadway. In screen form at Warner Bros. Earle Theater beginning tomorrow it is said to be one of the outstanding hits of the year. Joan Blondell, Warren William and Genevieve Tobin are featured.

"Goodbye Again" is a welcome change from the drab realism of most pictures. It is said to be refreshingly different in plot, sailing along saucily under a strong breeze of smart dialogue. When an author of best sellers finds one of his most popular heroines coming to life sudenly in the person of an old sweetheart who has tired of her husband, and is ready to come back to "the only man who ever understood her," what is a poor author to do?

There may be several answers, but Warren William, in "Goodbye Again," does practically everything an author—or any other gentleman—should not do. And thereby hangs the hilarious tale that makes "Goodbye Again" a spicy and subtly daring screen comedy.

Headlining the vaudeville bill are Charlie Tobias, Sidney Clare, Al Sherman, Murray Mencher, Al Lewis and Gerald Marks, singing their own song hits. Other acts are Sammy Lewis and Patti Moore, Washington's own, in "Love in the Rough," a laugh skit; Barney Grant, "That Feller From Missouri," and Manning and Class in "'Yippeeee,' the Cowboys Are Coming."

Screen Comedy Plus a Famous Stage Vehicle

Those internationally famous Duncan Sisters tomorrow will offer on the stage of Loew's Fox Theater a complete musical extravaganza, "Topsy and Eva," exactly as it was presented for three years to Broadway and Chicago playgoers. Augmenting this pretentious stage attraction is "Three-Cornered Moon," a Paramount picture, featuring Richard Arlen, Claudette Colbert and Mary Doland in a story of the Nation's craziest family.

Headed by the Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, this musical comedy will offer the same artists, 40 singers, dancers and comedians, the same beautiful settings and tuneful melodies as were seen and heard originally. The story has been modernized and music has been especially written for this presentation, which marks its first showing in a motion-picture theater.

"Topsy" is offered by Rosetta, while Sister Vivian enacts the characterization of that sweet and innocent "Eva." Other stars of prominence fill remaining roles in this new and up-to-the-minute version of the stage hit.

"Three-Cornered Moon" is a picturization of that sensational Broadway comedy that has had Gothamites laughing for weeks. It is the hilariously funny story of a "loony" family involved in a series of riotous predicaments. It reveals the antics of a typical American family, fairly wealthy and not disturbed by problems of employment or unemployment, who suddenly lose their fortune through the laughable investments of the widowed mother.

Wallace Ford, Lyda Roberti, Joan Marsh, Tom Brown, William Bakewell and Hardie Albright are in the supporting cast. The original story was written by Gertrude Tonkonogy, a New York stenographer, who decided to chronicle the experiences of her own family, who suffered a fate similar to that of the pictures "family of profound nit wits."

Current news, short subjects and orchestra will round out the program.

Hepburn Earns A Second Week

Katharine Hepburn's "Morning Glory," now being shown at RKO-Keith's as the inaugural attraction of that theater's "greater show season," is to remain for a second week.

Conceded to be the most interesting personality now on the screen, Katharine Hepburn, in her third picture, has broken attendance records, not only locally, but at the world's largest theater, Radio City Music Hall, New York. This is eloquent evidence of the vast interest in this star.

Keith's, in holding over "Morning Glory," will also continue the other features of the current program, including the Clark and McCullough comedy, "Kicking the Crown Around," the Aesop Fable, the Vagabond reel on Antwerp, all to be augmented by the customary two weekly issues of the Pathe News.

Following the holdover, Keith's will present the second of its "greater show season" attractions, Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey," in which the star is supported by May Robson, Joel McCrea, Frances Dee and Dorothy Jordan.

A Popular Hit Back for Week

The slogan "Such popularity must be deserved" gains new life on the Columbia screen, where Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery will be featured in "Tugboat Annie," beginning tomorrow.

This popular pair, who hung up two new box-office records after a two weeks' occupancy of the Loew's Palace screen, it is believed will continue to attract Washington theater patrons to their third week's stay here.

"Tugboat Annie" is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of Norman Reilly Raine's famous series of stories in the Saturday Evening Post. It presents Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in a drama of infinite appead.

Miss Dressler is cast as the wife of a drunken tugboat skipper who is not only fond of her inebriate mate but also of her ambitious son, who detaches himself from family ties because of his contempt for the behavior of his father.

The Dressler-Berry team is seen in more of their memorable spats of "Min and Bill," which always are attended with comedy, flanked by drama and romance. The denouement is one of the most exciting to be presented on the screen in a long time. It shows a highly tense scene in which Wallace Beery places his life in jeopardy to save his son.

Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Tammany Young and others of note support Miss Dressler and Beery.

News features, shorts and a comedy will also be shown on the new program.

C. of C. Defends Wayside Stand

Roadside selling should not be abolished because of the large number of persons who earn a living thereby, but should be regulated so that unnecessary competition with merchants can be avoided. This was the sense of a resolution adopted last night by the Kensington Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting in the Kensington School.

The resolution urged that trucks and transient hucksters be prevented from selling in competition with stores, that roadside stands be prohibited on public property, that venders in vicinity of the business districts should be licensed and that roadside stands doing considerable business be required to provide parking space.

The chamber adopted a resolution commending the Montgomery County Commissioners for the 35 cent reduction in the tax rate recently announced. Another resolution voiced hearty indorsement and pledged cooperation with the county NRA committee. Active clergymen of Kensington area are to be admitted to membership without dues through a change in the by-laws approved by the chamber.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, spoke on educational matters and outlined the history and policies of George Washington. The applications for membership of 31 persons were approved.

3,000 See Godwin Rally to Win Decision Over Knight at Laurel

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

LIKE all Gaul, this Washington Ball Club which is threatening to snatch that 1933 pennant from the now more or less suspecting Yankees, is divided into three parts—the parts assembled by Messrs. Joe Cronin, Clark Griffith and Joe Engel.

That trinity is responsible for the present make-up of the team that baseball bookies are now laying no odds against in the straggly pennant race that lacks only the confirmation of Old Man Mathematical Certainty as far as the end is concerned. And that old fellow is hanging around the premises with his conclusive vote ready to be cast.

Cronin it was who galvanized into action the component parts assembled chiefly by Owner Griffith and Scout Engel, but he, too, had a hand in the gathering of the talent that is restoring to Washington the baseball glory of 1924 and 1925.

Handiwork of Engel.

That entire Washington infield is the handiwork of the man among the three you hear least about—Joe Engel, who fetched them from their various minor league berths and deposited them at the disposal of Griffith and his Washington managers with high recommendations attached.

Kuhel, Meyer, Cronin and Bluege. There's an infield that is the dream of any scout. That is the infield that the Nats' lone scout gathered for Washington in his meanderings through the bush leagues—the best infield in the majors at this writing, that needs not doff its collective hat to many of all time.

Out to Peoria, of the Three-Eye League, Engel went to uncover Ossie Bluege as a short stop and third base prospect in 1922. Down to New Orleans, he went in 1925 to bring up Buddy Myer, a year out of college. To Kansas City he went in 1928 to fetch Joe Cronin out of minor league surroundings—the greatest "find" in modern baseball.

Another of Engel's sallies into Kansas City in 1929 brought forth Joe Kuhel with a $65,000 price-tag attached that didn't dim Engel's ardor in the bidding with scouts of other clubs. Kuhel, Myer, Cronin and Bluege. That's all that Engel gave to the Washington club.

Griffith Due Some Credit.

Two of the three regular outfielders represent the trading talent of Griffith. Griffith it was who brought Goslin up from Columbia of the South Atlantic League in 1921, to see him blossom in 1928 as the American League batting champion. Griffith it was who brought Manush from St. Louis in 1928 to give the Nats the outfielder who ranks second only to Simmons.

And the reserve outfielders of the Nats are added testimony of Griffith's buying and trading acumen. For it was the Old Fox who brought Sammy Rice up from the Piedmont League in 1915, and he who traded with Chicago in 1929 for Dave Harris.

Griffith gave to the Nats two of their pitching stars, Al Crowder and Monte Weaver, bringing Crowder from St. Louis in 1928 along with Manush, and personally scouting Monte Weaver in Baltimore before purchasing the rookie pitching sensation of 1932 for $25,000.

Those pitchers, Earl Whitehill, the present league leader, and Walter Stewart, a first-water southpaw, were purchased by Griffith this season at the insistence of Cronin, who apparently knew what he wanted. And in a later deal, when Cronin was given the choice of several Cleveland players, he chose Jack Russell, the three-star rescue man of his relief corps.

Cronin supplied that third outfielder. He it was who insisted on the inclusion of Fred Schulte in the deal with the Browns last winter. Schulte was the pivot man in the entire trade involving five players. He hasn't disappointed.

GEORGE EARNSHAW,

Climaxing several rifts between the pitching hero of the 1930 world series and the veteran manager of the team was a letter received by Earnshaw yesterday from Mack, in the West, asking him to retire for the season.

Earnshaw had left the team in Cleveland after gaining permission to return home. He said he didn't care to make the last Western trip with the club.

Earnshaw's troubles with Mack started last spring when he picked the Yankees to win the pennant and later balked at a salary cut. Twice this year he had been sent home by the club with orders to "get in condition."

Yankees Lose Hope; Will Rebuild

Team Back From West, Finds New York Wild Over Giants' Rise.

NEW YORK., Aug. 30 (AP).—Baseball's one-time "invincibles" limped back to the big town yesterday, war weary, pretty well battered and strangely inconspicuous.

World champions less than a year ago, odds-on favorites to retain the American League peannant as late as this June, the New York Yankees came back from a disastrous Western trip, virtually out of the running, and almost unnoticed in the suddenly developed "Manhattan madness" over the rise of the Giants to the National League heights.

"What's all the shouting about?" asked Babe Ruth, somewhat ruefully, after slipping quietly, almost, into town. "Say, this must be a Giant town."

Last Hopes Dispelled.

New York didn't give up hope of a Yankee comeback until the team started to skid in the closing stages of the last series with the league-leading and pennant-bound Washington Nationals, but the club's August road trip and a bare even break through the West dispelled its last lingering hopes. Eight games behind now, the Yankees are thinking mostly about where the lightning will strike in the drastic shake-up planned before next season.

Ruth's slump to a point where the great slugger was playing only part time and hitting only .167 for the trip was simultaneous with the general collapse of the Yankee resistance.

McCarthy Gives Warning.

Manager Joe McCarthy served warning to the rest of his forces today with this statement: "There is nothing to do on this team now but face the facts. We'll keep on trying * * * but this doesn't blind me to the fact we have to rebuild and do it quickly."

Close followers of the Yankees believe only Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Ben Chapman, Dixie Walker and such pitchers as Lefty Gomez, Johnny Allen, Russell Van Atta and Charley Ruffing are certain holdovers for 1934. New talent already is being bought, recalled or otherwise tabbed for examination in the general overhauling process. It will be the most severe shakeup the club has experienced since 1925.

The long-deferred end for the Babe's active, daily career seems definitely at hand, despite his own insistence that he still "has a lot of baseball left." He will be 40 next year and has now been through his twentieth major league campaign.

McKechnie, of Braves, Signs for Five Years

Boston, Aug. 30 (AP).—Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, tonight announced that Manager Bill McKechnie had signed a new five-year contract.

Giants Defeat Cards, 5-4; Keep Lead

His Homer in 4th Also Features Attack on Dean's Lead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP).—The New York Giants kept their six-game lead intact today as Lefty O'Doul followed up a home run blast with a ninth inning single to drive in the run that defeated the St. Louis' Cardinals, 5 to 4, in the league leaders' final game before invading Boston tomorrow for the first of a six-game series to be played in four days.

O'Doul's final inning blow, hit with the bases loaded, sent Joe Moore across the plate with the deciding tallly, but it was Lefty's home run smash, following Bill Terry's circuit drive in the fourth inning, that kept the Giants in the thick of the battle.

Braves Humble Reds, 3-2, In Ninth

BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP).—The ancient kid of the Boston Braves, Rabbit Maranville, gave the second place warriors a ninth-inning victory today as he drove out a single with Pinkey Whitney on base for a 3-to-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in the final game of the series. Hafey. The Braves made 11 off Si Johnson.

Barefoot Boy Wins 50-Meter Dash in Playground Meet for Post's Cup

Robert Montgomery (right) undeterred by the lack of shoes, is pictured winning the 70-pound class 50-meter sprint for the Burroughs teams yesterday in the annual city playground meet. Sol Seidman (center), of Rosedale, is second, with James Poole, of Georgetown, third. The Rosedale Playground won the meet and retained possession of The Washington Post Trophy. (Story on page 19.)

Nats Will Drill, Then Depart For Philly

Face Macks Tomorrow in Single Game; Saturday in Double-Header.

RESTING for a day from the rigors of the American League schedule, but fondly caressing their 8-game lead and contemplating the $5,000 pot of gold at the end of the world series rainbow, the Nats were in mufti yesterday.

There were happy family reunions in all sections of the city yesterday as Joe Cronin sent the ball players to their homes when they detrained early in the morning after a 20-day Western excursion that inflated their lead over the Yankees to the present gratifying proportions.

But today they will be back in uniform for a practice session at Griffith Stadium before entraining tonight for Philadelphia, where they meet the Athletics in a single game tomorrow, followed up by a double bill on Saturday.

Map Series Plans.

In Griffith Stadium's front office, however, there was no dearth of activity as the force mapped out world series reservation plans, to be announced on September 10.

The interrogation of Owner Griffith concerning his belief on the Nats' pennant chances elicited only the opinion that he thought they were "pretty fair," and in the same breath he announced that his club would stand pat on the present line-up for the world series battles. Tonight at midnight is the deadline for the acquisition of players who would be eligible for the series.

The chief beneficiary of the two-day rest encountered by the Nats is slated to be Alvin Crowder, the somewhat overworked bell wether of the Nats' pitching staff, who was the victim in four of the five defeats suffered by the Nats on their latest sally into the West, where they won 12 out of 17 games.

Crowder, however, is slated to be back on the firing line for the Philadelphia series, with the probability that Whitehill and Weaver will be the starting pitchers in the other two games. Manager Cronin, on the Nats' last visit to Philadelphia, purposely withheld Walter Stewart from action in view of Stewart's past failures against the A's earlier in the season.

Miss Van Wie, Enid Wilson Set Pace

EXMOOR CLUB, Highland Park, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—Blazing the trail with prize shots that vanquished their foes and par by decisive margins, the golfing queens of Great Britain and the United States, Enid Wilson and Virginia Van Wie, led a victory march of the favorites into the quarter-finals of the national women's championship here today.

The English girl, out to place the American trophy alongside the three British crowns she has won in succession, and the American champion both shattered par by three strokes.

Miss Wilson disposed of Mrs. Harley Higbee, of Detroit, 4 and 3, while Miss Van Wie, decorating her card with two eagles, defeated Mrs. Leo Federman, of New York, 4 and 2.

Charlotte Glutting, West Orange, defeated Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, 3 and 2.
Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, defeated Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, 4 and 2.
Mrs. Leona Cheney, San Gabriel, defeated Aniela Gorczyca, Fort Worth, 4 and 3.
Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, defeated Frances Williams, Philadelphia, 4 and 3.
Helen Hicks, New York, defeated Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh, Vicksburg, 4 and 3.

Ray Kremer Released.

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP).—The Oakland team of the Pacific Coast Baseball League today announced the release of Ray Kremer, former world's series star for the Pittsburg Pirates.

Rasslers Pack Punch Tonight Despite Turner's Warnings

IN spite of Promoter Joe Turner's threats to withhold part of their purses and ban them on future cards here unless they confine their rassling efforts at Griffith Stadium tonight to fair tactics, Gino Garibaldo and George Zaharias may be depended upon to give the fans plenty of action. Both are rough, rugged fellows, who believe in winning at any cost, the result being that they commit everything but murder when doing their stuff, and especially against each other.

This pair has met here twice since summer of 1932, and on each occasion the police have had to

Georgia Boys Stage Fast Battle

Loses by Divided Vote; Strickler Beats Bailey in Semifinal.

A TOUSLE-HAIRED youth, with the cal mand cunning of the master ringman that he is, crushed Joe Knight's hopes for a chance at the light-heavyweight title last night at Twin City Arena, where he won a 10-round decision over his southpaw rival. Bob Godwin, the winner, in one of the best fights staged at the little country stadium this year, fought a hard, well-planned fight, and though the verdict was close, it was just.

A crowd of 3,000 fancs looked on as the second and third ranking light-heavyweights fought it out in a grueling battle that saw the eventual winner come from behind to win the last three rounds and all but knock out his opponent. Godwin won six rounds, thrree were given to Knight and the other was called a draw.

Godwin Knocked Down.

Knight held the upper hand in the earlier stages of the fight, knocking his foe down in the third round with a stiff left to the chin. It was his best round of the scrap. He took the next session before Godwin's steady punching to the midsection began to have its effect.

Godwin lead throughout nad Knight caught him on the left cheekbone in the third round. In the same round the Cair (Ga.) bay caught his fellow statesman with another left on the right eye that drew blood.

Rollick Captures Marlboro Feature as Jockey Cruz Rides Four Home in Front

Stretch Duel Is Lost by Starry

Big Dipper Disqualified From Place in 2d; Parker Set Down.

ROLLICK, which found its racing legs at Cumberland last week, came bouncing up the stretch at Marlboro yesterday afternoon to take first money in the feature race, dubbed with the rather high-hatty name of "The Farm of the Four Winds Purse." The race was of the usual $300 claiming variety. However, it might as well have been the Preakness as far as the 5,000 present for the program were concerned, especially those who backed Rollick and Starry with that important brand of currency.

It was a bang-up race. Miss Jaycee broke in front, followed by Starry, Rhodius, the favorite, and Rollick. Starry took up the first running when Miss Jaycee tossed in the towel. However, Starry failed to shine at the finish. Rollick worked his way up and they turned into the miniature stretch head and head. In the straightaway, Rollick drew away. Starry beat out Rhodius for the third money.

Four Winners for Cruz.

Harold Cruz, the plucky little Washington jockey, continued his sensational riding. He had four mounts and rode each to victory.

A disqualification marked the first race, but it did not affect the hard-earned victory of young Cruz. He took Sly Haste, a slick little filly, out in front and stayed there, his mount just lasting to take the purse. Jockey A. Parker was the offender. His charge, Big Dipper, was removed from the money circle and second was awarded to Mon Nuage, with This Play moved into third. Parker seemed determined to get places in the race and turned in a ride bristling with rough tactics. He was set down for the remainder of the meeting, stewards announced later.

The favorite also bit the dust in the second. Busy Ike showed four busy hoofs in the stretch to take a decision from Holland, backed down to 3-to-5 on the odds board. Gertie R. ankled into the show money. Gibson rode the winner, which paid substantial $15.80 mutuel.

Cruz made it two out of two winners in the third. He came out of the pack with Ruth Tidings, a Sir Greysteel mare, on the back stretch and took the lead never to be headed.

Grace Bunting hit a home run in the fourth dash. Nick Tromberia had the mount and went to the front before the field reached the paddock on the first trip around. From there, it was a case of "catch me if you can" and that wasn't in the books.

Sand Bell, closing at 10-1, gave his backers high hopes for most of the long route in the sixth, but Cruz pounded Jambalaya up in the closing strides to win. Crasher was third. The final went to Cruz and the heavily played Aella. Spunky was second and Noisy Miss third.

MAJ. GEN. CHARLES G. MORTON, during his 50 years in the United States Army, served with distinction in four campaigns, including the World War—yet it remained for a little Fourth of July firecracker to cause his death.

Gen. Morton served on the Mexican frontier, in the Philippines, in Panama, and commanded the Tenth Division during the World War. For his service in France he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and the Croix de Guerre. He was retired from active service in 1925 after a 50-year career.

Last July 4, he was slightly burned while setting off firecrackers for a friend's small child. The burn developed into blood poisoning which resulted in the general's death.

Dear Al: Marlboro Race Track.

Three cheers for Mike! What a walloping he gave them at Hawthorne yesterday. F-I-V-E W-I-N-N-E-R-S! Yeah, bo! His best bet was Sandwrack. The only handicapper in the country to clock this one. Paid $21.60. He also had Chesney, $8.04; Luna Bright, $4.04; Cold Check, $4, and His Last, $8.34. And while Mike was knocking them cold in Chicago, Mrs. Bennings' lovely son was giving the boys the right dope here. Pardon me for quoting myself, but didn't I say, "Cruz is the best bet for the remainder of the meeting?" He only went to the post four times and rode as many winners. I believe I have his correct mounts for today. Get on the line. BILL.

First race—Tody West ran a creditable race up at Cumberland. Meets much less opposition here. Sly Haste just lasted to win yesterday. Will be close. Nay Nay may be the upsetter. Needs an improved ride.

Second race—Carvel Hall will have Cruz in the saddle. May win at the first asking. Gayley Boy was shipped down from Rockingham,where he ran some fair races. Gets the second call over these cheap ones. Hasty Queen to show.

Third race—Bohemian Grove made a show of a field here opening day and Cruz is booked to ride. Can't pick anything to be close to this one. Clear Knight has been waiting for a spot. Helen's Alibi to complete the money picture.

Fourth race — Grace Bunting turned the trick yesterday. May have Cruz up today. Would make it tough for these with another flying getaway. Handley and Black Dreams seem best of the others.

Fifth race—Sambo G. failed to match speed with Axentea opening day, but that race fits in well with this field. Mordrom turned in good time considering conditions in that winning race here. Figures right upon the saddle post of the top fellow. Saucy Victor to show.

Sixth race—En Passant ran a good race opening day and should take this purse. Another probable Cruz mount. Redcliffe is a speedy old fellow, but is an in and outer. Fusco as a possible surprise.

Seventh race—Gunther goes to the post with Cruz aboard and off that good effort of Tuesday, I'm stringing along. Electric Gaff and Madges Fellow for the other awards

THE Rosedale playground boys captured their fourth consecutive Department of Playgrounds track and field championship yesterday when they emerged victorious from an all-day fray with 62 other playgrounds on the Central High School oval. Their margin of victory was 5¾ points over the Hayes team, but this was gained in the last three events, the 100 and unlimited class relays, where they garnered ten counters through two first places, to clinch the coveted Washington Post Trophy.

Prior to this time, Hayes, Langdon, Burroughs, Eckington, MacFarland nad Van Buren teams looked like the champions. For the past three years, Ben Kail, Rosedale mentor, has coached relay teams that managed to win championship titles, to garner sufficient points to make the annual award to the Northeast boys. Yesterday proved no exception.

One record fell during the day's competition. Cabell Chipman, of Chevy Chase, leaped 5 feet 10 inches in the unlimited class high jump, to break the five-year mark of Tommy Keane, of Tenley, scored in the meet at the old Plaza Playground in 1918. Keene's record was 1 inch less.

All Winners Get Records.

Other records probably would have gone but for the change in the measure system from the linear to the metric, in accordance with national athletic systems. The marks established in all track events will be records for the meets to come. However, some of the marks will doubtless stand for a long time and are well worthy of mention.

The time of 7 2-5 seconds for the 70-pound class, 50 meters, made by Robert Montgomery, of Burroughs, will be a target that should stand for many years. The unlimited relay team of Rosedale turned in the remarkable time of 49 3-5 seconds at 400 meters to defeat the crack Chevy Chase quintet.

More than 2,300 boys engaged in the day's competition, which was started with a parade of all competing athletes, followed by the taking of the playground oath. Earl Wheeler, of Edmonds, playground record holder, took the pledge for all entrants. The ceremony was held at the end of the parade, which was led by the band from the National Training School.

It was a proud moment for Mrs. Sullivan when she was elected to place the laurel wreath of victory on the head of her son, Larry, who gained this glory in defeating 36 runners in the half-mile run.

Barney Ross Carries Hopes Of Race Against Canzoneri

By Westbrook Pegler.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The next important conflict between two beautifully trained, lithe, lean bodies on the program of the prize fight industry will be that between Barney Ross, an alumnus of the Chicago Golden Gloves, and Toney Canzoneri, who looks like Babe Ruth reduced from a several-column spread to half-a-column. In addition to excellent health and agreeable manners both young men are credited with high ideals and a serious purpose in life and the contest promises much in a social and spiritual way.

The very best people, such of them as are still solvent, are asking to be put down for tickets, a fact which assures the social success of the production and the members of the lower orders, who will sit further back, probably will approach this one in that sweet and noble spirit which often pervades the more heroic undertakings of little Jewish boys in the ring, of whom Barney Ross is one. It is almost always thus when the little Hebrews who hold prize fight championships are exemplifying the rewards of good habits, chastity and resolute ambition in pugilism.

Leonard and Attell

It was so when Benny Leonard fought, and Abe Attell Goldstein, for all the tactlessness of his adopted name which seemed to suggest misdoing in the 1919 world series, was similarly able to arouse the better instincts of his people and to make them proud. He was a poor boy who, like Leonard, had turned to the right when many temptations beckoned him to cigarettes and gang associations and, though he was not, like Leonard, a great fighter, his private life was very nice. Leftie Lewie Tendler, of Philadelphia, was another Jewish boy who appealed to the sympathy and racial dignity of his kind and never betrayed their confidence in him. Al Singer and Ruby Goldstein also gave their people the gulps.

Ross may be regarded as a sort of Jewish avenger or, to avoid the angry implication of that word, a pugilistic redemptor, for he has recaptured the lighweight championship which during Leonard's time came to be regarded as a Jewish title.

The next authentic champion, not to bother with the claims of some who were champions only by appointment of mentally infirm prize fight commissioners of various jurisdictions, was Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill. There were some Jewish people who permitted themselves a few false thrills of pride on his account but Sammy was a Catholic of Portuguese descent.

He lost the championship to Al Singer, however, and Singer was able to defend it in championship competition for a total tenure of less than 1 minute. In his first defense of the title, in the first round, he was popped on the nose with a left jab which was not intended to do any real execution but only as harassing fire and dropped as though he had been hit with a ball bat at Tony Canzoneri's feet.

So once more the title was a lost province until Barney Ross came along, another poor boy, though not a ghetto kid like some of the others who had risen to distinction and esteem through the quasi-criminal prize fight business, avoiding contamination on the way. Ross won by a close decision from Canzoneri, in Chicago, over ten rounds, and though there has been much dispute over the justice of the verdict, it is a significant fact that the opinion divided on geographical lines.

Seidel - Staubly Defeated in Net Upset

McElvenny-Phillips Win, 6—0, 6—3, in Government Tennis.

SEIDEL and Staubley, Treasury-District combination, seeded third, were victims in the first major upset of the Government Employes' Tennis Championship Tournament, when they bowed yesterday to McElvenny and Phillips, Treasury doubles team, in straight sets. The scores, 6—0 and 6—3, fail to show the closeness of the match, however, as almost every point was decided only after sustained rallies which kept the small gallery at a high pitch from start to finish.

McElvenny, who was ranked twenty-fourth nationally in 1927 in singles and sixth in doubles, showed flashes of his best form. Already he has advanced to the fourth round in singles with the loss of only three games charged against him.

Treasury has taken the lead in point-scoring, with 15 points. Patent Office trails by a point, with Agriculture third, with 11.

Drawings in the men's consolation doubles have been made and these matches will be listed shortly.

Men's Singles.

Fourth round—Shore, Bureau Invest., defeated Wallenstein, Patents, 6—4, 6—2; Goldsmith, Patents, defeated Dreschler, Agri., 6—2, 6—0; Blade, Treas., defeated Erana, Vet. Adm., 6—2, 6—1; Maj. Dorst, Army was leading Edwards, Patents, 6—3, 5—6, called on account of darkness.

Men's Doubles.

Third round—McElvenny-Phillips defeated Seidel-Staubly, 6—0, 6—3; Cowley-Allen defeated Weiss-Erana, 6—3, 6—8, 6—1.

Women's Singles.

Third round—Margaret Ryan, Interior, defeated Edith McKelvey, M. P. C., 6—2, 6—4; Amy Tabler, District, defeated Enid Mitchell, NRA, 6—1, 6—1; Mary Ryan, Interior, defeated Kathleen Klotz, Agri., 6—0, 6—0; Betty Whitfield, Agri., defeated Loretta Mansfield, Agri., 6—1, 6—0.

Men's Singles, Consolation.

Today's Schedule.

Fourth round—Men's singles, 5 o'clock: Seidel, Treas., vs. Carter, Patents; McElvenny, Treas., vs. Stocklinski, Patents; Maj. Dorst, Army, vs. Edwards, Patents; (unfinished match); Staubly (District) vs. Phillips, Treas.

Men's singles, consolation—6 o'clock: Crowley vs. Beach; Coe vs. Levy; Woods vs. Shapiro; Chambrelain vs. Campbell; J. Reznek vs. Richardson.

Cubs Win First, 2 to 1; Dodgers Second, 7-3

Brooklyn, Aug. 30 (AP).—For the third straight time, the Chicago Cubs and the Brooklyn Dodgers divided a double-header today to close the champions' operations at Ebbets Field for the season.

After Charlie Root had outpitched Hollis Thurston to give the Cubs the opener, 2 to 1, the Dodgers hammered Guy Bush hard to win the nightcap, 7 to 3.

3 Boats May Seek Harmsworth Cup

Algonac, Mich., Aug. 30 (AP).—The possibility developed today that the Harmsworth Trophy race, starting next Saturday, might see three boats instead of two in competition, the third boat joining Gar Wood in a defense of the prize. Horace E. Dodge, here to defend his Gold Cup title on Friday, announced that if his Delphine V., a 29-footer, makes 95 miles an hour in a trial run Friday on the Detroit River, he will enter it in the Harmsworth.

The Dodge craft is 3 years old, and when it was built it attained a speed of 65 miles an hour.

Canadian Swim Mark Broken By Nelson

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 30 (AP).—Marvin Nelson, powerful distance champion from Fort Dodge, Iowa, today won the Canadian National Exhibition's annual 15-mile men's swimming marathon and became the first man ever to win the event twice.

Adding further to his accomplishment, Nelson plowed through the warm waters of Lake Ontario from start to finish in 7:00:37 2-3, stripping better than 19 minutes from the mark of 7:19:52 set by George Blagden, Memphis lawyer, who won the event last year. First place brought Nelson the top prize of $5,000.

Blagden, defending his championship, quit after 12 miles today, and Bill Goll, of New York, came on to take second place and $1,500 in prize money far behind Nelson.

Pritchards Win Two Prizes.

Frank Pritchard, of Buffalo, won $700 in third place, and his brother, Stanley, added $200 more to the family winnings for the day by finishing fifth.

Lott Is Leader In Doubles Victory

Coaches Stoefen as Pair Defeats Shields-Parker for U. S. Title.

BROOKLINE, MASS., Aug. 30 (AP).—George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago, hailed by many as the world's outstanding doubles tennis player, today master-minded himself and Lester Stoefen, lanky Los Angeles star, into the National team championship with an 11—13, 9—7, 9—7, 6—3 triumph over Frank X. Shields, New York, and 17-year-old Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, in the final match at Longwood.

Almost every stroke made during the 65-game contest was at Lott's dictation. He used Shields and Parker, two of the finest younger players in the game, as foils for his uncanny skill. Many times they rebelled against his forcing tactics, but George whipped them back into line with his delicate shots and compelled them to set up more than 50 kills for the slashing but erratic Stoefen, who was invincible and unreliable by turn during the entire match.

East-West Play Advances.

Orange, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP).—A quartet of seasoned tennis campaigners from the eastern half of the United States took a 3-to-1 lead in the fifteenth annual East-West tournament today.

Only Jack Tidball, of Hollywood, Calif., was able to break the monopoly of the Eastern players, doing so by virtue of a grueling three-set conquest of Manuel Alonzo, of New York.

Before Tidball's triumph, J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, had beaten down Joseph Coughlin, of San Francisco, 6—3, 6—3, and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, had squelched Keith Gledhill, 6—1, 6—4.

Dettweiler Takes Junior Golf Title

Billy Dettweiler, 15-year-old Manor star, who qualified for the 1932 National Amateur, rolled up a 36-hole total of 163 yesterday at Beaver Dam Country Club to win the District junior championship by a margin of 5 shots.

Second prize went to Billy Shea, of Congressional, while third was won by Harvey Johnson, of Columbia, who had a 173 total.

Rippy, Connelly Meet for Title

Claude Rippy and John Connelly, medalist, will meet at 9:30 a. m. today in the 36-hole finals to determine the "uptown" championship at Rock Creek's golf course.

One of golf's tragedies occurred on the eighteenth hole of the Rippy-Baer match when Baer, after running 6 inches past the hole from 5 feet with his fourth shot, picked up his ball as Rippy prepared to putt from 12 inches. Baer was disqualified on the hole for touching the ball without the consent of his opponent.

Third flight, first round—Lee Sweeny defeated Frank Meades, 7 and 6.

Fourth flight, first round—Bill Eaton defeated Roy Mattingly, 6 and 5; Gordon Rule defeated A. E. Johnson, 2 and 1; R. D. Jones defeated Joe Rodgers, 3 and 2.

WHAT is Brother Volstead thinking, as he reads the late returns, showing men are bent on drinking booze from beakers, jugs and urns? They are weary of the waters flowing by the braes and knolls, and they take their wives and daughters and their sisters to the polls. And they take their aunts and nieces, to the ballot booths they come, they will shoot the law to pieces that deprives them of their rum. What is Brother Volstead saying in the midst of three-two beers, as his bitter thoughts go straying down the track of bygone years; when he thinks of old ambitions to redeem this soaking land, in the light of new conditions with beer signs on every hand? What is Brother Volstead feeling in the watches of the night, while the voters go repealing every law that is in sight? "Men opposed to prohibition will indorse it in a while," was the calm and sane position he adopted with a smile. "They may have some feelings bitter for two years or three or four, but they'll sing and dance and twitter when we've shut the Rum Fiend's door." But instead of growing fonder of the new and noble deal, they are voting over yonder, and their motto is "Repeal." What is Brother Volstead hinting as the sad returns come in? His remarks won't do for printing in a journal loathing sin.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

The old-fashioned diarrahea of adults are infrequent enough to be unimportant in our country in this generation. This is because we are more careful of our water supplies and more "picky" about our foods. When our Indian predecessors went hunting in a prairie country where there were no springs and few streams, they carried hollow canes through which they sucked water from crawfish holes. When the white man pushed the Indian away and settled thickly on the land, he drank water from shallow wells and polluted streams and ponds. The Indian suffered greatly from diarrhea, but in the main most of his trouble came from the coarse vegetables and the spoiled meats he ate.

The white man in his earlier years in this country had more trouble with summer diarrheas than did the Indian. Water out of crawfish holes does not appeal to one's sense of the niceties, but it is more apt to be safe than water from a polluted stream. The coarse and poor food of the red man was less likely to cause diarrhea than was that of the town-dwelling white man of half a century ago.

Now the white man's story is different. He is careful with his water, refrigeration is ample, and foods are of good quality comparatively speaking.

As we hear less of old-fashioned summer diarrheas we begin to learn more of amebic dysentery. It may be this disease is not new. In fact, it may not be as prevalent as it once was. We hear more about it because it is not so overshadowed by the older troubles.

It is due to one variety of an animal parasite called the ameba coli. This microscopic animal can be carried by flies, but research work indicates that these pestiferous insects are not principally responsible for the spread of amebic dysentery. Raw vegetables, such as lettuce, celery, tomatoes and radishes are also capable of spreading the disease. But here, too, the danger is not great. Ordinary care in washing these vegetables before placing them on the dining table is sufficient to make them reasonably safe as foods.

The chief source of danger is the human carrier, the persons who harbors the parasite and is either free from symptoms or is well enough to keep at work. Probably infected cooks and waiters are the principal sources of danger.

There is enough amebic dysentery in even the Northern States to be significant. In the northerly regions it is possible drinking water does not carry the ameba. Probably it is otherwise with ditch and river waters in the countries to the south of us.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York.—A group of the better knowns in the literay and theatrical worlds were babbling of this and that in a Sutton place tavern the other midnight. One of those present was a fetching lass who had just arrived from a mid-Western town to seek fame and perhaps fortune.

Although she had remained quietly in a corner most of the evening, she suddenly silenced the circle of celebrities with this querry: "Tell me how I should be to win success in New York."

Success Recipe.

A well-known novelist volunteered this: "Young lady, you should be pretty, but not loud. Be liberal-minded, but not intemperate. Never use such bromidioms as 'That's life' or 'When in Rome.' Be enthusiastic about the theater, and be as happy as you can in night clubs. Read much, but never talk about what you have read, except in a tete-a-tete.

"Don't be afraid to act on impulse, and, if you must, don't hesitate to allow your heart to ruin your career. 'Career,' however, is a word you should never use. Never be insulted or indignant; just be tolerant. Be generous with your own money and with others, but don't mind riding on a subway or eating at a lunch counter if necessary. It really can be fun to be indigent.

"Never boast that you've been offered a movie test, or that Noel Coward wants you to play the leading role in his new play. Even if it's true, don't mention it. Whether you have clothes or not, always be dressed smartly. It doesn't cost so much. Be prepared to enter any conversation, but remember that silence has just as much charm.

"There, my dear, is a description of a perfect New York girl. But I am sure you'll never find her."

Generous Ladies.

Speaking of wits, it suddenly occurs that most of the famed ones in the Manhattan whirlpool are women. Not only Mrs. Parker, but there are Tallulah Bankhead, Lilyan Tashman, Teddy de Bernard, Patsy Kelly, Blythe Daly, Marion Ferguson, Mary March, Marion Supportas and Frances Williams.

Investigating this, I discovered that it isn't because the feminine department has any monopoly on the humorous side of life. It appears that the men are more practical. When they think of anything funny to say, they keep it to themselves and make efforts to barter the mirthful bon mot for a cash consideration. The ladies are more generous.

Garibaldi-Zaharias Meet Again on Mat

step in after the bouts, which have seen the two break even. On both occasions the loser claimed he was beaten on a foul, all of which means that gore should be rampaint when they entertain tonight in a benefit for the District Firemen's Labor Day parade, for these boys hate each other like the proverbial python and mongoose.

While Garibaldi is rough and tough, his work is more within the rules—if any—than is that of Zaharias, who has a bad habit of using his knees on his foe's stomach and of using his thumbs for eye-gouging. Turner has given him a warning on these subjects and Zaharias has promised to be a better boy from now on. But, whether or not he heeds the promoter's warning, the bout will be no love match.

An out of the ordinary preliminary card has been arranged and it looks as though some of those on it also need a little warning. The referee should have no trouble in the semifinal, for Ray Steele and Dr. Karl Sarpolis generally put up rough, but clean battles. Tough boys in each of the other three bouts are Son Jennings, Floyd Marshall and Hans Bauer. Jennings takes on speedy little Abie Coleman, Marshall is pitted against popular Cliff ("Swede") Olsen, while Bauer probably will take a licking from Pat O'Shocker.

The first leer is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

King Defends District From Dictator Rule

Utah Senator Stands Out Against Revision of System.

Senator William H. King (Democrat), of Utah, last night stood forth as the champion of the people of the District against various proposals to revsie the form of the District government.

What will be done about the appointments has been a moot matter so long that few have left the verve to become excited. The President apparently has disregarded local leaders of the Democratic party in considering appointments.

Crosby Held on Job.

Reports from Hyde Park, N. Y., indicated the President was willing to let the present situation stand and seek to revise the form of the District government.

Friends of Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired, rose in arms against such a proposal. They pointed out that Gen. Crosby had retired at the instance of a former President to accept appointment as District Commissioner as an order of duty. Gen. Crosby resigned months ago, but President Roosevelt, because he will not settle the fight in the local political field, has refused to release him, although his tour of duty expired last April.

Rights of Congress.

Senator King has determined the President shall not have a mere say-so about changing the District government. The senator is convinced there is historic and important evidence to show that Congress should maintain a control over the National Capital and safeguard the rights of the residents of the District against the decisions of a possible dictator named by the President. The senator is understood to be preparing a statement.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, retired, who was President Wilson's physician, was reported to have been considered when it came to naming a dictator for the District. Dr. Grayson has protested he has taken no part in District politics, but it is known that he lifted the candidacy of Melvin C. Hazen, District surveyor, from obscurity.

Pastor, 82, Marries Bride He Baptized

Rev. W. H. Brooks Weds for Third Time on His Birthday.

Mrs. Viola Washington and the Rev. Walter H. Brooks, for more than 50 years pastor of the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church, were married yesterday on the eighty-second birthday of the bridegroom at the residence of the bride, 1136 Eighteenth street northwest.

A member of the church for the last 45 years, the bride was baptized by her present husband when 11 years of age. She was the widow of James E. Washington, coachman for President Theodore Roosevelt.

Dr. Brooks was first married in 1873, in Richmond, ten children resulting from the union. He was again married in 1915 to Mrs. Florence Swann, who died in 1931. He is a graduate of Lincoln University, class of 1872, and studied theology there following graduation.

Ill Man's Pleas Fail; Officer Reprimanded

Policeman R. T. Talbert of the Second Precinct was reprimanded at police court yesterday for refusing to obtain medical aid for a man the policeman said was drunk.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt committed Elmer Dwyer of the 1200 block of Kennedy street northwest, to jail, and recommended hospital treatment after he testified he had asked to be taken to a hospital when police answered a call at his home yesterday. Dwyer said he was taken to the station house and locked up.

Constitution Avenue's Widening Bids Sought

Sealed bids for widening and paving Constitution avenue from Virginia avenue to Constitution Point will be accepted by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads until 11 a. m. September 15, according to an announcement from the bureau yesterday.

The Board of Public Works allocated $200,000 to the Arlington Memorial Bridge Commission for this work. The project will give employment to about 100 men.

Realty Employe Held In Embezzlement Case

George S. Cartner, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Maryland Land Title Co., 1413 Eye street northwest, was indicted by the District grand jury for embezzling $2,211.

One indictment accused Cartner of embezzling $2,000, which he collected in March, 1932, as agent of the title company. The second allegation is that he embezzled $211 while he was acting as agent for the District Title Insurance Co.

Quick Thinking Saves Lucky Joe

Lucky Joe Stockard tells his wife, Edna, from his hospital cot of his escape from serious injury when he fell 85 feet from a scaffold on the new Postoffice Building. And it was through the quick thinking of James Hogarth (below) who gripped the rope which carried him into the air as Stockard hurtled downward, clutching the other part.

Graft Charged In Government Building Bids

Labor Department Probe of Carpenter's Pay Cut Predicted.

Secretary of Labor Perkins' return to Washington will bring an investigation of the alleged collection and use of money to influence the signing of a Government building contract, believes Albert Caya, business representative of the Carpenters District Council.

Charges of such tactics on the part of out-of-town contractors were made in a petition submitted by the council to the Departments of Labor and Treasury.

The contract referred to in the charges reduced the union carpenters' wages from $11 to $8 per day, and the petition asked restoration of the higher rate. It pronounced the contract invalid because local members of the council had not approved it and had refused to sanction the wage reduction.

The Carpenters' District Council declined to make allegations as to how the funds were used in influencing the contract.

Rescue Squad Drags Canal for Boy's Body

Police and members of the Fire Rescue Squad searched three hours last night for the body of a colored boy reported drowned in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal near Twenty-ninth and K streets northwest.

About 200 persons gathered on the banks of the canal, and on the K street bridge to watch the rescuers. The missing boy had not been identified late last night. A police dog believed to have been his, was seen to escape after being dragged from the water.

Wheatley Playground Will Close Tomorrow

The Elks Boys Band will appear in concert at the Wheatley School, Montello avenue and Neil street northeast, tomorrow at 3 p. m.

The concert will be part of the ceremonies marking the closing of the Wheatley Playground summer session. The event will be under the supervision of William T. Needham and Miss Rosemary Easton, directors. Handicraft and domestic art of students will be exhibited and prizes awarded.

Linn Gale Stands by His Views on Atheism

"I am still an atheist," Linn A. E. Gale, president of the Washington Open Forum, protested yesterday. He disclaimed any intention of becoming affiliated with any church.

Mr. Gale's statement followed announcement that he had been elected vice president of the Washington Institute, Church of Christ. The announcement, Mr. Gale asserted, probably referred to his election as vice president of the Writer's Rendezvous, at a meeting in the church.

Taken for Ride, Worker Safe

Pulled to Scaffold While Clutching Rope as Another Falls.

Stockard, of 409 Ninth street southwest, was working on a scaffold seven stories up. He was holding a rope connected to a pulley when he tripped and hurtled toward the ground.

Hogarth, hanging to the other end of the rope on the ground, suddenly was jerked upward. He clung tightly, and as he rose, Stockard passed him on the way down.

Driver Takes Woman He Hit to Hospital

Blaze Losses Hit $104,958 In Last Year

D. C. Per Capita Cost of 84 Cents Said "Very Low," However.

The total estimated fire loss during the 1933 fiscal year was $412,855, an increase of $104,958 over the preceding year, according to the annual report of Chief Engineer George S. Watson, made yesterday to the District Commissioners.

However, Chief Engineer Watson declared that the fire loss was very low, amounting to 84 cents per capita.

A total of 7,220 alarms were received. Of these, 546 were false. Twenty-one alarms were received from outside of the District.

Seventy-four incendiary and 34 suspicious fires occurred during the year, the report stated. In connection with these, five arrests were made. Two persons were convicted and three cases are pending.

The Fire Prevention Division made 69,151 inspections during the year. Notices to abate fire hazards were served in 12,068 cases.

Chief Watson declared that he would continue his efforts of the past to retire fire fighting apparatus from active service after 15 years of use. Longer use, he stated, results in disadvantages due to obsolete type and worn out mechanism.

Cigarette in Bird's Nest Cited as Cause of Fire

A cigarette in a bird's nest started one of the city's fires last year.

According to the Fire Department's annual report, released yesterday, the flaming bird's nest set fire to a house.

Sod Men Protest City Heads' Action

Group Will Complain to NRA Over Refusal to Reopen Bidding.

Refusal by the District Commissioners to reopen bids for supplying sod to the District to enable sod men to meet NRA requirements is to be protested to the complaint committee of the NRA.

This action was voted at a meeting of the Greater Washington Sod Association last night in the Silver Spring County Building. The Commissioners awarded the contract on the basis of bids submitted before the NRA, and sod men had asked that the earlier bids be rejected and new bids called for.

The association appointed J. H. Burton, jr., J. W. Brown, Henry H. Miller and E. E. Ruppert to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

Duplicate Contract Teams to Compete Here

A series of duplicate contract team-of-four bridge matches for the championship of Washington will be held this winter at the Roosevelt Hotel under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Nolan and George Bishop, it was announced yesterday.

Play will begin within a few weeks. Civic and social clubs of the city will be invited to participate. The date of the first matches will be announced in a few days.

Banquet Tonight Will End 'Y' Camp

Letts Honor Guest at Fete on Rhodes River; Cup Presented.

Vacation will be over for 80 Washington boys when the Y. M. C. A. camp on Rhodes River is closed with a banquet tonight.

The guest of honor will be John C. Letts, retired Washington merchant. Other guests include Claude W. Owen, president of the Board of Trade, and E. C. Graham, president of the new Hamilton National Bank. Leonard W. DeGast, Y. M. C. A. general secretary, will preside.

Announcement of the winner of the camping shampionship cup will be made. Five other cups will be awarded.

Pair Held by Jury In Purse Snatching

Charges of robbery and joy riding were placed against Norman C. Rogers and Hubert H. Council yesterday following District grand jury indictment for stealing an automobile and snatching the purse of Caroline M. Shelton, 5121 Connecticut avenue northwest.

They were accused of taking an automobile in front of the Hamilton Hotel August 18. They drove the machine to Connecticut avenue and Ingomar street northwest, where they allegedly snatched the purse. Eighth precinct police captured them after the fleeing machine crashed into a parked car.

Water Cure?

Fire Department Called Dozen Times Each for Bees, Drunks.

An even two dozen times the Washington Fire Department was called out to attend swarming bees and drunken men, 12 times each.

These were some of the unusual calls which the department received during the fiscal year 1933, acording to the annual report of Chief Engineer George S. Watson.

Strike Settlement Awaits Labor Day

Only Carpenters Continue on New Postoffice Addition Job.

Forty carpenters remained at work on the new postoffice addition as the dispute between iron workers and stone masons over the direction of hoisting cranes was unsettled late yesterday.

The controversy caused a walkout of more than 200 men Tuesday when an agreement could not be reached as to which group should employ the signal men on the cranes. Officials of the B. W. Construction Co. declared they do not expect an agreement until after Labor Day.

Good Hunch

Half an hour later an armed man held up the store, searching Danoff and the cash register. All he found was 30 cents.

Miss Hasse Named To G. W. U. Faculty

Bibliographer Will Teach Library Classification and Cataloguing.

Adelaide Hasse, bibliographer and specialist in public documents, has been appointed to the George Washington University faculty in the division of library science, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president, announced yesterday. She will give courses in cataloguing, classification and preservation of public documents.

Miss Hasse was librarian at the Los Angeles Public Library and the New York Public Library. She gained prominence when she organized records for the War Industries Board. She was bibliographer for the Brookings Institute and the Institute of Economics.

Miss Hasse is author of the "Index to Economic Material in United States Documents" and other books.

Spurious Bill Charge Brings Jury Indictment

His attempt to allegedly pass a counterfeit $20 bill at the Fox Theater, yesterday, led to indictment of Paul G. Montfort, 1007 Massachussets avenue northwest, on a charge of passing spurious money.

Montfort was arrested July 21 when Miss M. I. Dean, cashier of the theater, "spotted" the bill as a counterfeit.

Robert Sisson Gets Hamilton Banking Post

M.E. Horton, Another From Washington Savings, Put on Board.

Washington Savings Bank, one of eight restricted banks combining in the proposed Hamilton National Bank, will find representation in the new bank's official family through Robert A. Sisson and M. E. Horton.

Sisson, vice president and treasurer of Washington Savings Bank, was named assistant cashier for the Hamilton Bank yesterday by Edwin C. Graham, president. M. E. Horton, a director of Washington Savings Bank, is on the directorate of the new bank.

Sisson is 26 years old and one of the youngest bank executives in the city. His service with Washington Savings Bank began as a runner and has continued in all of its departments.

He is a graduate of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking and served for two years on the chapter's board. He has taken a number of special advanced courses in the institute.

Horton is engaged in business at 620 C street southwest. His company supplies merchandise to hotels, restaurants, dining cars and grocery stores. He began his business career here in 1892 as a coffee and tea merchant at Twenty-first and K street northwest. He has been a director of Washington Savings Bank for 10 years. He is a Rotarian and active in civic and country club affairs.

The banking house of Washington Savings Bank at Tenth street and Grant place northwest, will not be retained as a branch of Hamilton National Bank.

The Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will hold its regular monthly memorial exercises Sunday at 3:30 at the tomb of the Civil War Unknown in Arlington Cemetery. A wreath will be laid in honor of President McKinley.

District Opens Bread Boost Investigation

Robert E. Lynch, Assistant Corporation Counsel, Directs Work.

Robert E. Lynch, assistant corporation counsel, began his investigation of the rise in bread prices here yesterday with a study of wheat and flour costs at the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Lynch was assigned the task by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, after the District Commissioners had been asked by Senator William King, chairman of the Senate District committee, to determine whether the jump of one cent per pound loaf was justified.

Mr. Lynch said last night, he would determine whether local bakers were now using flour purchased at the low price prevailing before the wheat processing tax went into effect.

If such is true, he said, he believes the increase in price is not reasonable. He also will seek to find whether there is any agreement among bakers on prices.

Bride assigned Lynch to the inquiry after conferring with the office of Leo A. Rover, United States Attorney.

Woman, Man Indicted On Charges of Murder

Isiah Plummer and Ada Catoe, both colored, were indicted for first degree murder yesterday. Plummer is held in the fatally stabbing of Lenora Butler, also colored, in a fight at 1205 Carrollburg street southwest, last month. The woman was charged with slaying Robert E. Jones, also colored, in a fight at 631 W street northwest, August 6.

New Charge Filed In Pool Hall Deaths

McAvoy Faces Two Trials for Killing of Pair in Brawl.

A second charge of first degree murder was booked against Charles McAvoy yesterday, when the District Grand Jury named him as alleged slayer of Charles Neill, who died August 12 after being shot July 18, in a brawl at a pool room at 744 Ninth street northwest.

Previously, McAvoy had been accused of killing Frank Snow, shot in the same fight, who died almost instantly.

Witnesses said McAvoy was shooting at Snow and one of the bullets went wild, striking Neill, a bystander. McAvoy was captured in the pool room by Policeman U. M. Gaile, who shot him in the shoulder before making the arrest.

Civitan Head Returns From Tour in South

Dr. Maurice L. Townsend, international president of Civitan Clubs, yesterday was back in Washington after a tour of the Civitan clubs of Alabama and Tennessee.

Dr. Edith Coale to Speak.

Dr. Edith SeVille Coale, president of the Zonta Club, will discuss the work of her club in the civic affairs of the city over WMAL at 8:30 tonight. This will be the twentieth of a series on the Community Forum sponsored by the Community Chest and Station WMAL. Dr. Coale will be introduced by Elwood Street, Chest director.
